

THE MARTEST FASHIONS of WELL-DRESSED FOLK

OUR SEWING CIRCLE

MY DEAR MADGE:

Mrs. Marshall invited a number of her neighbors to tea yesterday to organize a Lenten sewing circle.

It was such a stormy day that only a few responded to her call, but I believe we are to have quite a large number of members next week.

We are to make garments for the poor patients in the General Hospital. Mrs. Marshall is a director there, you know, and she tells me some of the patients are absolutely without proper clothing when they are discharged from the wards.

You will be more interested in the gowns we wore, for I know you have your mind occupied with early spring styles. Nell Harrison had on a charming little one-piece frock of blue pongee. It was cut quite plain, caught in at the high waist line with a narrow girle and finished about the neck with a deep ruffle of creamy lace. Deep cuffs of the same trimmed the sleeves. A dainty gown for everyday wear, emphasizing simplicity.

Jessie Davis looked well in dark-brown bedford cord, which buttoned on the side from the low-cut neck from right to left where it met the waist line, and from that point to the knees, with large flat brass buttons. A little flat collar of silk was embroidered in red and gold.

I wore that little frock of reseau crepe, made with a full kimono bodice, which is caught in at the high-waisted skirt. The V neck and short sleeves are both trimmed with ecru lace. The skirt is laid in pin tucks, which extend from the waist almost to the ankles, and from that point it falls in a soft, full flounce.

Our hostess wore a green cloth gown, made with a plain skirt having a deep pleat on either side let in under the seam. This did not show, excepting when she walked, and then it gave a slight fullness to the skirt. The bodice was of ecru flat lace embroidered with green, and over it was a short jacket of cloth with buttons trimming each edge about the neck, and turned-back cuffs of the lace finished with a frill.

There will be a change in sleeves this spring. I am told the kimono sleeve is no longer in first fashion and that sleeves cut long on the shoulders in cap effect are to be the real thing. You, no doubt, will have some interesting news for me next week.

Keep your eyes open for any radical change in fashion, and let me hear about it at once. With love to all,

Affectionately, ELEANOR.

TEN MOST BEAUTIFUL WOMEN OF ALL TIME.

Selected by Lillian Russell

Helen of Troy

Madame de Maintenon

Lady Hamilton

Madame Recamier

Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough

Cleopatra

Saint Elizabeth of Hungary

Queen Esther

Saint Elizabeth of Hungary

Madame Recamier

By LILLIAN RUSSELL.

LAST Sunday I listed what I believed to be the ten most beautiful women in America.

Today I give what I believe to be the ten most beautiful women of all time. The fame of these immortal women has been as great, perhaps, as the fame of the world's greatest generals or the world's greatest scientists. This is an indication that even primitive man appreciated true feminine loveliness and perpetuated it on marble slabs and on parchment in temples of devotion and art. Through the art of all ages womanly beauty has figured prominently, in many instances marking eras.

Nearly every artist who has given the matter any deep thought agrees that feminine beauty today is not on the wane. On the contrary, the great Rodin only recently called to mind the fact that the average of beauty and perfection of womanly form is even greater today than ever before.

In the main, we have only the opinions of painters for proof of the beauty of such women as Helen of Troy, Duchess of Marlborough, Saint Elizabeth of Hungary, etc., the camera not being in use during their life time.

But it is not so much the work of the painter in transferring woman's charms to canvas that we must use as a guide in judging them today as the place which these beauties held in the estimation of the painters who actually looked upon them and studied them. These women so impressed their generation that their fame has outlasted marble palaces.

Feminine beauty, I am aware, has greatly changed in this generation. Styles in clothes and in methods of living have developed new types of beauty, especially in America. There is no doubt that the peasant class in France and Italy have undergone but little change in type through successive generations because modern civilization has only slightly influenced their lives.

We know that Helen of Troy must have been a wondrous beauty because of the fact that the ancients made so much of her in an age when every woman, nearly, was beautiful and when every woman, humble or exalted, sought personal charm.

Here are the ten women who may be termed the most beautiful that the world has ever known:

Cleopatra, who ensnared Caesar and ruined Antony, was a woman of wonderful beauty and charm. It is supposed that she was short, large waisted, and dark, her eyes bright and intelligent. It is probable that her face conformed to the Greek standards of beauty, for her blood was Greek, and the Romans, who were thin, would not have admired a strictly African type.

Recamier, the famous French beauty, charmed all who came within the circle of her acquaintance. Her complexion was fair, her teeth white and regular, her mouth small, her dark eyes brilliant, though not large, her hair black and curling naturally, and her face arch and frank, lighting up with an irresistible expression of goodness and interest when she talked. Her head was well poised and her carriage indicative of pride.

Betty Jumel, who became the second wife of Aaron Burr, was a beautiful blonde, with a lovely figure and graceful carriage. Her blue eyes were full and wistful. At the time of her marriage to Burr she was 57 years old, but she had retained much of her remarkable beauty. Her complexion was that of a girl, her blue eyes unfaded, her features mobile, and in expression exceedingly winning. The poise of her head was queenly.

Lady Hamilton, the woman of humble birth who snared a British minister with her fascinating charms, was one of the most noted of England's beauties. She had a profusion of auburn hair, a forehead broad but not too high for symmetry, finely arched and finely penciled eyebrows, blue eyes whose shyness was strangely winning, a delicate nose, a short upper lip, a dainty mouth, a chin of exquisite shapeliness, good teeth, a pure, clear complexion, a long neck, and a figure slight and tall.

Helen of Troy, who bewitched Paris, was a typical Grecian beauty. She had fair hair, large brown eyes, a clear white complexion. She was tall and perfectly proportioned. Helen had a mole between the eyebrows and an extremely small mouth.

Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough, was one of the most designing and ambitious beauties of history. Her skin was wonderfully colored and her face was plump and fresh. Her mouth was small, with a full under lip. The duchess' eyebrows were delicately arched, her eyes full and brilliant, and her forehead broad and high. Her expression, after she had attained a position of power, was habitually proud and haughty. Her hands were small and shapely.

Mme. de Maintenon, the second wife of Louis XIV., possessed regular and lovely features, a fresh complexion, a sweet and intelligent smile, an oval face, a nose delicately inclined to the aquiline, full, dark, and brilliant eyes, regular teeth, and finely turned hands and arms. She was 49 when she married King Louis and only appeared to be 35. This freshness, which she owed to her happy and serene, even disposition, gave her an air of youth.

Heloise, whose love story is one of the most romantic the world has ever known, was remarkable more for the beauty of her complexion than for the regularity of her features. Her eyes were deep set and her brows straight, giving her face a serious and spiritual expression. She was tall and her figure was large and full.

Queen Esther, the second wife of Ahasuerus, king of Persia, was a tall, slender Jewish maiden. Her mouth was small, with full red lips, her nose long and straight, and her eyes dark brown and almond shaped. Her arms were exquisitely shaped and her hands were long and tapering.

Saint Elizabeth, the daughter of Andrew II., king of Hungary, had fine features, delicately chiseled; her eyes were large and clear. Her expression was spiritual and serene. Her mouth, with its thin sensitive lips, drooped ever so slightly. There was a spiritual beauty radiating from her presence which charmed all who came in contact with her.

Says the White Man Is Doomed.

THE white man is doomed. Prof. Lionel W. Lyde, a scientist enjoying considerable European reputation, has recently brought out a theory that the Caucasian as we know him is in no great span of time, as such things are reckoned in anthropology, to give way to the dark skinned races and that his final mission in the world will be to teach the slower but more lasting races the things he has been able to glean from time and experience. In other words, Prof. Lyde thinks that the white man was put on earth, a brilliant but evanescent spirit, to prepare the way for less brilliant but more durable peoples.

Prof. Lyde founds his theories on the fact that the white man cannot live in the tropics, just what this may have to do with it is hard to say, but it may be interesting to know that the tropics have been, after much research, found uninhabitable by the real "Australoid." He may be able to withstand them for a time, to immunize himself for a period from the dreads of the heat and fever, but at the end of five years he must go back to his habitat. The sun and the mist have done for him. It also has been found that the white man who is native to the tropics, that is the fourth generation or so of a family of whites who have invaded the great hot belt, has deteriorated.

Thus, they say, the white man has proved that he cannot endure on earth. The professor advances this idea says that originally the human being was dark brown of skin and that variations of this complexion are founded on climatic differences. Man has, to speak, been shunted into cool and uncomfortable latitudes where his blood has beat his doom.

hotter with ambition and attainment and the pigments have sunk from his skin.

But now, says Prof. Lyde, the white man is running his course. He cannot stand the tropics, though brown and black men can endure the north or extreme south. Therefore natural selection will cast the white man into the discard and adopt the black and brown.

Probably the theory has its basis on the well known idea that the earth is cooling and will go on getting colder until only the strip near the equator is habitable, the rest being too much cursed with frigidity. But the real answer here is that the white man, inured to the north and the mental and physical superior to the yellow and black man, will by that time have driven the others from the habitable strip and will therefore be the last of the races. This is just as logical as any other theory.

Meanwhile the truth is this: In America the races are turning darker. True blondes grow fewer year on year and true brunettes grow more common. The pigments in our eyes are changing, the tone of our hair and the texture of our skin. In a few generations we shall be dark as dusk, approaching hard on the noble red man we have so hopelessly and mercilessly slain. We shall never be quite as he was, for he had neither civilization nor cosmetics, yet shall we be dark.

The same thing is happening in Europe. The tall and stately blond of the German forests must be looked for in Scandinavia; the red headed Gaul is a smart little man. Thus the white man does not and shall not pass any more than his works shall fade, but the white man's can may have pigments in his skin and the tint of the tar brush in his hair.

Tested Recipes.

BOILED FROSTING.
Boil together a gill of water and a pound of granulated sugar, without stirring. When it threads, take from the fire and pour, beating steadily, upon the white of an egg that has been beaten stiff. Beat until smooth and white, adding flavoring to taste. Spread on cake and set aside to get firm.

CHILI CON CARNE.
Remove the seeds from six red chilis, cut the chilis up and cover with boiling water, then set aside until lukewarm. Cut two pounds of steak into small squares and fry brown in a little butter; then add a tablespoonful of flour and stir until browned. Scrape the pulp from the chilis into the water in which they were soaked and add the pulp and water to the contents of the frying pan, stirring in two cloves, a little garlic, and a dash of thyme. Simmer until the meat is tender and the gravy thick, stirring frequently.

MEXICAN TAMALES.
Boil a fowl in slightly salted water and when tender strip the meat from the bones and chop it very fine, seasoning with salt, garlic, and cayenne. Add enough cornmeal, moistened with boiling water, to make a thick paste. Wash the inner husks of corn in boiling water and drain. Make the paste into rolls as large as your finger and about three inches long and wrap each of these in a cornhusk, tying with soft twine. Have ready a pot of the water in which the chicken was boiled. Put three Mexican peppers into it and boil the tamales in this for fifteen minutes.

CHOP SUEY.
Cut the meat from the bones of half a chicken, scraping off every bit of it. Cut into strips one and one-half inch long and one-half inch wide. Peel and slice a large onion thin. Soak a handful of dried mushrooms for ten minutes in water, then cut off their stems. Cut a stalk of celery into small bits. Wash and slice six Chinese potatoes. Put the chicken in a frying pan with hot fat and fry until done, but not browned, then add the sliced onions and cook for three minutes. Stir in the drained mushrooms and enough Chinese sauce to make the ingredients brown and cover with a little water. Stew for ten minutes and stir in the celery. Cook this for three minutes before adding the potatoes. Cook for five minutes more or until all the ingredients seem tender and done; then thicken with flour stirred into a little water. Serve with boiled rice.

CREAMED CHICKEN.
Cut the white meat of a roasted or boiled chicken into dice. Cook together in a saucepan a tablespoonful of butter and the same quantity of flour and pour upon them when smooth a cup of milk and a gill of cream, into which a pinch of soda has been stirred. Process season it to taste and stir into it the cut up chicken. Cook until the meat is smoking hot, stirring all the time; then pour in gradually, beating steadily, a beaten egg yolk. Stir until very hot, but do not allow to boil. Then pour upon squares of crustless toast or into pastry shells.

POPCORN BALLS.
Make a plain molasses candy and when ready to take from the fire stir into the candy as much popped corn as is needed to make the preparation very thick. Take out great spoonfuls of the mixture and roll it over and over upon a board covered thickly with popped corn, rolling and forming it into balls.

CRYSTALLIZED GRAPEFRUIT PEELING.
Cut the peeling into strips, and soak in salt and water (one tablespoonful of salt to a quart of water) overnight. In the morning drain and parboil in water, changing this several times, until tender. Wash the peeling and allow to each pound of it a pound of granulated sugar and a cup of water. Cover and boil for an hour. Take the cover from the vessel and let the strips boil almost away. Then roll the candied strips of peel in granulated sugar.

Why the Sailor Is Superstitious.

WHY does a seafaring man—captain, cook, or cabin boy—consider it unlucky to ship with a man who neglected to pay his laundry bill?

Why does a sailor nearing port after a lengthy voyage gather up old clothes and shoes unfit for further use and ceremoniously commit them to the deep?

Why does he like to sail on a ship which displays a shark's tooth firmly nailed to the bowsprit or jib boom?

Why does he place great faith in the merits of a pig as a weather prophet?

The simplest answer to these questions is—because the average sailor is superstitious.

During rough weather at sea, it would be hard to convince any old time sailor that there wasn't a Jonah aboard. Many captains of the old school, who ought to know better, are so superstitious in this respect that it is not uncommon for them to take intense dislike to officers who have happened apparently to be the harbingers of bad weather, and especially fog. It is quite usual on board ship to find members of the crew nicknamed "Foggy Jones," "Heavy Weather Bill," or "Squally Jack."

Cats on board ship are considered lucky, and many a stray one finds a comfortable home and careful attention with Jack for his friend although, on the other hand, our domestic friend has at times been held responsible for the continuance of bad weather and had to play the part of Jonah to the full extent.

Perhaps the most amusing superstition of the sailor is considering it a crime for any member of the crew to leave port with his washing bill unpaid as this neglect is generally believed to be the cause of bad weather. A great amount of squalling is hailed as a sure sign of a necessary factor for the navigation of a sailing ship.

One of the most curious superstitions is that dealing with the capture of a shark. The natural dread and antipathy with which these monsters of the deep are viewed cause a capture to be hailed with much rejoicing. All hands from the captain to the cabin boy take a keen interest in the operations, and having successfully landed the shark on deck—a proceeding that causes no little excitement—it is killed and it still out off. This trophy is then nailed either on the end of the bowsprit or the jib boom and is considered a valuable charm, capable of having the power to bring the ship and crew and cargo to weather. It is not uncommon to see sailing ships lying in port with this peculiar sign of the sailor's superstition, but the custom is fast dying out with the advent of the steamship, where the capture of a shark at sea is a rare occurrence.

The killing of a pig at sea is always an occasion of much importance, not only for the reason that fresh meat is to be enjoyed—a great luxury on a sailing ship after perhaps months of salt provisions—but also what is termed a "pig breeze" or favorable wind may be looked upon as a certainty. Pigs when kept on sailing vessels are often let out of their pens, and their movements, which are believed to foretell the state of the wind to be expected, are watched with keen interest. Should a pig show signs of leaving the deck, this is deemed a wonder of omen and, moreover, his pensive or restless behavior about the deck, this is taken as a sign of calm weather, with little or no wind in prospect; but any friskiness and a great amount of squealing is hailed as a sure sign of a necessary factor for the navigation of a sailing ship.

An event of interest to the music lovers of San Francisco and the bay centers was the performance last week of selections from "Christmas Day," a sacred cantata for full chorus by the late Henry Holmes of London.

The musical was given in Palo Alto under the direction of Dr. Benjamin C. Bledgett, once organist at the Memorial church, Stanford. Other works of this famous musician, who spent the last seven years of his life in San Francisco, will be performed in the university town.

Henry Holmes was a celebrated violinist, composer, conductor and teacher in London, being for many years professor of the violin at the Royal College of Music. He was one of the founders of the famous Royal College of Music orchestra. His most famous pupil is Miss Kathleen Parlow, now an acknowledged artist.

The Passmore Trio, consisting of Mary Passmore, violinist; Miss Dorothy Passmore, cellist; and Miss Susan Passmore, pianist, will return to California next week. The last time they appeared this season in the East was in Chicago, where they were enthusiastically received by many critical audiences.

The trio will appear in some of the larger California towns and probably other centers of the Pacific Coast.

Miss Mary Passmore is perhaps the most masterly of the younger violinists in California.

Her work is noted for its depth of tone and breadth of interpretation. All three girls have achieved a high place in musical circles.

EBELL CLUB.

Ebell Club celebrated Colonial Day Tuesday when a large audience greeted Rev. Charles F. Aked, who delivered an address on "The English Story of the Pilgrim Fathers." Assisting Mrs. William F. Kott, presiding hostess, were a group of the club members who are identified with the Daughters of the American Revolution. Included in the group were Mrs. M. L. Chico, Mrs. D. F. Curtis, Mrs. B. C. Dick, Mrs. A. M. Estelle, Mrs. J. H. Fish, Mrs. David Gage, Mrs. Giles Gray, Mrs. M. De L. Judd, Mrs. J. F. Halloran, Mrs. C. J. Waterhouse, Mrs. F. E. Wells, Mrs. Charles Kellogg, Mrs. L. F. Laidlaw, Mrs. E. W. Martin, Mrs. James McFarland, Mrs. Mary Morgan, G. L. Nussbaum, Mrs. S. H. Osgood, Mrs. G. W. Percy, Miss Mary Alexander, Miss Maria Babcock.

On Tuesday of this week an unusually interesting program was given at Ebell in honor of Charles Dickens' birthday. Mrs. George Haight, of Berkeley, an artist of ability, will give selected readings from Dickens' works, and Mrs. Clarence Welton will sing.

OAKLAND CLUB.

The Oakland Club is to celebrate Dickens day next Wednesday with an interesting program which will include a talk by Rev. William Day Simonds on Dickens. Songs will be given by Mrs. George Faulkner and C. Rowlands, the latter being accompanied by Mrs. Carrie Bright. Miss Emma King of Berkeley will give a piano number.

Mrs. F. R. Chadwick will be hostess of the day, assisted by many of the ladies of the club.

Last Monday the club held its card party, which was most successful and was attended by a large number of players. Mrs. Fred Lauffer was chairman of the arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Hogan, Mrs. A. F. Holland, Mrs. James Hollman, Mrs. R. D. Holmes, Mrs. Henry Hufschmidt, Mrs. Percy L. Johnson, Mrs. Roosevelt Johnson, Mrs. Cora E. Jones, Mrs. P. Kisch, Mrs. Helen Kidd, Mrs. G. F. Knapp, Mrs. F. A. Lacey, Mrs. M. J. Layman, Mrs. Nettie Layman, Mrs. R. L. Lenz, Mrs. C. J. Long, Mrs. C. K. Loderbach, Mrs. Oscar Luning, Mrs. M. Marceau, Mrs. J. H. Motz, Mrs. H. B. Mehrmann, Mrs. Percy Magill, Mrs. F. H. Sawow, Mrs. E. F. Merchant, Miss Janette Hogan, Miss Lucy Kendall, Miss Davette Manning.

The card tables were divided into sections of 22 players each and whist, 500 and bridge were played. Among those in charge of sections were Mrs. J. P. Potter,

MRS. F. R. CHADWICK, who will be the presiding hostess on Wednesday at the meeting of the Oakland Club.

Mrs. F. C. Stoddard, Mrs. Helen Kidd, Mrs. E. Bartholomew and Mrs. Harry East.

HILLSIDE CLUB.

An exhibit at which the pictures will be loaned by the artists themselves instead of by the owners, will be held soon in Berkeley by the Hillside Club.

Fred Schnover is arranging to secure pictures from the various artists about the bay and in this way it is believed never work will be exhibited. Much interest in being taken in the affair.

MAKES HER TAKE BATH IN CLOTHES

Husband Beat and Slapped Her for Crying; Also Tore Her Clothes.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24.—Mrs. Mabel C. Bellinger, who is suing John Bellinger for divorce, says they were married June 3, 1911, at Granite City, Ill. She left him September 11, but returned October 19 on his promise to do better. She left him again December 6 and returned to her parents at 3577A Hartford street, Bellinger lives at 7113 Virginia avenue.

These are some of the things that Mrs. Bellinger says her husband did to her.

Struck her with a wet bath towel three days after they were married and then threw her, with her clothes on, into the bathtub, half filled with water.

Pulled her left ear because she was sick and unable to walk two blocks to get milk for his breakfast.

Locked her clothes in a closet and looked her in the house.

Grabbed her muff and tore it when she was about to get on a street car.

Mrs. Bellinger asks for her maiden name, Alsbury.

Bellinger was not in when a reporter called at his home, 7113 Virginia avenue, but his grandmother, Mrs. Kate Fleary, denied Mrs. Bellinger's allegations.

BLIND BABIES TO HAVE A MISSION

Sightless Infants to Be Provided With Teachers and Nurses.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 24.—Do you know of anyone who has a blind baby?

Fortunately there are not many of them, but possibly you do know of just one. There are two things which may be done. The child may be left to become a helpless idiot or it may be sent to an institution where it will be trained to fulfill its mission in life as well as you or better.

It has no traditions, owns no illusions, has no servants. It stands supreme as the one place where these pitiful little sightless children may be provided with the training and education that is their just due.

Such work must be done by competent nurses, instructors and teachers. The first year is the most important for it is at this time that a "seeing" baby begins to suck its thumbs. That's something real and tangible. The blind baby can't see its thumbs. It seems to know that it has eyes, but it can't find the light. This is known as "light hunger."

The soul seeks the light, but its fingers can't find it. This is what kills most of the blind babies. They keep digging at their eyes with their fingers, punching the eyeball until it becomes inflamed, and eventually dies from blood poison. But not these Sunshine babies.

The International Sunshine society, which conducts this institution for blind babies at Summit, N. J., is planning to extend the work to embrace the cottage plan, where the children will be kept in cottages, each with an individual nurse, foster mother and kindergarten teacher. Originally the society was composed of newspaper workers, but has since been enlarged in its scope to include others interested in their work. Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden of New York is the president manager, and Mrs. Theodore F. Seward first vice president. The advisory council contains such well-known individuals as the Rev. Robert Collier, Martin W. Littleton, David B. Mills, Colonel Charles A. Pickett, editor New Haven Leader; John R. Stanton and Dr. Thomas Darlington.

WANTED FATHER ARRESTED FOR SHOOTING LOVER

MOUNTAIN GROVE, Mo., Feb. 24.—Racing along the country road with Miss Elva Moore, daughter of a prominent farmer near this city, Clarence Holton's horse was shot beneath him by the father of the girl with whom he was riding, the father supposing that the young couple was eloping. The animal was shot and Holton was severely injured by the bullet, which took effect in his left leg.

The rider dropped to the road, while his companion spurred her horse into the thicket. The father of the girl, supposing that both his daughter and her companion had gone on down the thoroughfare, continued his pursuit.

After Moore had disappeared down the road, the young woman and Holton climbed upon the horse which the father had been riding and rode back to Mr. Groves, where Holton's wounds were dressed.

After stating that Holton was well cared for, the girl rode back to her home, then phoned for a constable and told the officer that her father had shot Holton. No arrests were made.

things disappear in her home that a guest often protests her, but we all can tell stories, in the safe shelter of a small coterie of friends, of things we have lost, or that others have involuntarily parted with.

One has only to take the matter of umbrellas this winter, and then one might a tale unfold. A rainy day is remembered early in the season at one of the leading women's clubs. Those who departed last could have wept when they realized that their handsome umbrellas were gone, and all that was left was a motley array of disreputable specimens. No one said much about it, for the average clubwoman is of courage and much bravery, and she stepped out into the downpour a sadder and a wiser woman.

There is a dear little matron who might a tale of woe unfold in regard to a recent card afternoon across the bay. She enjoyed her game of bridge and took her departure in good spirits, only a few minutes later to sink to the depths of mortification. For the one who so obligingly relieved her of all the money in her purse cruelly neglected to leave her car fare. A beautiful bird of paradise costing $50 nodded from her hat, a diamond sunburst illumined the late evening hours—an empty purse yawned in her hand—and a pathetic face gazed pleadingly up at the conductor. And he was not proof against the pleading, for he was a conductor with a heart, and the little matron reached the ferry.

Here there was another chapter, as she waited over two boats for someone to come that she knew, and it was a tired little matron who reached her home long past 8 o'clock.

The story of "Raffles" has been told many a time and oft, but "Madame Raffles" has played some very quiet games on her own account, and for the most part they have been very successful ones.

STORM OF DANCING SWEEPS CITIES.

A perfect storm of dancing has swept over the large cities of Europe and America, and the season just closed has broken the record for dancing, new and old, graceful and grotesque, fascinating and old-fashioned. But it is a settled proposition that society will not dance in Lent, so there is a round of dinners, luncheons, musicals and informal card afternoons.

For dinners the decorations grow daily more elaborate, till they bid fair to take the attention entirely away from the menu.

The most extravagant dinner of the late season was the Wanamaker birthday dinner given at Sherry's in New York, when the table was a picture of rare beauty. It was a heart-shaped table and in the center a hundred tropical birds fluttered and sang under a net of gold. A thousand gardenias were used in the decoration and concealed electric gave a garden effect to the sunken center of the table.

A dinner was also given this week for Archbishop Farley, the home carrying superb decorations of white lilies and American Beauty roses. The table was covered with red satin and old Venetian lace, and the centerpiece was made up of blue figures on a large mirror plaque.

One of the largest luncheons of the week was that given by Mrs. Hearst at the Hacienda, who entertained Mayor Rolph and the board of supervisors at a surprise luncheon. The guests were at Pleasanton, on a tour of inspection of the water works, and the luncheon at the Hacienda came to them as a complete surprise.

Mrs. Hearst entertained them in the magnificent new dining room, which is really a great banquet hall, with superb rugs, wonderful pictures and gorgeous trophies in silver, gifts to Mrs. Hearst. The luncheon was beautifully planned and the guests enjoyed a delightful outing with a most cordial hostess, Mrs. Hearst.

LENTEN SEASON STILL BUSY ONE.

The Lenten season is the time for just such informal affairs as are made possible at the exchange. It is true, in a measure, that the social game is one of debt and credit. That we pay our debts in that we invite people to our homes because they have asked us to theirs, or because we wish them to reciprocate in the future. That may be true in a measure, but there is still another side to the social entertainment of the Lenten days. One has time for old friends—for the ones whom we have known long and of whom we are very fond. There are people whom we entertain simply for themselves—they are worth while and we value their friendship. So the luncheons and informal card parties represent more enjoyment than is ever to be found in more pretentious affairs. And every one can entertain—so a table of bridge is always possible. And the hostess who knows how to carry off an informal entertainment is the most charming hostess of all.

So for some women of the smart set the Lenten time is still a busy one, bringing into their lives the entertainments they love best.

THEATER CAPS RIVAL ANCIENT HEADGEAR.

Every one goes to the theater in Lent also, and the headgear that adorns the woman of the smart set is beginning to be of absorbing interest. She must take her hat off—that is settled beyond recall. No more will mere man be content to dodge hither and yon behind a mass of ostrich plumes. But beauty unadorned does not carry any special appeal in these days of barbaric splendor, and we are beginning to adopt the fashions of London and Paris and the theater caps bid fair to rival the hats of the old days. Among caps the Breton form, in gold lace, incrustated with jewels, is very popular, with an immense Paradise plume rising at the back like a peacock's tail. There is another Oriental red cap beginning to be worn here, in tones of red, incrustated with pearls and edged with long fringe and pendants, which fall over the ears and neck and completely cover the forehead with their tinkling ornaments.

Many women have the fancy lately for wearing the head of some large exotic bird perched over one ear, with the tail falling down the side.

Mrs. Philip Clay looks exceedingly well in a coiffure arranged in bird of Paradise plumes and Mrs. Joseph Knowland always brings from the East some very effective new caps.

Mrs. Frank Proctor has some very fascinating ones and some exceedingly beautiful gowns as well. The gown which carried off the prize at the Mardi Gras ball was a "Lucille" model and is one of the most attractive gowns seen on the coast in the late season.

Mrs. Frank C. Havens wears her hair parted and low on her forehead, in a most individual fashion, and she does not change her own special style, though fashions may come and go. Mrs. Richard Partington also arranges her hair in an admirable manner and Mrs. H. C. Taft accepted the pompadour effect and made it her own when no one else had it at all. To be sure the pompadour effect is the very best style in the world for white hair and one has only to think of many well-known women of the smart set to know that this is true. Among them are Mrs. Hearst, Mrs. C. C. Clay, Mrs. Prentiss Selby, Mrs. William Clift, Mrs. S. T. Alexander, Mrs. T. L. Barker, Mrs. Wallace Everson, Mrs. A. J. Ralston, Mrs. Remi Chabot, Mrs. A. E. Glasecock.

The easterners say that young California matrons are specially beautiful because they appreciate the value of white hair, framing a specially young face. Two of our matrons illustrate that point, Mrs. Wickham Havens and Mrs. Frederick Stolp.

But good news reaches us from the East and Europe and we hear the happy tidings, "We are wearing our heads smaller," and one hopes that may be construed in many ways.

MRS. T. B. COGHILL IS WEEK'S HOSTESS.

Mrs. T. B. Coghill was also a hostess of the week, entertaining a number of friends in the very attractive rooms of the Woman's Exchange. The rooms were bright with daffodils, pussy willows and spring blossoms, and Mrs. Coghill made her guests very welcome in a sweet informal fashion.

It is becoming quite the fashion of the hour in the smart set to invite friends for tea or for cards at the Exchange. One has such perfect service along such delightfully well-bred lines, and it takes all care away from the home. A bridge afternoon is full of the possibilities and a hostess may have just as good a time as her guests, and late in the afternoon there are refreshments perfectly served.

Mrs. Coghill takes a great interest in the affairs of the Exchange and she is of great assistance to Mrs. Lillian Everts, the president, in carrying on the work.

MELVINS HONORED ACROSS THE BAY.

Judge and Mrs. Henry Melvin have spent the entire winter across the bay and they have been very popular indeed, having been honored guests at many important functions given in San Francisco.

Mrs. Melvin has cards out for a bridge afternoon for next Wednesday and she will entertain many guests in honor of her mother, Mrs. Morse.

Y. W. C. A. DELEGATES MRS. HEARST'S GUESTS.

One of the largest of the early summer gatherings will be the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association, which will be held in May. The meeting will be held at the Hacienda, for Mrs. Hearst has invited all the delegates to be her guests during the days of the session, so the meeting will be unusual in many ways and along what bids fair to be historic lines.

OAKLAND WOMEN AS BIENTNAL HOSTESSES.

July 2 is the date assigned to Oakland to entertain the women who are coming from the east to attend the "biennial," and it is time now that preparations should be begun for their entertainment. The women of the state have been very generous. Alameda county was the first to pass in its assentment and Southern California has sent $100 more than was required and Northern California $75 more. The club women expect to spend at least $10,000, as their expenses will be large.

"Alameda County Day" can be made a great success or a great failure, and it is quite important that the club women should be wise in their planning. Besides we must measure up against Santa Clara county, whose preparations began long ago.

Whole acres have been planted in sweet peas, and the great visiting body of women are to be entertained at luncheon. They are to be taken to Stanford University and on automobile drives, and then, wonderful to relate, they are to be entertained at dinner before they return to San Francisco. Alameda county has only half a day, the great body of club women coming over in the afternoon to the Greek theater, where a musical program is to be held, the guests afterwards going sight-seeing in a program to be arranged.

That is the worst possible plan. They will all scatter and no power on earth will ever get them together again. The Greek theater is the big card on this side of the bay, and of course it should be played fast. It is at its very worst in the early afternoon hours, the light being bad, but after 4 o'clock, when the shadows begin to fall, it is of rare beauty. We will have long days in June, and the superb sunset coloring, on the bay, on the Golden Gate, on the hills around Tamalpais, will make a picture never to be forgotten. An hour of music, when the sunset shadows begin to fall, far up on the Berkeley hills, in one of the most beautiful open-air theaters in the world, will be an event unique in the history of conventions. It is very obvious that the Hearst Greek theater must be the place of assembling; let it round off the day in a great magnificent climax.

The Southern Pacific has made many concessions and their boats should be used in crossing the bay at least one way. The Ebell Club is the second oldest club in the whole United States, and in its club house luncheon should be served. It has two big floors, and it affords opportunities for a buffet luncheon for hundreds of women. Everybody would help, of course, and every Alameda county woman's club would aid in the necessary preparations.

Mrs. Isaac Requa entertained as many people for days at the Ferry building as our club women will be asked to entertain for just one day so our luncheon ought to be all kinds of a success.

Among the club women who have shown great ability as hostesses in the past few months are:

Mrs. Charles J. Woodbury, Mrs. Charles Leonard Smith, Mrs. Erwin Brinkerhoff, Mrs. Ralph Kinney, Miss Mabel Gray, Mrs. C. W. Kinsey, Mrs. A. C. Posey, Mrs. E. T. Henshaw, Miss Mabel Gray, Mrs. Oscar Luning, Mrs. Arthur Drake, Mrs. Charles H. King, Mrs. Oscar Maier, Mrs. Henry W. Taylor, Mrs. Ernest Tanner, Mrs. Isaac Requa, Mrs. Remi Chabot, Mrs. T. L. Barker, Mrs. Mary Alexander, Mrs. Wallace Alexander, Mrs. A. D. Thompson, Mrs. John Francis Smith, Mrs. Frances Thomas, Mrs. Everts, Mrs. T. B. Coghill, Miss Florine Brown, Mrs. William G. Henshaw, Mrs. Marit L. Requa, Mrs. Elizabeth Yorkner, Mrs. Harry Maxwell, Mrs. J. Loran Price, Mrs. George Gross, Mrs. Edward Walsh, Mrs. R. H. Chamberlain, Mrs. Charles Lovell, Mrs. T. C. Coogan, Mrs. Frank L. Brown, Mrs. Thomas Olney, Jr., Mrs. J. P. Neville, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. Edward Elms, Mrs. Adna Denison, Mrs. Jennie Klose, Mrs. Charles H. Rowe, Mrs. J. W. McClymonds, Miss Matilda Brown, Mrs. H. C. Taft, Mrs. B. B. Beck, Mrs. Thomas Crellin, Mrs. Benjamin Ida Wheeler, Mrs. H. C. Capwell, Mrs. L. Adams, Mrs. Hugh Hogan, Mrs. Frederick Stolp, Mrs. Gordon Storr, Mrs. Thomas Hogan, Mrs. C. S. Chamberlain, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Annie Little Barry, Mrs. Cora Jones, Mrs. J. B. Hume, Miss Horton, Mrs. F. M. Smith, Miss Sperry and Miss Ethel Moore.

The clubs immediately around the bay are: The Ebell, Home Club, Hillside Club, Claremont Club, New Century Club, Oakland Club, Adelphi Club, Town and Gown Club, Allie May Club, Woman's Exchange.

The clubs of the smaller towns would also do enthusiastic work in making "Alameda County Day" a great success.

AT BRIDGE.

Mrs. Charles Dawkins and her mother, Mrs. S. J. Conner, have asked their friends to share their hospitality at bridge on Friday, March 2.

RECENT HOSTESS.

Mrs. T. B. Coghill was a recent hostess, entertaining a dozen guests at tea at the Woman's exchange.

AFTERNOON OF BRIDGE.

Mrs. Andrew Moser is to give an afternoon of bridge on March 4 at her Lakeside district home, claiming the members of the Monday club as her guests.

EARLY JUNE WEDDING.

The wedding of Miss Anna Kober and Carl Kaufmann will be an event of the season, taking place in June at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Kober, at 1738 Central avenue, Alameda.

AFFAIRS ON MARCH 2.

Miss Amy Sawyer is to be made the guest of honor of Miss Margaret Dunne of Alameda on March 2.

Another affair of March 2 is the card party which Mrs. Fred Winchester will give at her home in the Adams Point district, complimentary to her sister, Mrs. A. A. Adams, who is visiting here from her home in the south.

Miss Margaret Keany is to give a kitchen shower for Miss Martha Vaughan on that date, also.

AT CARDS.

Mrs. Edwin Charles Williams was hostess last night at a card party at her beautiful new home in Northbrae.

WEDDING CARDS ISSUED.

Rev. W. E. Vaughan and Mrs. Vaughan have sent out cards for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Martha Vaughan, to be held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Kober, at 1738 Central avenue, Alameda.

their daughter, Miss Martha Vaughan, Ford E. Samuel, which will be solemnized March 2 at the Union Street Methodist church in Alameda. Rev. W. E. Hodgson will be the officiating clergyman and several hundred guests will witness the ceremony. Miss Vaughan will be her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Georgia Mordeith, Miss Alice Davis and Miss Margaret Denison. Stephen Ott will be best man for the bridegroom. The ushers will be Harvey Kassenbaum, Norman Dillwyn and George Marwedel. The ceremony will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents. Since the announcement of her engagement a week ago Miss Vaughan has been complimented with a number of social affairs. Tomorrow her father, Mr. A. J. Samuel, will be at a luncheon in her honor. Mrs. Samuel has asked a group of the bride's friends to be her guests.

ON Friday afternoon Mrs. T. J. Kamm entertained a score or more of friends at her home at an informal evening tea. The guests were Mrs. M. Kruger, Mrs. Fred Kahn, Mrs. M. Stroum, Mrs. E. L. Silverberg, Miss Anna Kober, Miss Gladys Stiro, Miss Frances Kober, Mrs. L. H. Stiro, Mrs. F. Hyams, Mrs. J. Schmitt, Mrs. A. J. Kober, Mrs. L. Lacey, Mrs. L. Isaac, Mrs. J. Glanville.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—Cupid reared a final victory in an unequal struggle with Owen Mackin, civil war veteran, 73 years of age, when a Valentine's day ceremony made him a man with a wife. The ceremony was performed yesterday by the Rev. J. J. McCarthy, assistant rector of St. Stephen's Catholic church.

The wedding was the outcome of a romance begun when Mackin fell ill of pneumonia. The then Mrs. Hanley carried flowers to him and ministered to him in such a way as to win his love. A two weeks' honeymoon in Florida is planned by the pair.

Mackin lives at 3750 North Thirteenth street, and his bride has made her home at 1312 Shackamaxon street. The bridegroom served through the civil war and then enlisted with Company D, United States Cavalry, with which he served three years more.

JUDGE MAULS LAWYER WHO CALLS HIM "LIAR"

MILFORD, Texas, Feb. 24.—"Judge, you are a liar," was the first words uttered by a man who just called a "liar" the judge.

The judge's proceedings halted, and Judge J. H. Knepper, presiding in the commission court, withdrew with Commissioner Louis Dyer. This is indicative of the court's action in the case.

Commissioner Dyer called his name, and the man who uttered the words, and in a moment Judge Knepper appeared in the court and the judge's proceedings were resumed.

ORPHEUM

Walter Hampden, in Richard Harding Davis' dramatic sketch, "Blackmail," heads the new bill which will open at the Orpheum for the week beginning this afternoon. The announcement is one of the most important of the season for the combination of a playlet by Davis, probably the best and most popular short story writer in America today, with Hampden, one of the leaders of the stage, in one of the most powerful novels in direct contrast to such writing as "The Little Girl," which was presented in vaudeville a few years ago by Robert Hilliard. The production has been made under the personal direction of the author, and Hampden and his associate players perfectly realize Davis' ideas.

In addition to Hampden, who is best remembered here for his acting in the role of "Manon" in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," the company includes Mabel Moore, who also appeared in that play; Ned Finley, popular here in "Seven Days," and Bernard B. Mullen.

Millet's Models, presenting in a series of living pictures reproductions of famous paintings, have created a furor wherever seen. The models, who number five, are posed against elaborate backgrounds, and while here will present such masterpieces as Morano's "The Village Blacksmith," Breton's "Alone," Stone's "The Peacemaker," and that famous picture of American history, "The Spirit of '76."

"On a Shopping Tour," offered by Leona Thurber and Harry Madison, gives the two players an opportunity to display those talents which won them much favor on their last tour over the circuit. The pair give imitations of the curious things done in vaudeville, sing some new songs and introduce a travesty on department store clerks. Miss Thurber is a remarkably handsome woman and is considered one of the best-gowned actresses on the stage, while Madison is a clever comedian.

A novelty exhibition will be given by Ernie and Mildred Potts. It will include striking exhibitions of back-punching and several pleasing songs.

MACDONOUGH

The cast is headed by Willis P. Sweetnam and Ann Murdock.

Joe Weber, the producing manager of the new German-French musical farce, "Alma, Where Do You Live," which he will present in English at the Macdonough on March 3, 4 and 5, is the only actor-manager in this country who owns his own theater outright.

There are others who lease houses in New York, or who have control of the engagements in a certain house, but Mr. Weber is the sole owner of Weber's theater. It was at this house that he first made his successful production of "Alma," and by sheer dint of his own interpretation forced its acceptance by the New York public. The result was that the spicily musical farce ran a full season at Weber's and will be seen here for the first time direct from New York.

BELL

Heading the new bill with the matinee opening Sunday afternoon at the Bell theater will be one of the most enjoyable acts in vaudeville and one of the strongest acts that has come this way in some time. It is the engagement of Ray Dooley and his Metropolitan Minstrels. Little Miss Dooley is a prime favorite wherever she has appeared and she comes with a superb support with absolutely new music, new jokes and new dancing steps.

For speed and dexterity there are few acrobats in the country who can excel the Todd Nards. These people are circus stars and render a performance all to the good.

Budd and Clare are continental favorites and they will burlesque various London ideas, introduce a number of catchy songs and dances and instrumental selections all in an act entitled, "Scenes from London."

They come here direct from the Oxford theater in London, where they have been a reigning success.

Then again we have another decided novelty in Mary Barley's Bull Dog Musical. These are thoroughbreds every one and present an act that for originality and novelty will be hard to surpass. They have their own orchestra (bull dogs) and also a director, electrician, performer, gymnastic feats and render a program on various instruments.

One of the strongest features of the new show will be Harry W. Reid's offerings of Palmer and Illing, a remarkable physical culture exhibition but alone decidedly unusual lines. Mr. Palmer is the holder of the wrestling championship title for his weight in Australia and the Orient, while Mr. Illing was formerly featherweight champion of the Pacific coast.

Merlin the Great, card manipulator, is a distinct addition to the bill, and Bowditch and Randolph in "The Bag and the Chorus Girl" will contribute comedy a plenty in the lines they offer.

Unusually interesting educational motion pictures will be shown.

YE LIBERTY

Manager Bishop of Ye Liberty announces that there will be a second week of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," beginning tomorrow evening. It is the first time that any play has been continued for a second consecutive week at the stock theater, which, in itself, gives one an idea of the unusual success which this production has met with at Ye Liberty. It is no exaggeration to say that the big theater has been unable to accommodate all those who have tried to obtain admission throughout the week. At nearly every performance enough prospective ticket purchasers have been turned away from the box office to fill the theater half again, and it is because of this condition that Manager Bishop was prevailed upon to break his established rule of a new play every Monday evening.

And thus it happens that that optimistic philosopher, Mrs. Wiggs, will be with us again next week, displaying her own "irrepressible" and her cheerful theories of life and giving us a new viewpoint of the ordinary things of our humdrum existence. It is not merely because Mrs. Wiggs is a

It is this ownership of his own theater which has made Mr. Weber a most successful man in theatrical affairs. In dramatic affairs one head is often better than a whole basketful. It is the individuality of ideas which counts. By being absolutely his own manager, Mr. Weber is able to get away from the many ideas which always come from a group of men. He conforms to his own opinions. He listens, then makes up his mind, then goes ahead. The result is such a splendid production as "Alma."

It would be difficult to play the character of the lady who lived in a tin house, located in a cabbage patch, better than does Mrs. Mina Gleason. If there is an expression, a gesture, a pose that she has missed in developing the character of the woman from the suburbs of Louisville, Ky., no one is aware of it. Mrs. Gleason plays the part so thoroughly well that it is difficult to say more of her work than that it is perfectly done. Miss Marjorie Rumbold is effective as Lovey Mary and Miss Maribel Seymour as Miss Hazy and Orrell Humphreys as Mr. Stubbins supply some of the most genuinely funny scenes ever seen upon a local stage. The cast throughout is a remarkable one, even to the children, who are natural and well trained.

"Mrs. Wiggs" will be given for positively next week only, with the usual popular matinees on Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday. The Woman He Married, an exceptionally strong drama of modern life by Herbert Bashford, will be given a week from tomorrow evening. It is the play in which Virginia Harned starred for all of last season, and, according to Manager Bishop, will give Miss Rumbold the finest acting opportunity she has had since joining the company.

There will be fun aplenty at the Columbia theater this week when the well known comedians Dillon and King will present their latest musical comedy offering entitled, "The Twins," commencing with the matinee today. The offering is said to be extremely funny both in characters and situations and at the same time allowing unlimited opportunity for handsome costumes and stage settings.

Ben T. Dillon and Will King will both have their hands full taking care of "Mike" and "Ike," who as the two twins have much to do with the comedy of the piece. The scene of the comedy is in the office of Dr. Munton, an eminent surgeon who is earnestly striving for fame and fortune in the surgical world. He is anxious to perform an operation that will startle the medical profession and desires for his subject a freak of nature. He offers a reward of $10,000 and the hand of his daughter to the man who can produce the freak. His only daughter, Laura, hears of his plan and induces her sweetheart, Jack Hardman, to produce a freak by fair means or foul, and thus win the prize and hand of the doctor's daughter. Laura immediately starts out to find freaks.

He soon returns with an Irishman and a Hebrew, Mike and Ike, who are willing to disguise themselves as the Siamese twins. Many decidedly amusing situations follow their appearance in the doctor's office and the two funny characters find it difficult to adhere to Jack's directions.

Dillon and King can be depended upon to furnish much amusement as the twins while Frank Bonner will have plenty to do as Dr. Munton, the eminent surgeon. Dolly Bunch has been cast as Laura, the doctor's daughter. It is a part well suited to her peculiar style and offers her an opportunity to wear several stunning gowns. Maude Beatty will be seen as Lydia Pinkham, the life-long friend of Dr. Munton. The character is an important one and her scenes with the doctor are very laughable. Charlie Reilly will take care of Jack Hardman, the breezy young chap in love with Laura, while Hazel Gottung will play the wife of the surgeon, Mrs. Munton. The Ginger Girls will be seen in a number of dances that should strongly appeal to the lovers of musical comedy.

The musical program has been carefully arranged and will include the following numbers: "Big Chief Smoke," "Everybody's Doing It," "King Chanticleer," "Nobody Knows the Answer," "Winter," "The Motor Car," "The Twins" will be presented for the remainder of the week with the usual matinee and evening performances.

H. Hallett and Company presenting Walter Montague's latest up-to-the-minute playlet entitled, "The Loan Shark," which opens today at the Broadway Theater.

Other acts on the bill are Vere Jenkins and his "Story of Life in Joliet Prison," Cooper and Leonard, singing and talking comedians, The Three Gustard Novelty Globe Rolling Acrobats, Nickols and Sherwood's comedy rural sketch, "Trimming a Rube," and besides four reels of first-run exclusive photoplays.

A program of vaudeville that bears promise of making you wonder how it can be done for ten cents.

The great feature film of the month is presented by the Selig company, "The Danites," written by McKee Rankin, the noted author and actor. The older generation will remember the play in the early 70's, with McKee Rankin taking the lead common type that we are drawn to her and that the book and the play alike permit of repeated associations. Mrs. Wiggs is thoroughly American and to her nationalism adds a doctrine of living that applies to us all, or to most all of us. There is a sincerity about the character that convinces whether seen in the printed pages of the story or in the flesh and blood on the stage. And what applies to Mrs. Wiggs is also true of her friends and acquaintances, all of whom as well as the children and even the old nag, Cuby, are seen on the stage.

NUMEROUS CONCERTS FILL CALENDARS OF MUSIC-LOVERS OF THE EAST BAY CITIES

Half-Hour of Music Every Sunday at Hearst Greek Theater

Music lovers were not disappointed in the high hopes with which they attended the Liberty Theater on Friday afternoon to hear the golden-toned Schumann-Heink, who surpassed herself in her interpretation of an exceptionally fine program.

Every seat was filled when Madam Schumann-Heink came forward with her ever-gracious manner and beaming smile to give three of the arias from the principal role in Saint-Saens' opera, "Samson and Delilah." Her interpretative gift alone stamps Schumann-Heink as a great artist, and combined as it is with a voice of rare beauty, produces an effect eminently satisfying. In the variety of her songs she ran the gamut of emotions with the ease for which she is noted. Especially fine were the numbers of Schubert and Schumann, sung with lovely tonal quality and exquisite pianissimo effect. A group of children's songs given with inimitable archness and humor, delighted the audience.

Salter's "Cry of Rachel," a difficult and vivid aria, was given in English, as were a number of other numbers sung with a clear enunciation, which was a joy to the discriminating ear. The program was as follows:

- Three arias from the opera, "Samson and Delilah"..... Saint-Saens
1. Spring Song.....
2. O Love of Thy Might.....
3. My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice.....
(a) Liebeschmerz..... (b) Die forelle.....
(c) Die Altmacht..... F. Schubert
(d) Mondnacht..... (e) Windmuhlen.....

(a) Irish Love Song..... M. Lang
(b) Light..... M. Beuer
(c) Cry of Rachel..... M. Salter
(d) A Child's Prayer..... J. Harold

The musical and dramatic committee of the University of California has announced that beginning with this afternoon the regular half-hour of music will be continued to the end of the present semester, at the Hearst Greek Theater. Until April the concerts will be given at 3 o'clock.

Today's program will be by the Columbia Park Boys' Band, under the leadership of Conrad Horst, who will render the following program:

Overture, Light Cavalry..... Wagner
Pillgrim's Chorus and To the Evening Star..... Wagner
Serenade..... Schubert
Sextet from "Lucia di Lammermoor"..... Donizetti
La Carmine..... Donizetti
March, National Emblem..... Bagley

The second concert of the Berkeley Musical Association was held at Harmon gymnasium this week, and was much enjoyed by the large audience of music-lovers, with Mrs. Chamberlain of the De Graz French Opera Company; Walter Osterreicher, pianist, and Udo Waldrop, pianist, took part.

The program was as follows:

- Sonata..... Locatelli
Allergo moderato..... Locatelli
Adagio.....
Minuetto.....
Madame Ruegger.
Bell song, "Chanson des Clochettes"..... Delibes
(a) Abandoned..... Schumann

(b) La Nuit..... Rubenstein
(c) La Nuit..... Schumann
Concerto in D minor (in one movement)..... De Swert
Madame Ruegger.
Mad scene from "Lucia"..... Donizetti
Flute obligato, Walter Osterreicher.

Wallace A. Sablin's "A Spring Madrigal," a chorus for men's voices, was sung at the Loring Club's concert this week given in San Francisco, and was well received.

Miss Trauholtz and her pupils entertained a number of their friends, celebrating Washington's birthday, at Miss Trauholtz's studio on West street, when the following numbers were given:

- Song by the class—"M. Vernon Belle".....
"Briming Chimes"..... Carl Heins
"The Merry Farmer"..... B. Schumann
"La Paloma"..... M. Loretta Pratt
Song, "In the Garden of My Heart"..... Ball

Song, "Little Bird, Why Singest Thou?".....
Miss Nettie E. Trauholtz.

Many musical folk are interested in the reading to be given on Tuesday night, February 27, by Miss Marie Hockendrick, assisted by Miss Helen Frances Meow, soprano, and Miss Lillian Devenport, violinist. Miss Meow is a teacher of voice culture and completed her vocal training in Paris. The proceeds are for the benefit of the building fund of King's Daughters' Home for Incurables.

BECK WANTS CALVE. Martin Beck, representing vaudeville, is making signs at Calve for the variety stage. From reports there are good chances that an engagement will be made for the show next season, although just now she is balking at the prospect of doing no twice daily.

$1000 OF LOVER'S COIN TO JILTED GIRL

LEBANON, Mo., Feb. 24.—True love found one way in the Laclede county court room when Miss Stella Scott came to a jury that her affections had been unwisely trifled with by Richard Luby, to whom Miss Scott claimed she had been engaged to be married without sufficient matrimonial bliss.

The jury awarded the fair plaintiff $1,000 as a value for her lacerated feelings resulting from her declaration that the defendant had failed to keep his pledged truth.

Miss Scott sued for $5,000. It is said that the case will be appealed by the defendant.

MISS MABEL RIEGELMAN, who has appeared in a new opera in the East with marked success.

DUPES TRANSPIRED AND THEN THEY PERSPIRED

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Feb. 24.—After getting $100 here and similar sums at Muscatine, Monmouth and many other points, two young men were arrested at Pontiac after several victims had filed complaint, and they were placed in jail on a charge of working a confidence game.

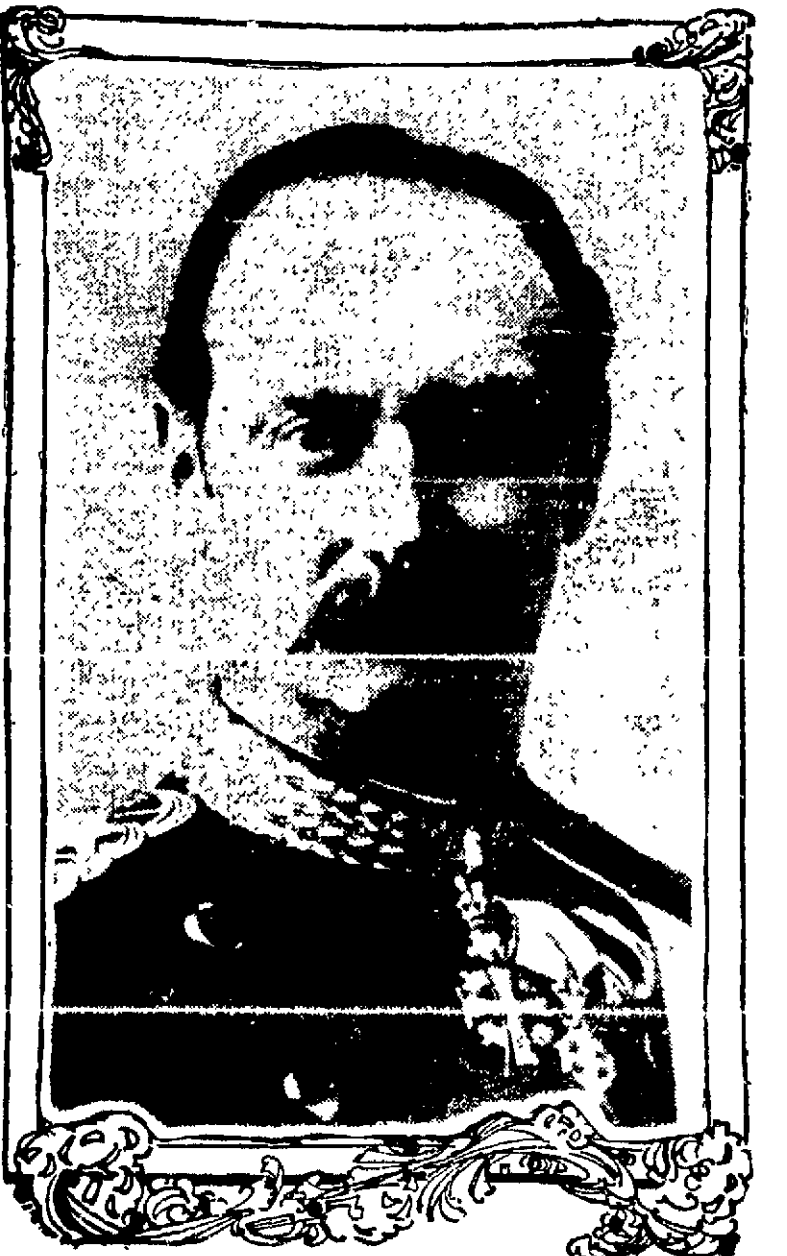

It was their plan to enter a saloon, pool hall, store or any other place where they could win the attention of a crowd and argue about the meaning of "transpire." Speculators would be induced to bet that "transpire" does not mean to perspire, and the dictionary would show that it has that meaning. One of the strangers pocketed the bets.

SURRENDERS TO GAIN MOTHER'S FREEDOM

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 24.—That his mother might be released from the city jail, where she had been two weeks, following a conviction on charge of illegal liquor selling, Clyde Tarbill surrendered to his bondsmen and went to jail. The bond, which was $200 for his appearance for answer to a charge of selling liquor, was transferred to Mrs. Annie Tarbill's case and she was given her liberty.

Mrs. Tarbill was taken in the raid when sixty alleged liquor sellers and persons in poolrooms and barber shops were arrested. Mrs. Tarbill was fined $2000 and sentenced to two years, although no liquor was found in her house.

Democratic Prince Is in Line for the Throne of Denmark

King of Denmark, who is reported to be seriously ill after having been on the throne six years.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 24.—The King of Denmark, who is reported as being seriously ill, is a brother of ex-Queen Alexandra of Great Britain. He succeeded to the throne only six years ago. He was well advanced in years when he became King. At the present time he is 63 years old. The heir to the throne in the event of the death of the present King is Prince Christian, who was born in 1870. He is a young man of simple tastes and very popular.

The Crown Princess of Denmark, who will come to the throne, is a daughter of the late King Christian IX. She was married in April, 1898. She has a son not quite 13 and another 11 1/2 years old.

WITH BROKEN BACK WALKS FOR MILES

Former Inmate of City Infirmary Collapses at Street Corner.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 24.—August Henn, 64, inmate of the city infirmary, was found on the sidewalk at Opera place and Race street suffering from a fractured back. The aged man was picked up by Traffic Officer Jeffries and sent to the city hospital. Henn told the hospital authorities he was running grape vines in the rear of a place in Eastern avenue when he fell from the lattice work. Though suffering intense agony, Henn walked from Eastern avenue to Opera place and Race street, where he collapsed. The injured man was released in police court by Judge Fiske on the plea that he was an expert grapevine trimmer. Henn told the court this was the busy season and was dismissed with the promise to attend strictly to his work.

EXPECTS TO LIVE IN "HEAVEN" 200 YEARS

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Eschewing a meat diet of every description, giving the gay and festive cocktail a wide berth, dubbing tobacco in its various forms the "embalmer's delight," and with his heart filled with divine love, Charles A. Judd, barber, father of four stalwart boys and three rosy cheeked daughters, has planned to live two hundred years.

Mr. Judd lives at No. 218 Jamaica avenue, Richmond Hill, and while more than forty years old, looks twenty-five. He is a strict vegetarian, and says humankind would improve in health and morals if all stopped the corpse of dead fowls, dead animals and dead fish.

Meat diet of any sort, he says, shortens life. Every drink of alcoholic liquor brings a sudden existence nearer the grave. Every cigar puts another nail in the smoker's coffin, while smoking cigarettes and wearing craps go hand-in-hand. A few rules he has laid down under the title of "Concerning the Art of Living."

What is best? Alcohol, tobacco, eating corpses of hens and cows and fish; hate, revenge, envy, malice, jealousy, gluttony, the fear thought, discontent and unappreciation.

Now what is heaven? Good air, good water, eight hours' sleep, a heart full of divine love, hope, faith, charity, contentment, the simple life and the golden rule.

PASTOR FORGIVES MAN WHO ROBBED HIS HOME

PORTLAND, Feb. 24.—Rev. E. Nelson Allen, pastor of Hawthorne Park Presbyterian church, declined to prosecute Carl Groner on a charge of robbing the minister's house Sunday night while Mr. Allen was delivering his sermon.

Groner declared he had attempted burglary to get money for his wife, who has been ill, and for his two babies, who are starving. He was caught by the physician who had been attending Mrs. Groner. Part of the money Groner hoped to find in the Allen home was to be paid to Dr. Moore.

Mr. Allen declined to announce his intentions yesterday when Groner and his family begged the pastor for forgiveness, but today Mr. Allen arranged with Deputy District Attorney Hennessey that Groner should be found guilty and sentenced to serve 360 days on the rockpile sentence being suspended.

A special agreement was made so Groner would be allowed to return to his former home in Indianapolis, Ind., with his family, the minister securing the tickets.

When Groner was informed that he would escape punishment he broke down before Municipal Judge Tazewell and promised never to err again. Groner, who is a florist, will return to Indianapolis this afternoon.

WEDS GIRL, LOSES HER AND GETS YEAR IN JAIL

SUNBURY, Pa., Feb. 24.—George F. Linderman of Shamokin procured a bride, but landed in jail for one year, and the court annulled the marriage.

Linderman was in love with Miss Esther M. Berninger, 16 years old, daughter of Wilson Berninger of Shamokin. The young girl was also fond of Linderman, and agreed to marry him if he could get a marriage certificate.

He appeared before Justice of the Peace Morgan at Shamokin last month and swore that the girl's age was 22 years and that he was old enough to take up family duties. On this affidavit the license was issued and one week ago the pair wedded.

When Mr. Berninger, the girl's father, learned of the marriage he caused the arrest of Linderman for perjury. He acknowledged his guilt before Judge Cummings, the court annulled the marriage and sentenced him.

KEPT OFF JURY BECAUSE THEY SAY "I OWN DOG"

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 24.—The difficulty of obtaining an unbiased jury in a dog bite case, was again illustrated in Judge Turner's branch of the circuit court, when a prospective juror, in answer to a question, said "I, sir, own a dog."

The case on trial is that of Mrs. Rosa Smith against Joseph Birck, who owns a dog and Martin street. Mrs. Smith alleges that on the night of August 24, 1909, she and a little girl, while returning home from her mother's, were met upon by a brown dog which tore her cravat and coat and skirt so badly that they were beyond repair. She testified she complained to Birck the next day, and that he ordered her out of his place.

The suit was originally tried before Judge P. J. M. Birck, who was disqualified. The case was then tried before Judge Cummings, who was also disqualified. The case is now on trial.

Birck maintains that his dog "Brownie" was locked up in a barn on the night in question, and that it was some other dog that bit Mrs. Smith. Birck has produced in evidence, not on the torn coat and skirt, because, during the illness of Mrs. Smith, the torn clothes were given to a rag picker.

ACTOR WHO PORTRAYED DEATH PASSES AWAY. DETROIT, Feb. 24.—Alexander Hamilton Stuart, widely known as an actor, died in Grace hospital this city. He was 59 years old. Stuart was the husband of Miss Jessie Bonfield, who is known as "The Woman" company. She was with him at the time of his death.

For the last six years Stuart was with the Shubert forces, and it is said the actor played a part in "The City," where he portrayed death by heart failure at the end of the first act, contributed to his own death by the same disease.

Stuart was a member of the Players' club and a member of the National Actors' association and was the second degree Mason, being a member of Kismet lodge, Brooklyn.

The Turkish Bath At Home

"The Home made Turkish Bath Box Is Getting To Be A Fad With Up-To-Date Women,"

Says

When Seated in the Box, Place a Bath Towel Around the Shoulders, Large Enough to Fall Over the Top of the Box and Around to

If the Heat Distresses You, Wear a Rubber Ice Cap.

Ready for the Bath

By LILLIAN RUSSELL.

(Copyright, 1912, By Lillian Russell.)

DR. LORAND, the great specialist of Carlsbad, commands every person who goes to him for advice or treatment to take one Turkish bath every week for health and beauty.

This is a wise method. The regular baths for cleanliness should be taken every day. But one day in each week the Turkish bath is required to perfect circulation and beautify the skin.

Could the good people who nurture a virtuous feeling of pride in their cold bath every day see just once the amount of dead cuticle and actual dirt roll away after the sweat bath they would be convinced of the make-shift character of the cold, or even the lukewarm, bath in comparison. If you wish to be clean use hot water in bathing.

The home Turkish bath box is getting to be quite a fad with the up to date woman. These boxes may be made from a low wooden screen covered with rubber cloth at little expense. They are not beyond the reach of any one. These baths are of especial benefit to people engaged in sedentary occupations.

To make a bath box get boards from forty to forty-two inches high and about thirty inches wide, hinge them together, leaving one end open to be used as a door. Cover the box inside and out with rubber cloth, and place a cane seated chair in the box. To produce the necessary heat an alcohol lamp may be used, but great precaution should be exercised, as accidents may happen with such a lamp. Much better is an electric wire with four or six sixteen candle power bulbs attached to it. Place the lights under the chair. This wire may be attached to an electric or a floor outlet or an electric thermo bar may be used. Wear a bath gown or pajamas. When seated in the box place a large towel around the shoulders. Have the towel large enough to fall over the top of the box and all round it.

How to Regulate the Heat.

If the heat distresses you wear a rubber ice cap. The electric current may be turned off when you are perspiring too freely, and turned on again in ten minutes to renew the perspiration, which should continue from thirty to forty minutes. The box can easily be folded up and put away in some corner until it is needed.

This manner of Turkish bath need not prevent you from reading a book or your morning papers. Nor need it prevent you from receiving your cook to take your orders, nor your girl friends from stopping in for a cup of tea with you. I, myself, being a busy woman, never allow so slight a thing as a sweat bath to interfere with my writing or visiting with women.

When the body has perspired sufficiently you must rise down with a rough towel, then get into a tub of hot water. Rub your body with a bath brush and plenty of soap, then use the cold spray or shower until you are perfectly cool. You will be in a glow when you get out of the bath, but rub your body then with a little pure toilet water or alcohol, especially if you are going out within a couple of hours.

You will be well repaid for the trouble of such a bath once a week, for it will reduce you in weight and purify your skin, cleansing the pores, and beautifying the skin.

If One Wishes, Pajamas May Be Worn Instead of a Bath Robe.

The best time to take these baths is in the morning, an hour after a light breakfast. In any case, you should not take one immediately after eating.

Skin Barometer of Health.

The skin represents the state of health of the body and is the best index that we have as to age. If the skin is white and smooth and the circulation good, it shows that the blood still courses through the minute blood vessels that nourish the skin, for these are the first to wither as the body changes from growth and maturity to degeneration. In order to prevent this change the physical care must be taken to keep the skin in its proper condition, which may be done by baths and massage.

Baths may be for cleansing, tonic, or for medicinal purposes. Cold baths are not cleansing. They are more in the nature of a tonic. Neither do they agree with every one. The best as to the benefit of a cold bath in individual cases is easily understood. If a "glow" immediately follows the drying of the skin, the bath is beneficial, but if this reaction is tardy, or does not occur at all, and there is a blue tinge upon the surface of the body, such a bath is really injurious. Delicate people should beware of cold baths. They are only for the strong. Elderly persons should never bathe in water below 70 degrees.

Where cleanliness is the main object, the water should be from 92 to 98 degrees; a tepid bath varies from 65 to 80 degrees, and a cold bath is any temperature below 65 degrees.

Warm Baths of Extreme Antiquity.

Do not forget to own a bath thermometer, for this is a great convenience, and when you decide the kind of a bath that suits you use your thermometer daily.

In choosing the temperature of your bath, take the bath that makes you feel the strongest and takes the least vitality from you. A daily bath is absolutely necessary for good health and particularly so for good looking skin.

Warm baths are of extreme antiquity. Among the aborigines of the various countries vapor baths were made by heating stones red hot, pouring water over them, and sitting in the steam.

The heat of the warm bath draws the blood to the skin from the deeper parts. For busy people, those engaged in business, teachers, physicians, stenographers—all those whose occupations involve a sedentary life—the bath at a temperature of 92 to 98 degrees is especially desirable.

The bath may last from fifteen to thirty minutes. After such a bath the greatest care should be taken to avoid a chill, for the blood vessels have temporarily lost their tone. Heat has the special effect of facilitating the bodily functions—that is, by disposing of the waste matter, and a warm bath will do more to refresh one who is fatigued than a longer time spent in sleep.

Each Must Make Own Selection.

If one cannot stand a cold bath in the morning, an excellent bath to take is a warm one followed by a cold shower. In this way one has the cleansing as well as the stimulating effect. If the feet are kept in warm water and the cold water sprayed over the body there will not be the slightest chance of ill effect from the cold shower.

Hard water, which is made so by the deposit of lime in surrounding soil, should not be used for bathing, unless soft water cannot be obtained, for it clogs the epidermis and roughens and reddens it out of all semblance to beauty. But if it must be used it can be somewhat softened by adding to it just enough borax or ammonia to make the water feel smooth. And now what kind of soap is best? For soap must not be omitted in cleansing the body. The housewife knows full well that she cannot cleanse her china, or her linen without soap, and it is quite as unreasonable to suppose that skin, which is constantly exuding oily, fatty matter, can be cleansed either with hot or cold water alone. Soap is needed in bathing the body just as surely as it is needed in washing linen.

For general use I always use the pure imported castile. But you must remember that what will agree with my skin might not agree with yours, so the matter of soap is also one of individual discretion.

But cheap soaps must be emphatically forbidden, even though they may be fair to see and agreeable to the nostrils. A cheap soap usually contains strong alkali and filthy fatty matter necessitated by its cheap character. It may perform its work of making a good suds, but its later effects on the skin are sure to be deplorable.

In bathing establishments under medical supervision and supervised by the most refined and hypercritical of people one rarely sees other than castile or the pure unscented white soaps. Do avoid all highly colored and highly perfumed soaps. And there is apt to be little virtue in the so-called medicinal soaps. The name is usually an advertisement only and does not guarantee worth.

Use of Different Soaps.

As a rule a superfatted soap should be used, and must be used when the skin is at all dry, but when the skin is moist from the natural oil secreted by it, a transparent soap on the glycerin order is required. These soaps contain an excess of alkali, which blends with the moisture and renders it harmless.

There are a few general rules for bathing:

Remember the best time for a bath is an hour before or two hours after eating.

Remember to begin all baths first by bathing thoroughly the face to prevent the rush of blood to the head.

Remember that six minutes is quite long enough time to give to the morning bath. Take all general baths briskly and rub the body vigorously when drying it.

Remember, the best time for a bath is an hour before quickly if you are to go out. People of nervous temperament or impaired digestion, those whose circulation is feeble, or whose temperature is below the normal standard, invalids, or convalescents should avoid cold baths. The temperature of the room should not be below 70 degrees. With good ventilation 80 or 85 degrees would be better.

Remember, to be cleanly is a just homage to him who requires purity in all things, whether of soul or body, a moral obligation to those with whom we come in contact, and a duty we owe ourselves not only as a matter of self-protection alone but as a "life as well."

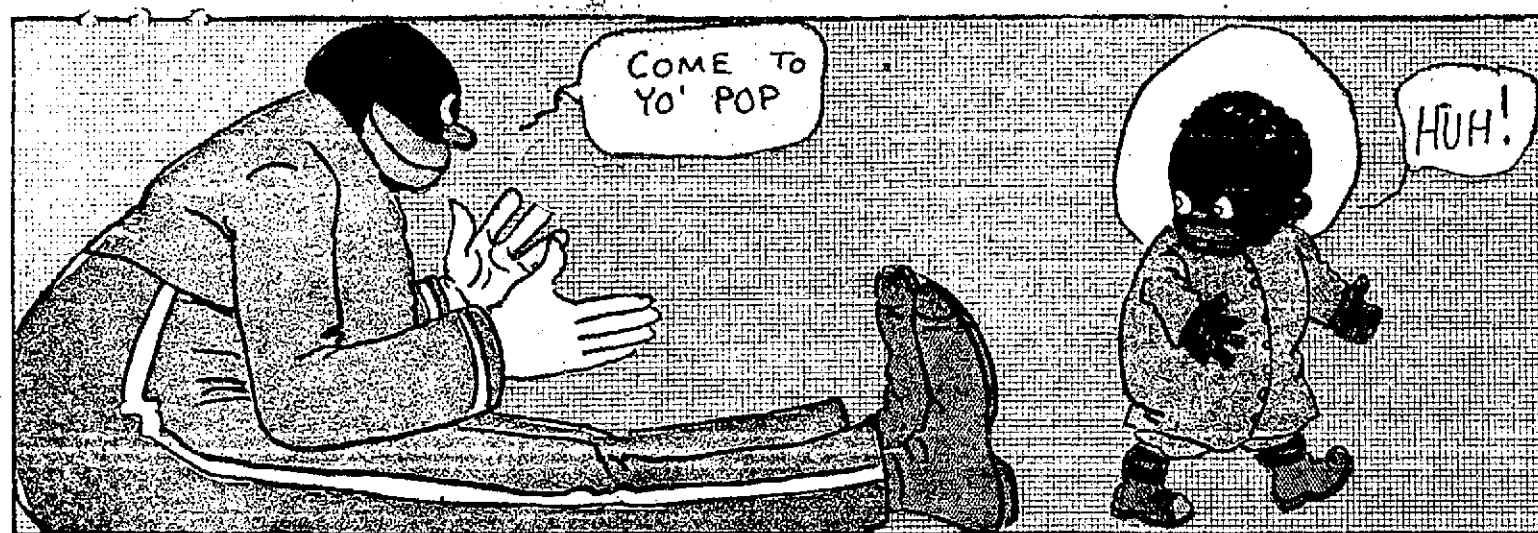

There is something radically wrong with the person who enjoys the enlightenment of civilization and yet refuses an intimate acquaintance with soap and water.

Old Jim Leonard built a home on the highest peak of the Zig-range, where he got lots of air in the summer, but making no provision for winter. With Jim dwelt his beautiful daughter. It snowed hard one winter while Jim was absent, and his daughter was alone. I filled a barrel with snow.

So with this tremendously big barrel filled with snow strapped to my shoulders I started out to rescue Jim's daughter. Over the long weary stretches of snow I plodded on my snowshoes, the bitter cold nipping at my nose and ears. Miles and miles ahead of me was Jim's mountain retreat.

After half an hour had passed I had frozen a column that reached almost to the door of Jim's shanty. The delighted girl came out, and strapping her to my back I began the perilous descent, slipping and crawling down the shaft of ice. When we reached the ground she cooked my dinner for me.

I reached the foot of Jim's mountain. His shack towered above me some eighteen thousand feet. I placed the barrel at the base of the mountain, set a spirit lamp to work beneath it, and in a few moments had melted the snow. The water sizzled.

Before me lay a valley, now almost obliterated by great snow drifts. It was necessary to descend a mountain side some six thousand feet in length, so unstrapping the barrel I started it down the incline, running and skipping along on top of it as it sped rapidly down the mountain side.

Then I replaced the barrel of water on my shoulders, turned on the nozzle and started the water flowing through a little hose. As it struck the ground it froze solid, into a little mound. On this mound I stood and sprayed the water. Taller and taller grew the mound and harder and harder I sprayed the water.

BOSTON, Feb. 24.—The entry of Colonel Roosevelt into the Bay State today, after a critical period in the Taft-Roosevelt anti-convention battle, created a stir, although the colonel has stated that the only object of his visit was to make a call on the Harvard overseers and to renew old acquaintances. The ex-President was greeted by a throng of 500 at the Back Bay depot and had to fairly fight his way from the train up the winding stairway to an automobile. He doffed his hat, however, bowed to everybody, and showed his teeth.

"Hooray for Teddy!" yelled the crowd. "We're with you!" As the machine whirled away Colonel Roosevelt waved his broad-brimmed hat and got another resounding cheer.

The colonel found another cheering crowd awaiting him outside the home of his old friend, Edward M. Brandegee, a millionaire of Brookline, where he spent the night.

POLITICS BEGINS TO SIZZLE.

The political cauldron has already begun to sizzle. Important political conferences have been arranged beginning with Monday, when a group of Roosevelt admirers in this state, along with Governor Bass, progressive, of New Hampshire, will meet the Rough Rider. On the other hand, Taft supporters, thrown into a panic, are going to have a conference of their own to see what can be done about the Roosevelt move. Leading the Taft forces is Chairman Hatfield of the Republican state committee, who got in touch yesterday with Senator Crane, the Taft adviser at the White House. Crane urged Hatfield to get out his field artillery. Hatfield hastily called a conference of the state committee for Tuesday, when means will be discussed to curb the Roosevelt agitation.

The Roosevelt managers here, led by State Senator Mason of Haverhill and Charles Baxter, a skilled campaign manipulator, have been working diligently for weeks perfecting their Roosevelt boom. They have got it so well launched that old-timers in the Massachusetts organization who were only recently regarded as safe for Taft are beginning to swing into line for the colonel.

Break Stops Communication With the Far East by Way of GuamUnless Repairs Can Be Made, New Wire Will Cost Sum of $10,000,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—All communication between the United States and the Philippine Islands, China and Japan, by means of the Pacific cable has been forcibly discontinued because of the breaking of the cable at some point in the 2600 miles between the Island of Guam and Midway Island, which marks the longest stretch of the cable.

As soon as the break was reported to the New York office of the Commercial Cable company, the Restorer, the company cable repair ship, was ordered to proceed from Victoria, B. C., to the section between the two islands for the purpose of locating the break.

When the break is located by means of electrical measurements an effort will be made to grapple for the broken ends of the cable and repair the damage if possible. If it cannot be recovered or repaired, $10,000,000 will have to be spent for installing a new cable.

The break is supposed to have occurred through the chafing of the cable on the sea floor, which in this part of the Pacific ocean is full of coral reefs.

The Pacific cable was opened in 1892, and is 8,101 miles in length.

VACCINE FOR SCARLET FEVER PROVES SUCCESSDiscovery of 'St. Petersburg Scientist Is Used in This Country

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Announcement was made today that the vaccine for scarlet fever, which was originally discovered by Dr. Gertrude Schick of St. Petersburg, had been put to its first practical test by Dr. W. H. Waters of the staff of the Medical hospital of Boston, and that it had thoroughly conquered the most dangerous disease known to childhood.

A year ago Dr. Waters vaccinated 10 of the 13 nurses serving in the scarlet fever ward of the Boston hospital. None of the nurses had ever had the disease. Today it was announced that the 10 nurses who were vaccinated escaped the disease, while the three who were not were attacked by the disease and made violently ill.

The new preventative remedy is called "scarletina streptococcus vaccine." Its development is simple. The streptococcus is taken from the blood of a diseased person and cultured. It is subjected to the heat and the action of the penicillin. Gradually it loses its intense virulence and becomes in effect anti-toxine.

The method of vaccination is identical with the inoculation against smallpox and the effects are the same.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Ellis Marshall Allen, the wealthy 74-year-old lumberman who was married only a few weeks ago to Mattie Laura Walker, died at St. Vincent's hospital this afternoon. His girl bride, who up to a few days ago had been constantly at his bedside, is dangerously ill of pneumonia, brought on by her devoted attention to the stricken man.

Allen died of gangrene of the leg. The infection was noticed in his right leg when he returned from his wedding trip and he was at once taken to a hospital. It was the judgment and desire of the physicians to amputate the diseased limb, but it was soon seen that the patient would be unable to withstand the shock.

The disease was therefore permitted to take its course and hope for the millionaire lumberman has practically been abandoned since last Wednesday.

Airships Sail in Spite of the High Wind Which Swept Over the Old Race Track

With the closing of the big international aviation meet this afternoon, after a week of record-breaking crowds and sensational flying at the Oakland aviation field, this city has demonstrated her proud title to being the hub of California as an exhibition city. Unprecedented crowds thronged the old race course, which had been converted into an aviation field, and the spectacular aeronautical events carried on the program drew all eyes to Oakland.

For the coming twelve months announcements have been made of the intentions of numerous national organizations, scientific, commercial and fraternal, to hold their annual conventions in this city.

The network of transportation service lines which gridiron the city, and the splendid accommodation offered as a result of the completion of the $1,000,000 Oakland hotel and the Cleverly hotel join with the natural advantages and the spirit of the people of Oakland to make this an ideal scene for great gatherings.

30,000 AT MEET.

The aviation meet held Washington's birthday saw a throng of over 30,000 people from the bay region and the interior of the state assembled within the big enclosure formerly used for the Emeryville race course. In addition to this immense crowd, masses of spectators darkened the fields and open spaces outside the grounds to watch the aviators as they rose above the enclosing walls.

It is anticipated that this record crowd will be at least duplicated today, weather conditions being favorable to the meet, and that the brilliant feats of the big day of the meet will be repeated and outdone. A number of daring events are programmed for this afternoon, and the birdmen plan to end the third international with a burst of glory that will make the occasion memorable.

SAYS SHE'LL FLY.

All the aviators will fly if there is any possibility of handling the aircraft at all, and Miss Blanche Scott declares that she will make a flight with or without the consent of her manager. The wind was so bad yesterday that Miss Scott was not allowed to try out her biplane, but she will make the attempt today unless she is prohibited by force.

The hitherto unheard of exploits of yesterday have made history in the science of aviation and have set a new milestone in the progress of the men who are working toward the conquest of the air. It has been the theory heretofore, that a thirty-five or forty-mile wind, blowing in gusts, was impossible to negotiate with a heavier-than-air machine without the certainty of accident and almost certain death.

MEN BRAVE DEATH.

The aviators braved death yesterday to prove that the wind demon could be conquered and at the close of the day Philip O. Parmelee, known as one of the most skillful aviators in the world and the holder of several records, declared that the conquest of the air, rain or storm, calm weather or cyclone, would be only a matter of time and experience, and the perfecting of the principles of aeronautics now known.

As a consequence of the experience in the driving wind, in which the

MISS ROOSEVELT

BETROTHALSails for Panama With Her Mother and G. P.
Snow, Suitor

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The sailing today for Panama of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Miss Ethel Roosevelt and George Folen Snow was the cause of much speculation. It is predicted that the announcement of an engagement between Miss Roosevelt and Snow will be forthcoming when the party returns, just as the engagement of Miss Roosevelt's sister Alice was announced after the Philippine trip.

Snow is about 30 years of age, a lawyer and a Harvard man. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Snow of this city and has been very attentive to Miss Roosevelt.

KEEPS TO HIS CABIN.

When the probability of the announcement of an engagement was mentioned to Robert D. Wrenn, the former tennis champion, who also sailed with his chum Snow, he said he knew nothing and that Snow was running the trip. Snow kept much to his stateroom, not appearing on deck until the Turralba had left the pier. Mrs. Roosevelt was not asked about an engagement being announced. The trip, it is said, is primarily because of her health. While looking well to those who never had seen her before, Mrs. Roosevelt, to those who have known her for years, did not appear in her usual good health.

STAY INDEMNIFIED.

In reply to the question how long the party would be gone, she replied that the length of the stay, while limited, had not been determined, but that it would not be more than eighteen days. Miss Ethel looked very pretty in a steamer coat and seemed more concerned about her mother than anything else. Girl friends of Miss Roosevelt are confidently looking forward to an engagement announcement.

Late this afternoon railroad officials in Juarez received a demand from the rebels at "Bouche" to send out three cars of water. They complied. The rebels will make a demand, it is said, for the town's surrender. It is believed there will be no resistance.

REBELS RAID RANCHES.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Feb. 24.—Agua Prieta, scene of the recent battles between the Madras revolution and thrown into a panic today when bands of men, who declared they were Vaqueros from Chihuahua, suddenly appeared and began raiding the ranches. The rebels' headquarters were hastily emptied and brought into Douglas. Frightened people quickly followed.

The Vaqueros brought the report that the bands were under command of Antonio Rodriguez, a political prisoner liberated with 30 others by sympathizers from the jail at Magdalena several days ago, and that they planned an attack on the Agua Prieta garrison Sunday.

COWBOYS IN ACTION.

One of the bands raided a ranch 12 miles southwest of Douglas last night. There were 30 in the party and 12 American cowboys. They told them to retreat from the corral and abandon 18 horses and mules, which they had attempted to take. The cowboys opened fire on the raiders and leaving behind one seriously wounded man.

Douglas is filling up with refugees not only from Agua Prieta, but from Fronteras, which was attacked by rebels of bandits Thursday night, and from Yuma and Nacozari.

Part of Rodriguez' men, most of whom escaped from the jail at Magdalena, are camped near Arizpe, according to Frank Gates, who was

MASSACHUSETTS GIVES ROOSEVELT AN OVATION

The delegation to Chicago, are such old players as former Representative Willard of Worcester, Andrew F. South of Winchester, and Russell Wood of Cambridge, all of whom have encouraged Roosevelt.

This Roosevelt men are trying to get Senator Lodge, one of the old Roosevelt standbys, to come out with an announcement for the colonel, but Lodge is in a difficult fix. The senator for whom Roosevelt made a campaign trip through the state two years ago would like to please the ex-president, but it is no secret that he does not share the colonel's ultra-progressive ideas. Lodge is a stand-patter. If Roosevelt were to come out for him, however, after the announcement of the Roosevelt candidacy on Monday, it is regarded as a safe bet that he will do it.

One reason why Senator Lodge is keeping in the background in the deal hope that he may not have to hold his hands while Roosevelt's policy is carried out. He is not sure that he can help it. He wants to be of service if called upon, not alone to Roosevelt in a quiet way, but to Senator Crane, who comes up for re-election by the legislature to be elected this fall.

The Taft managers are working to prevent the legislature passing a measure which the Roosevelt boomers want, providing for a presidential primary this spring. Roosevelt, they fear, will carry the primaries and get the majority of the delegates to Chicago if it is left to the people to decide between him and Taft. Inasmuch as the organization controls the legislature, the prospect of the Roosevelt men getting their primary legislation through is rather slim. The fight, as it looks now, will have to be made in the district convention and Roosevelt's allies have hopes of capturing enough of these to send a divided delegation.

Colonel Roosevelt goes tomorrow to the home in this city of Speaker Cushing of the Massachusetts assembly, and says there will be "no politics" there. Cushing has been an outspoken Taft advocate, and the colonel's call upon him to remain over night, has set the political savants guessing.

Roosevelt was accompanied on his trip from New York by Representative Nicholas Longworth, who took occasion to insist that he had never put himself down as a Taft man. "Are you for the colonel's candidacy?" was asked.

"Wait until he says he will run," was the parrying reply. "Ceddy" Roosevelt, Jr., and his wife also came along with the colonel. The Roosevelt son will call upon old Harvard chums.

BASS FOR VICE-PRESIDENT. The Roosevelt men here are talking of Governor Bass for Roosevelt's running mate, the colonel is nominated. Bass will talk to the Rough Rider about it on Monday. Roosevelt's preference as to any possible mate is believed to be between Governor Johnson of California and Governor Hadley of Missouri.

The Massachusetts Republicans are anxiously waiting for the colonel's reply to the latter of the eight progressive governors, which the colonel told them today would be given out in New York on Monday.

COUNTY DENTISTS MEET AT THEIR ANNUAL BANQUET

Dr. L. T. Corwin Is Installed President of the Alameda District Association

About half a hundred leading dentists of this section gathered at the Home Club last night at the annual banquet of the Alameda County District Dental Society, presided over by the retiring officers, Dr. E. E. Evans, president; Dr. R. P. James, vice-president; Dr. L. T. Corwin, secretary; and Dr. E. E. Vinary, treasurer.

The speakers of the evening, who were the guests of the organization, were Paul T. Carroll, one of the vice-presidents of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, and Dr. E. E. Evans, president of the Alameda County District Dental Society. Dr. E. E. Evans, president of the Alameda County District Dental Society, Dr. E. E. Evans, president of the Alameda County District Dental Society, Dr. E. E. Evans, president of the Alameda County District Dental Society.

The first toast of the evening, on the suggestion of the toastmaster, Dr. Evans, was "to the medical profession," followed by others to Dr. Evans as retiring president and to Dr. L. T. Corwin, president for the ensuing year. The banquet tables were set to form a hollow square in one of the upper rooms, and the speakers of the evening being seated at the head of the banquet board.

FELICITATIONS RECEIVED.

During the "life" program of the repeat telegrams were received from various medical societies, societies of the state congratulating the Alameda county body upon the excellent work done by it during the last year and felicitating the retiring and incoming presidents. Some of the dispatches received were from R. J. Bauer, president of the Santa Clara Valley District Dental Society; R. B. Clifton, president of the Sacramento District Dental Society; T. E. Hansen, president of the San Francisco District Dental Society; and R. D. Robinson, president of the Southern California District Dental Society.

The first speaker of the evening, was Paul T. Carroll, who took for his theme, "The Get Together Idea." He gave many instances of successful undertakings in Alameda county which had been made a success purely through the "get-together spirit" shown by those interested. "It is the great factor," said the speaker, "in every part of the country where population is growing and cities are being made toward general economic growth and expansion."

WISER LEGISLATION NEEDED.

In his address on "Dental Legislation," State Senator Stetson laid stress on the need for careful legislation in the future for the protection of the better classes of dentists and the unsound public. In the course of his remarks he also declared the lower courts of California, especially those provided over by justices of the peace, badly in need of rehabilitation.

The speaker was in part, "The State of California governing the practice of dentistry are excellent. With the increase of population in the last twenty-five years legislation in this respect has improved, the laws aiming to set a higher standard for the profession and to keep out the unscrupulous element. I think that the board

MORE GOIN' FOR LOCAL HARBOR

Congressman Knowland Sends Word of Recommendation of $100,000

Board of Engineers in Favor of Vast Improvement of Oakland Waterway

The importance of the improvement of Oakland harbor, as viewed by government engineers, is evidenced by a telegram received by Secretary A. A. Denison of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce from Congressman Joseph R. Knowland, in which it is stated that the chief of engineers has recommended that an additional $100,000 be appropriated for future improvement of the waterway.

The telegram from Congressman Knowland is as follows: "The committee on rivers and harbors has decided to allow a resurvey of the entire Oakland harbor project to meet future conditions. This survey will be made this year, in time for action by Congress at the December session. In the estimates submitted to the committee by the department, nothing was asked for Oakland harbor, in view of the balance expended of nearly $250,000. Under the rules of the committee, this prevented the appropriation, unless the chief of engineers came before the committee and made a statement as to whether additional money was necessary. In my suggestion the committee sent for the chief engineer, who stated that $100,000 could be used if appropriated; this amount being the sum which the local engineers recommended. In the annual report of the chief engineer for 1911, could be profitably expended in the fiscal year ending June, 1912."

MAY BE $200,000. In his message Congressman Knowland gives it as his opinion that if an additional $100,000 could be used to advantage by the local engineers that an appropriation could be obtained for the latter amount, also. This would make $200,000 of new appropriation, exclusive of the balance expended.

In the context of the message sent by Congressman Knowland, it is evident that the importance of the Oakland harbor and the demands of commerce at this port, have been impressed upon the members of the committee on rivers and harbors, and that the board of engineers, as evidenced by the action of the chief engineer, is supporting the project of the improvement of this waterway.

Canary Birds Used In Work of Rescue

Songsters by Succumbing to Poisonous Gases Give Warning to Men

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Canary birds as rescue workers in mine disasters is a new feature of the life-saving department of the bureau of mines. The pretty songsters are used in this connection because they succumb to poisonous gases six or seven minutes before men do.

The bureau of mine claim that if mine rescuers carry canaries with them in cages they will determine the safety zone quicker. During the margin of six or seven minutes after the birds become affected the men can be moved from the bad air into a safer atmosphere.

Inasmuch as the bureau of mines is conducted by humane men and canaries are expensive, too, the feathered friends of miners are not permitted to die because they are exposed to four gases. The birds are carried into a shaft in an ordinary bird cage, but there is also carried a little oxygen receptacle into which an overcoat bird can be put and kept until restored.

Miner Accuses Barber, but Later Finds Purse

Missing Coin Was Left Home While Defendant Is Arrested and Bailed Out

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—John Murphy of 2871 Post street, an Alaskan miner, caused the arrest of a man for the alleged theft of $25 tonight, and later discovering his mistake, hurried to the city prison to find that the other had been released on bail. Murphy entered a barber shop on Twenty-third street and mislaid the money when leaving. He accused Ernest Friable, the barber, who had shaved him, of taking it, and despite the latter's protest of innocence and the fact that he had borne a good reputation during three years as a miner, Murphy was charged with grand larceny and released on $50 bail. When Murphy got home he found the purse containing the missing money on the dresser.

DOG-CART SCARES HORSE AND BOY IS CRUSHED

CHICO, Feb. 24.—Startled by the rattle of a little dog-cart in which sat nine-year-old Arlo Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Perry, who reside on Lone Pine avenue, a horse driven by Miss Ruth Batham lunged forward and crashed both horse and driver upon the youngster. One of the horse's hoofs struck the boy's legs, inflicting a dangerous fracture of the skull, that necessitated the removal of a piece of bone one and one-half by three-quarters inches. Miss Batham was returning from school in a dog-cart and was driving a Newfoundland dog to his car and came so close to Miss Batham's horse in trying to pass her from behind that the wheels of the two vehicles almost touched.

34,000 U. S. TROOPS HELD IN READINESS

among the refugees Arizpe is garrisoned by a strong force of rebels. Nevertheless merchants and others are abandoning the place. The frontier is in a state of anarchy on Agua Prieta, Rodriguez must first beat the Arizpe garrison. It is likely therefore that the first battle of the new revolution will occur there.

REINFORCEMENTS SENT OUT.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Under instructions to prevent firing across the border, even if they are obliged to invade Mexican territory, the Twenty-second Regiment of Infantry and Batteries A and B of the Third Field Artillery were hurried from San Antonio to reinforce the American garrison at El Paso today.

With reinforcements the United States forces now at El Paso number 5800 troops under command of General Duran.

Aroused by the complaints of the citizens' committee from El Paso that a reign of terror exists all along the Rio Grande and that the lives of American citizens are in danger, President Taft, Acting Secretary of State Huntington Wilson and Secretary of War Stimson held a long conference this afternoon. Following this conference orders were issued for the movements of troops. It was also decided by the President that the entire mobile army numbering 34,000 men shall be held in readiness to move upon the border at a moment's notice. Telegrams instructing commanders at various points in Mexico that they should have supplies packed and transportation facilities at hand were sent this afternoon.

PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

A complete plan of campaign that will be rigidly followed should it become necessary for American troops to cross the border is now in the possession of the military war college in this city.

After his conference with President Taft, Acting Secretary Wilson called all chiefs of state department divisions together and remained closeted with them throughout the afternoon.

Information received at the state department today indicates that the revolutionary movement is now gathering momentum in Mexico that they are in a position to take the offensive and that the whereabouts of General Orozco, who, it was stated yesterday, was moving upon Juarez. So terror-stricken are Americans and other foreigners in Mexico that they are hurrying to El Paso by the hundreds. All the hotels and many private houses are overcrowded by such guests.

State department officials were in considerable doubt as to General Orozco's status. They were waiting for a rumor that he has deserted Madero for the revolutionary cause, official dispatches relating entirely to revolutionary movements in the east and west across the country from Tampico to Tampico on the Gulf of Mexico.

The only exception is a short message from Juarez indicating that the situation there remains unchanged, that discontent seems to be on the increase, that many persons are departing into the United States, and that the railroad does not attempt to run trains. Depicting the general situation all the revolutionary bands which have been in evidence in the past have gone into Chihuahua. From San Luis Potosi report was received that everything is quiet there. Batillo, in Coahuila, also is reported quiet, but two towns south of there have been occupied by the rebels and telegraph wires have been cut out. Orozco and Trevina are absolutely false.

ASKS MADERO TO RESIGN.

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 24.—Emilio Vasquez Gomez has wired President Madero of Mexico from here, asking him to resign the presidency of the country and prevent further bloodshed and growth of the revolutionary movement. Gomez has been advanced as a presidential possibility by the Vasquezistas revolutionists in Mexico. The telegram sent to President Madero yesterday reads:

"When you became President only part of the state of Morelos was in rebellion. Today, on account of the action of the government, this has spread to the entire country and will continue to extend.

In the conscience of citizens, foreigners and ourselves and for reasons we will not discuss, this condition makes the return of peace impossible. The result, if you continue relating the numerous revolutionary movements by military force, will not be in pursuit of a peace already impossible, and your resistance will oblige all Mexicans to continue killing each other without other result for you than to assume the grave responsibility of causing the shedding of more Mexican blood, to prolong and make more intense the state of disorder and each day to make more distant the return of peace which all desire so urgently. In this respect your responsibility to the country, the world and the history is immense.

INVITED TO STEP DOWN.

"To obviate such grave evils and the perils which such things can only engender, I believe it is the duty of all Mexicans to continue killing each other without other result for you than to assume the grave responsibility of causing the shedding of more Mexican blood, to prolong and make more intense the state of disorder and each day to make more distant the return of peace which all desire so urgently. In this respect your responsibility to the country, the world and the history is immense.

"Will your patriotism give the country this great blessing? Upon you it exclusively depends."

REPORT DENIED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—In a message to I. W. Loziza, vice-president of I. W. Loziza and Company, San Francisco shipping and commission merchant, President Madero today voiced official denial of the truth of the published reports of disaffection of Generals Orozco and Trevina.

Immediately upon the publication of the report, Loziza wired President Madero with whom he is personally friendly, for a true statement of the conditions making the name of Orozco a threat to the republic. A telegram of reply reads:

Orozco and Trevina are absolutely false.

"FRANCISCO I. MADERO." "It is to be regretted," said Loziza, "that such misleading reports are permitted to be sent out of Mexico. The circulation of the reports throughout the United States has an injurious effect upon the trade between this country and Mexico, and tends to destroy the commercial confidence that would continue to exist if only the truth of the political situation in Mexico were allowed to be known."

MADERO REPLIES TO GOMEZ.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 24.—A special cabinet meeting at 7 o'clock tonight considered a telegram from Vasquez Gomez demanding the resignation of Madero. Afterward Madero sent a reply to Gomez as follows:

"Replying to your telegram I must say if I occupy this post it is because a majority of votes were cast for me by free voters. You were my opponent in the last election, receiving such an insignificant number of votes that you should have learned the Mexicans do not desire you and disapprove of your conduct. While Minister of the Interior, you abused my confidence and misused the national funds to further your ends and pay your hirelings.

"The situation has not reached the gravity you desire and does not merit the co-operation of Mexicans. I will not resign the post to which Mexicans have elevated me and have no fear of the situation that you have created. My duty is to save the republic from all menaces, perils and I shall do it. Revolution cannot triumph unless backed by public opinion, especially when the leader remains hidden like a coward under the protection of a foreign flag—Francisco I. Madero."

CONFIDENCE IN OROZCO.

Madero repeats his confidence in Orozco, but the news of the latter's revolt has caused uneasiness in the city. Hundreds of telegrams from Spaniards, Germans, English and Americans today beg protection of these legations. These have been turned over to Madero, who persists in declaring that the country is quiet and that foreigners are safe.

Telegraph wires to the border are all down and the company, which belongs to the government, refuses to receive messages for any part of the republic to the north.

SEVEN WOMEN KILLED.

Seven women were killed in an attack on the Belina train and thirty-nine rebels and several rurales were killed in a battle near Treinta.

Four thousand rebels will return to attack San Pedro after losing ninety men in defeat there last Sunday. Zapata has gathered his entire force of 6000 mounted men and they now surround Cuernavaca.

Three thousand rebels are approaching Torreon from the south. They are moving slowly, awaiting reinforcements from Gomez Palace. The bands announce they are awaiting the signal from Gomez to make an attack.

MAKE PREPARATIONS TO DIP MANY SHEEP.

RED BLUFF, Feb. 24.—The preliminary work of dipping sheep for the prevention of "scabies" is beginning in this district under the direction of Dr. I. B. Paxton, representing the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Federal Government.

For the past five years the government has vigorously prosecuted the campaign against "scabies" and wonderfully decreased the number of cases. In the season just passed 82,000 sheep were dipped under the direction of Dr. Paxton, and of that number only 4000 were found to be suffering from the disease. In former years the number of diseased sheep has run up to 50,000 and 60,000.

W. H. Cox, assistant sheep inspector, expects to start the work in a few weeks, as soon as the rainy season has passed.

WOMAN TO INVAD BOLIVIAN WILDS

Mrs. R. D. Adams, Wife of "The Wolf" of Klondike, to Have Adventure.

PASADENA, Feb. 24.—Mrs. Robert D. Adams, who, until two days ago, was Miss Gertrude Wall of Pasadena, will have the distinction of being the first white woman to penetrate the wilds of Bolivia to the gold fields that have just been discovered there. In company with her husband, known in the Klondike as "The Wolf," she sailed from San Francisco on the steamship Bolivia, bound for South America. With them went 10 or 12 other men, who, with Adams, were among the first men to visit the Klondike in the famous rush to the Alaskan gold fields.

Mrs. Adams was raised in wealth and luxury in Pasadena. She is looking forward with zest to her coming adventures in Bolivia. The party will continue by steamer as far as Mollendo and will then go to La Plaza via muleback or stage. From this point the journey will be continued by mule for a distance of about 300 miles to the place where the new strike has been made.

GIRL LOCKED UP BY TRIO OF MEN

Vacaville Miss Found Drifting Along Barbary Coast, Relating Weird Story.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Dolores Durant, who claims to be 18 years of age, and whose family resides at Vacaville, was arrested on the Barbary coast tonight after she had admitted to an officer that she had been kept in a room for three days and had had nothing to eat. The girl told conflicting stories about coming here from the country two weeks ago and being held captive in a room in the tenderloin by three men. Lieutenant Wright ordered her given a good dinner and she was taken to the Central Emergency hospital. Later she was removed to the Detention Home.

Policeman Bigelow gave chase to a man who had been in her company but could not capture him. The girl looked scarcely more than 11 and dresses even younger, with her hair down her back, and her skirts to her knees. The detective department is investigating.

8000 to Join 8000 Weavers on Strike

PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 24.—The Paterson board silk association, representing more than 150 manufacturers, this evening voted down the demands of their weavers for a uniform wage scale. This action will necessitate the closing down of the mills on Monday and force out of employment over 8000 other-vile operatives who are dependent for work upon the products of 8000 weavers now on strike.

Iowa Republicans Go On Record for Taft

DES MOINES, Feb. 24.—President Taft scored a big victory today in Madison county when the Republican county convention by a vote of 80 to 17 endorsed the national administration and instructed delegates to the district and state conventions to work for the re-nomination of President Taft.

Madison is the first county in Senator Cummins' Congressional district to hold a convention and the result today has greatly depressed the Cummins forces.

WILL ERECT BANK

Colombia Urges
Knox to Visit
That Country

SENOR PEDRO NAL OSPINA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Following the recalling of Senor Pedro Nal Ospina, Colombian minister, to the United States, repudiating the action of his ministry, Colombia has sent through American Minister Dubois at Bogota a cordial invitation to Secretary Knox to visit Colombia shores on his present trip to the various republics of the Caribbean sea.

With all possible haste the invitation was forwarded promptly to Secretary Knox, who was aboard the cruiser Washington on his way south. It is thought here that he will accept the invitation; but it rests entirely with Knox whether the port of Cartagena will be included among the other places visited.

The message from Colombia confirms the opinion that the country is desirous of accepting the same advantages as the other countries. Acting Secretary of State Huntington Wilson did not disguise his appreciation of Colombia's decision to welcome his chief. He said:

"The messages that have been received from various countries of the Caribbean region are characterized by a uniform warmth of tone of appreciation welcome. All see in the proposed visit an evidence of friendship and the opportunity for better acquaintance and the establishment of more intimate relations with the United States."

HIBERNIANS WILL HOLD GRAND BALL

Dance to Take Place March 15
Shellmound the 17th.

A committee composed of members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, ofameda county, is busily engaged in the perfecting of arrangements for the annual ball to be given at Marie hall, 15th and Webster streets, Friday evening, March 15. The members and friends of the order are showing considerable interest in the affair, and are anxious in declaring this year's celebration must surpass anything ever before undertaken. Owing to St. Patrick's day falling Sunday, the annual ball will be held Friday evening, March 15, literary and musical exercises on a most elaborate scale will be held at Shellmound park, the afternoon of March 17. Never before in the history of this popular resort, which has been the scene of many notable events, have the lovers of Irish music and song witnessed such an array of talent as the Hibernians will present to their friends on this occasion.

DECIDED INNOVATION.
This is a decided innovation, as no affair of this nature has heretofore been undertaken by the Oakland Hibernians. A program of excellent merit is being arranged by the committee. Each number will sparkle with Irish humor and tender memories.

The orator of the day, yet to be selected, will speak on a subject suitable to the occasion. Relay races, jigs and reel dancing, recitations, vocal and instrumental selections, will form a part of the afternoon's entertainment.

A program of high class order will be given at both entertainments.

BAKERSFIELD WINS BY NARROW MARGIN
Carries Off Honors at Track Meet of Central State League.

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 24.—By a narrow margin Bakersfield high school this afternoon at Hanford won the annual track meet of the Central State Amateur League, the final scores being: Bakersfield, 33 points; Hanford, 31.5; Exeter, 20; Porterville, 15; Lindsay, 11.5; Visalia, 9, and Tulare, 5. The individual honors went to Captain Raney of the Hanford team, who won three events, scoring 15 points.

Bakersfield won out in the last event, the relay. The score stood Bakersfield 24, Hanford 21.5. Not until Captain Quinn of Bakersfield came under the wire a winner over Captain Raney by three yards did the high school enthusiasts know who had won out.

The meet drew excursionists from this city, Porterville, Visalia and Tulare.

MONGREL BITES
FIVE PERSONS

Vicious Canine Finally Shot by Policeman, Whom It
Also Attacks.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—A mongrel attacked and bit five persons last night and this afternoon in the Western addition. It was finally shot to death by Policeman J. H. Hightower, whom it had also attacked at Ellis and Broderick streets late this afternoon. The body of the animal was turned over to the Board of Health. An examination of the carcass will be made by city physicians.

Two of the persons bitten by the dog were children, one was a woman who was being escorted to her home by a man who was also bitten. Here are persons attacked:

Edith Barbee, 1209 Golden Gate avenue, 7 years old; bitten on the finger.
Eveline Orth, 1229 Broderick street, 2 years old; bitten on the thumb.
Miss Ellen Hiltbrock, 1444 Grove street; bitten on the nose.
Earl Motter, 2628 Sutter street, escort of Miss Hiltbrock, bitten on the leg.
John D. French, 2100 Ellis street; bitten on the leg.

Policeman Hightower was also attacked by the canine and managed finally to shoot the animal.

FERRY COMPANY

Seeks Data for Suit at Vallejo to Determine Corporation's Status.

VALLEJO, Feb. 24.—This afternoon the Solano Aquatic Club sent to the city council asking the date on which the Vallejo ferry company filed its bond with the city of Vallejo, and also the date on which the last annual report of that company was submitted to the municipality. This action follows the filing in Attorney General Webb's office of an answer of the ferry company to the request made by the aquatic club some time ago that it be allowed to bring quo warranto proceedings in the superior court to determine the legality of the franchise held by the corporation. The reply of the ferry company, to which the aquatic club now has five days to answer, covers twenty-five closely typewritten pages.

THREE HIGHWAY
SURVEYS ORDERED

State Commission Seeks Tentative
Routes for Great Roads.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 24.—Following the hearings before the state highway commission of the last two days, orders were issued yesterday from the headquarters in Sacramento for three surveys of routes. These are only tentative, for the purpose of securing data upon which later decisions as to the final routes of the state highways, under the $15,000,000 highway bond.

Two of these routes are in northern California, trending southward through the Sacramento valley, and the third is in the southern part of the state.

The first survey is to run from Tehama county, starting at Vina, running southward through Chico, Butte county, and continuing to Yuba City, Sutter county, into Marysville and across the river into Yuba county, a distance of 82 miles.

The second will begin at Oakland, trending southward through Contra Costa and Williams and extending to Woodland, Yolo county, a distance of 111 miles.

Kings City, Monterey county, will be the starting point of the third survey. This line will run through Jolon to Placerville and continue to San Miguel, San Bernardino county. The distance is not given.

These surveys in northern California, with the surveys ordered some time ago by the commission, will give lines traveling both sides of the Sacramento valley—the east side and the west side. The former survey goes down the west side from Vina, touching Arbuckle, and another from Berkeley through Sheridan to Marysville.

The third survey ordered is in Highway District No. 1, and extends from the Park hospital where Dr. Michaelson found that he sustained a badly lacerated scalp and a possible fracture of the skull. He was transferred to the Central emergency hospital and is being held for observation.

AGED MAN BADLY HURT
IN FALL FROM CAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Meyer Lieberman, a retired merchant, 55 years old, residing at 1612 1/2 Scott street, was seriously and perhaps fatally injured in a fall from a street car at 9 o'clock tonight. Lieberman was alighting at the transfer point at Clement street and Sixth avenue when the car was started forward and he was pitched on his head. An ambulance was summoned and conveyed him to the Park hospital.

where Dr. Michaelson found that he sustained a badly lacerated scalp and a possible fracture of the skull. He was transferred to the Central emergency hospital and is being held for observation.

PRIVATE HOME SANITARIUM

1095 7th, Cor. Chestnut

This sanitarium consists of a twenty-four-room building, expressly constructed for sanitarium. The rooms are well ventilated, lighted and heated. Hot and cold water in every room, electric call bell at every bed, and complete bath of every description, electricity in every detail.

Our specialty is to cure all cases of rheumatism, sciatica and hip diseases, which we treat only at the sanitarium. We invite especially the most severe cases and will give a written guarantee before the patient that if after the first week he is not satisfied with our treatment we will return his money. The patient is to be examined by the doctor before being admitted for treatment. Consultation at the sanitarium from 4 to 6 a. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. A. Gagliardi, M. D., medical superintendent.

NEW TRANSPORT DOCKS
WEATHER HEAVY GALE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—This is the first strong northerly gale which the new transport docks at Fort Mason have undergone. As the docks are without a breakwater there was a question as to what the result of a stiff norther would do to the three big transports, the Thomas, Crooks and Buford, now in berth there.

While the wind struck the transport docks full force, there was no damage to the transports.

Small craft along the upper bay kept within shelter during night and no boats left fishermen's wharf during the early morning hours.

The steamer Queen reached here early this morning from Los Angeles ten hours late. She had a big passenger list and nearly everybody aboard was seasick.

SCHUMANN-HEINK
STORMS SAN JOSE

Famous Diva Gets Ovation
When She Sings for 8000
Children.

SAN JOSE, Feb. 24.—Inspired by her love for children and her desire to show her appreciation of personal friends in San Jose, Mme. Schumann-Heink, the world's greatest contralto, discarded more pressing engagements and broke her itinerary to come to this city and give a free concert to the school children today.

Whisked down the peninsula by automobile from the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco, Mme. Schumann-Heink arrived here shortly after 9 o'clock this morning and was met at the St. James hotel by a committee representing the Chamber of Commerce and other commerce organizations.

In the meantime the Auditorium rink, one of the largest halls in California, with a seating capacity of 8,000, was filled with the children of the city, and the children of the public, private and parochial schools of the city, with their teachers. Not a foot of standing room was vacant at 11 o'clock when Mme. Schumann-Heink, escorted by the citizens committee, arrived at the Auditorium.

As the noted diva walked upon the stage, which was crowded with thousands of flowers and dozens of potted plants, the 8000 children in the big hall rose en masse and saluted the singer. While Mme. Schumann-Heink was bowing her acknowledgments the children sang "The Star-Spangled Banner." The diva stepped to the front of the stage and led the children in the anthem.

Following the concert in the Auditorium the diva paid a visit to the convent of Notre Dame, one of the most important schools of music on the coast, where she sang to the thousand girl students and the six nuns.

Did She Wear TIGHTS OR WAS IT JUST PLAIN NATURE?

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Again comes up the old question, Are we a people with the true carnival spirit?

Our Mardi Gras ball was brilliant to look at—and stupid—just stupid. I haven't yet heard anyone say that he or she had a truly good time; just as I have not heard anyone declare it was not a truly beautiful scene.

What was the matter? The grouchers will say again that we haven't developed the true spirit of carnival. But that doesn't go any more. Portola week showed up the fact that there is quite as much carnival spirit here as there is in any city on earth. The masquerade in Portola week was a grand success, with joy unconfined and everybody admitting a good time. So the trouble wasn't with the city. It must have been with the ball itself.

It Needed a Leader

"The trouble was nobody dared to start something," was the comment of a club man. "If a crowd from the Family or the Bohemian had been there to jump in and begin a prank they could have gone as far as they liked."

The fact is, people felt that it was too much of a "society" function. Our "society" is too new to have a real frolic. It isn't sure of itself. It is afraid to jump out and do something in the way of a carnival turn for fear people will talk. So there was a good deal of standing around in brilliant costumes and doing nothing worth while.

The success of the Portola masquerade was largely due to the fact that it was admittedly a "mixed crowd"—there wasn't any "society" leadership in it. So everybody was natural, and in San Francisco to be natural is to be joyous.

Detectives Who Didn't Detect

On this our Fat Tuesday occasion the word was sent out formally and officially that none of the women of the night—no "priestess of humanity blasted for the sins of the people"—was to be permitted to enter the sacred place. Then, lest this formal order should not be obeyed, four detectives in plain clothes were detailed to see that "the girls" didn't get a look-in.

"Here, I thought you fellows were detailed to keep those women out," said Christopher, manager of the Palace Hotel, when the affair was well under way.

"There isn't one here," insisted the head detective.

"There are four here—get busy!" insisted "Chris," and he pointed out the intruders.

Sure enough, "Chris" was right, and the four daring devotees of the rouge pot were hustled out, much to their discomfort, but supposedly for the purification of the moral atmosphere.

Was She Really in Tights?

There has been some criticism of the giggardiness of our rich, who insisted on wearing at the Mardi Gras ball the same costumes they wore at a recent Oriental function. But out of both occasions one young matron has come with a fine question mark affixed to her costume.

She appeared in a harem-skirt effect, slashed up the side and showing glimpses of the "sacred female leg" something above the knee. And now up and down the tea tables runs the question: "Did she wear tights?"

There are many maids and matrons who stoutly insist that there was never a gleam of tights, but that what glimpsed here and there on the view was nothing short of good old nature herself. Others just as stoutly declare they are sure of the silken fleshings. But, one way and another, the daring and dashing matron has stirred up a lot of talk.

A Loss to the Stage

The best dancing on the floor—hard to dance on because it was just canvas over stone—was done by your own "Bud" Havens and his beautiful partner, Miss Woodbridge. "Bud" really outshone our own Bill Lange in the ragging, which was the general dance method, but perhaps that was largely due to the lady in the case.

That lady is destined for the operatic stage, and is sure to make a great success. Her voice is now being cultivated by Mackenzie Gordon and he pronounces her a genius as well as a beauty.

But what a wonder on the stage Mrs. Fred Kohl would have been! As the Empress Josephine her beauty was resplendent and she has the best voice in San Francisco society—perhaps the best voice in San Francisco. She rarely sings in public, but when she does it is something to be remembered.

Fine Chance for a Discussion

It seems to me that a peach of a controversy is going begging in the matter of that masque written by Miss Rearden at the University of California. I take it the masque was some pumpkins, but was or was it not all that Porter Garnett said of it?

Now, Porter Garnett is author of the work on the Bohemian Jinks. He wrote last summer's grove play for the Bohemians. He is second in command in the Bancroft Library at the university. So he ought to know about plays, and masques and art. And he says

"This masque is the first real art that has come out of the University of California!"

That is quite a bit of praise in itself, and I should say that it ought to bring out a lot of discussion at the university. But right on top of this Garnett declares:

"It is better than anything the Bohemians have yet done!"

Wow! That ought to bring a few words from George Sterling, Professor Henry Morse Stephens, Joseph D. Redding, Will Irwin, Herman Scheffauer and the others who have written the midsummer jinks plays—the plays of whose development Garnett has written in his book.

A Definition by Dick Hotaling

At the Bohemian Club they were discussing the recent jinks in which Clay M. Greene had taken rather a hard fling at the "Bohemians" who had been suspended for financial delinquencies. The talk frothed a good deal and criticism mingled with commendations and apologies. Then they got down to definitions of the word "Bohemian."

By and by Dick Hotaling, actor, millionaire, wit, came drifting along and one said:

"Dick, what is your definition of a Bohemian?"

"Oh, a Bohemian is a gentleman with a touch of the bum."

Strange Sounds From the Adler

"Larry" Harris, wittiest of San Franciscans, has had typhoid fever and it took all the ingenuity and care of Dr. Alanson Weeks to pull him through. But now he is convalescent; will go home tomorrow, and should soon be on hand to dominate the "Rows" at the Family.

Out at the Adler sanitarium where Harris has been ill he has had the nurses in constant guffaws, and since his convalescence began he has been having fun at the expense of people coming to the hospital as visitors. His room opens on the main walk. Suddenly a visitor would be halted with:

"Get the police! Quick, the police! I'm being confined against my will. Oh, stranger, help a poor man in sore distress."

The visitor would be about to make serious inquiries when he'd hear:

"Bugs! Bugs! Bugs! I'm all bugs! Bugs from head to heels! There it comes again, the awful monster! He's coming for me—the monster, right down there on the walk!"

All of which solemn fooling has helped Harris to laugh and get well; but his prayer that when his hair came in again he'd be a blonde hasn't been answered.

Will He Come Back and Pay?

I hear there has been a big gambling game in this city again and that one of our peninsular millionaires has been sadly mulcted—mulcted in a game where he hadn't a chance to win.

As the story is going the rounds the millionaire was steered up against the game by his valet. The players were men known in the sporting game. The cards ran badly for the millionaire and he is said to have dropped $38,000.

Another part of the tale is that the valet was to have $4000 of this money for his share of the swag.

But the millionaire has gone off to Arizona. I don't know whether he paid up before he went away or whether he will return and pay. He has been accused of welching in the past.

Are Men More Modest Than Women?

We have here in San Francisco a Civic Center League, or Civic Censure, it might be called, and in this league are men and women. On Friday the league was addressed by Clayton Herrington of the Department of Justice and his subject was, "White Slavery."

Now that's a pretty delicate subject for a mixed audience, and I noticed that many of the men fidgeted a bit as the lecturer went on. He began to talk of the experiences of two girls in Chicago who had been led into naughtiness, and he said:

"I have here some statistics gathered from the confessions of these two girls, but I don't think I should read them."

"Go on! Go on!" said the women, and the men fidgeted more and more.

Well, it would have been far better if he hadn't read those revelations—but it was the men who blushed.

Did Teddy, Jr., Make Good?

Oakland, Cal., Feb. 23, 1912.
EDITOR TRIBUNE: In your paragraph, "Teddy, Jr., Makes Good," under the caption of The Knave in THE TRIBUNE of January 28th, ult., you tell us of Teddy, Jr.'s phenomenal success as a carpet man, but it has since developed that he really ran away from a salary of $600 per month in San Francisco and joined the forces of the unemployed in New York.

This fact, together with all that was said on his arrival in San Francisco, and all that was not said at his departure, would suggest that his letter of recommendation might be fittingly abbreviated with the capitals—D. N. M. G.

If this Knave item was not intended as a joke or out of deference to T. R., Sr., it would be very interesting to many of your readers as well as myself to know if Teddy, Jr. is one and the same Roosevelt that with a party of companions some five years ago had an altercation with a police officer on the Boston common, at which time one of the companions was arrested, but for some unexplained reason was promptly acquitted or released, while the officer was permitted to retain his position until three years later when, owing to his physical condition dating from the altercation referred to, was compelled to resign and more recently to undergo hospital treatment from the same cause.

Fire Commissioner Brandenstein

Mayor Rolph has his troubles these days finding men for places, and places for men. There are people who could help the administration if they could be annexed to its official organization. There are places that ought to be filled by big men, but the salaries are small.

The Mayor has been considerably worried over his first appointments. There is M. J. Brandenstein for Fire Commissioner. Now, since pioneer days, the Fire Department has been known, not more for its husky courage than for its good-fellowship—its sympathetic relations with one another and its close touch with the community. No body of men has greater hold on the affections of the people.

The appointment of Brandenstein, a native son, and member of one of the most prominent families, was considered ideal.

But, from the date of his certificate, Brandenstein took his duties very seriously. He is a Harvard man and has an exalted idea of official dignity. The little troubles of the fireman, he at once gave out, would be beneath his consideration. The method by which the humble fireman would reach the commissioner was an elaborate routine. His reception of the few who followed the program, as far as to reach his presence, was pompous, and already quite an unkindly feeling has permeated the whole system.

A man guilty of a fault feels like the misdeedman who approaches the judge on the bench. The Mayor's friends are alarmed at the unpleasant situation.

Brandenstein, by the way, was one of the selections of the Municipal Conference. The "push," has sarcastically dubbed the Municipal Conference (the aristocratic element in municipal affairs) on account of its greed for office, "The Hog with the Plug Hat."

Fraser of the Board of Public Works

Another man who is slow to make good is Fraser of the Board of Public Works. Most of his active years were spent in an important position at the Union Iron Works, and to all appearances, he was the best man for the job.

The Board of Public Works is the absurdity of the San Francisco Charter. It demands a $25,000 man, according to the duties, and has a salary of $4000.

Fraser had been so long in a routine position that he was frozen stiff and unable to assume the initiative. And initiative, of all things, is necessary to San Francisco's progress.

The Mayor is trying to thaw Fraser out, so that he will be alive to moving objects.

A sort of illustration between the "Quick" and the "Dead": Fraser is honest and intelligent, and when he can shake the moss off his back will undoubtedly be a useful public servant.

Williams and Ralston

The efforts of the State "Jobocracy" to defeat William Ralston for sub-treasurer of the United States at San Francisco have been extreme. The bitterness engendered in this fight is unusual.

For instance, the bankers, generally, endorsed Ralston, as the relation between the banks and the sub-treasury is intimate, and the administration of Ralston has instituted business regulations that have been very convenient and satisfactory. Bank Commissioner Williams called upon the manager of a leading bank, whose signature appeared to the endorsement papers, and urgently solicited him to withdraw his name.

The significance of this is visible to the naked eye. Williams, as Superintendent of Banks, is an autocrat under the law. He can harass a financial institution without limit. A political request from him, no matter how politely disguised, is unmistakably a threat.

When Ruel and Schmitz were in charge of San Francisco, these proceedings were common. In fact, the French restaurant scandal was only different to the extent that money passed. The intimation conveyed to the French restaurants was that, as authority and power requested, obedience must follow suggestion, or deprivation of right to do business might ensue.

When the law vests supreme authority in an official, and when that official is a politician, and requests those subject to his jurisdiction to conform to his political wishes, no matter how skillfully he may endeavor to conceal the bludgeon, it cannot be disguised.

Verily, the voice of the Jobocracy—otherwise the extreme reformer—is heard in the land.

State Jobocracy and City Administration

The new administration is having some difficulty in preventing the unloading of political junk upon its shoulders.

McCabe and Company, in Sacramento, in charge of the State Jobocracy, has a large stock of political refuse which cannot be absorbed by the State machine.

A number of the State administration's friends in San Francisco are close friends of the new mayor. These have been drilled in the plan of operations, and, individually and collectively, they are importuning Rolph for the various subordinate appointments in the municipality.

Rolph is familiar with measures, but, not having experience in politics, is less acquainted with men, and the effort to impose upon him is based upon this view of the situation.

Some of the people presented are broken-down political hacks, who have been shot to pieces by public opinion in various encounters during the last twenty years—men whom the State administration, under no circumstances, notwithstanding its thick hide, could accept; therefore, its efforts to dispose of them on the Rolph administration.

The success of the efforts of McCabe and Company would tend to destroy the efficiency of the city administration.

Mayor Rolph will yet learn that you cannot move the city with people who cannot work and will not work.

He has shown a keen and inquisitive mind since he has taken office, and it is probable that the first politician who imposes upon him will be the last to do so, as he learns quickly, and has no desire to have his administration made the tail to be wagged by the State administration dog.

Panama-Pacific Affairs

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition people are finding new difficulties with the approach of the time for letting concessions.

Endless schemes have been concocted, East and West, for obtaining monopolies without competition. There is no day when some brand new plan is not presented, whereby an alluring show of receipts is put up in front with a long tail of grafting incidents behind. Several of these have been so eloquently presented that the directors have almost been entrapped.

The officers of the exposition realize that one scandal at this time would be vastly injurious to the big enterprise. The danger is daily increasing. Action will soon be necessary, and the opportunities for imposition multiplied.

By the way, as to the physical progress of the work. The plans and specifications for the filling in of the Vanderbilt lot and the leveling of the Harbor View property generally, have all been completed. Bids will be advertised within a few days, and the actual work of construction commenced within thirty days. There should be no interruption after that. It is recognized by all that the "rush act" will have to be the motto of the exposition, if it is to make good within the time prescribed.

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition five-million-dollar municipal bonds will soon be offered by the Supervisors at 5 per cent. This is sure to bring a premium, and over this premium there is considerable disagreeable dispute.

The directors of the exposition claim that the bonds, and all that they bring, premium or otherwise, belong to the exposition. The general trend of legal opinion is that they are right. But, Mr. D. C. Murphy, Mr. Phelan's personal attorney, who is a member of the board, has a scheme to appropriate the premium for other purposes.

Secretly, Mr. Phelan and his people are not overly friendly to the exposition. When the movement was organized his personal combination was not given front seats, and Murphy would like to take it out of the hide of the exposition and the skins of the various directors if public opinion would make this course consonant with safety.

But with all criticism of details that has occurred from time to time, San Francisco, as a whole, is wrapped up in the exposition. It is the big thing of the day, and the little fellow who tries to block the steam roller is not likely to make even a greasespot on the municipal carpet.

Bank Commissioner Williams and Bank Securities

The extraordinary attitude of Bank Commissioner Williams towards California securities was the almost sole topic of discussion by the San Francisco Clearing House at its recent annual meeting.

The language used by some of the prominent bankers was not fit to print. The cry that has gone up from the country-banks, which are still under State jurisdiction, has reached the corresponding banks in San Francisco and created great disturbance of the financial situation.

The edict of the Bank Commissioner that bonds and other securities of the Associated Oil and the Union Oil Companies—the principal California oil concerns—shall not be accepted as collateral in California State Banks is regarded as the most serious assault on this great industry that has ever been made. The injury extends beyond the State. The fact that California funds are not to be loaned on one of the State's chief industries is accepted in the eastern and foreign financial centers as meaning that the State is without confidence in this industry; that something is wrong; that if the California oil industry is repudiated by California, it must be about to vanish.

The stoppage of investments from abroad will prove of incalculable injury to the oil business. This, however, is only one of many large and profitable interests against which the Bank Commissioner is making a crusade.

There seems no limit to the damage that may thus be perpetrated. To relieve the seriousness, however, of the situation Williams has issued another order that for its wealth of humor, is unexampled in financial history. It seems so incredible that at first it was not believed.

Williams ordered National Bank notes and Treasury Bank notes taken from the money reserve of State Banks because, as he said, these were not money.

Considering that they are issued by authority of the United States government and that the treasury at Washington holds United States government bonds in excess of their issue as a protection of the public, this attack on the credit of the United States is the first of its kind in financial history.

The probability is that a movement will be started throughout the State in defense of home industry and for the protection of legitimate business in the State of California.

Strange Power of Prof. Del Martin

Brings Hundreds to His Office Where Desire to Gain Perfect Health, or Knowledge of the Future, is Thoroughly Gratified

PROF. DEL MARTIN.
Over Twelve Years in Oakland.

Marvelous revelations. Your future can be told. Prof. Del Martin, known as America's greatest advisor, clairvoyant, psychic and drugless healer, is permanently located in his own home at 312 Twelfth street.

Two decades devoted to the unveiling of human mysteries, to the softening of human sorrow, to helping the troubled and unfortunate.

Twenty-five years of successful clairvoyance.

Your life to him is an open book.

NO MONEY IN ADVANCE

for his readings and note at all unless entire satisfaction is given.

If you contemplate consulting a clairvoyant, several things should be taken under consideration. The ability, the honesty, the fairness, the higher degree of work, the factors of experience and skill, the accuracy of each prediction, the common sense used, interest taken, the respect shown each caller, the fact of secrecy and the knowledge of occult laws and forces.

These things taken under consideration will place a thinking public in a position to judge for itself.

Prof. Del Martin's past record is the best endorsement of his work. His predictions, advice and private work, and not one failure, places Prof. Del Martin in a class by himself, towering head and shoulders over pretenders and rivals. He does not wish to be measured by any other standard than his own.

You are perfectly safe in consulting him, for you are certain to obtain satisfactory results, truthful predictions and reliable advice.

This year of 1912 may be the most important year of your existence. Yet without Prof. Del Martin's aid and advice you may be powerless to take the knowledge and foresight, the steps which will help you win those things which mean the most to you.

For many years, by his strange and mysterious powers, he has demonstrated to hundreds of seekers, bringing about happy results through his clairvoyance, and those same patrons are now his best friends, having had many years to test his work and see the lasting benefits.

They demonstrate their faith in him by sending their friends to him when they are in trouble, that he may be of benefit to them also.

Prof. Del Martin's days of experimenting are over and his services are a blessing to those in trouble. That he does possess this mysterious power is beyond a doubt proved by the unbounded success he has had with the most difficult cases ever presented to any clairvoyant and by the many testimonials he has received.

By this power nothing reasonable is impossible, no barrier too great to overcome, no obstacle recognized. Many things are accomplished for those suffering or unhappy.

If Prof. Del Martin will take your affairs in his hands you are assured of success, as he does not neglect or delay in bringing about satisfactory results in the shortest time possible.

If you are anxious over domestic troubles, divorces, separations, settlements, love affairs, marriages, interferences, misunderstandings, friends, enemies, deaths, changes, travels, or any affairs, consult Prof. Del Martin; his advice will place you in a position of power and influence.

Investments and business perplexities often puzzle the shrewdest business men, yet through clairvoyant vision all is made plain. Matters of wills, deeds, mortgages, insurance, lawsuits, partnerships, claims, purchases, sales or, in fact, any matter of business, will be made plain to you.

Positively no charge if I fail to TELL YOUR NAME IN FULL, your occupation, what you called for, whom and when you will marry, anything you wish to know. NO FEE IN ADVANCE AND YOU PAY NOTHING UNLESS PERFECTLY SATISFIED.

I am the only clairvoyant in Oakland endorsed by the leading Psychic Institute of London, Boston and Detroit branches of same.

If you are going to see a clairvoyant you should consider it the same as if you were going to consult a doctor or lawyer. Go to the best; it is the cheapest in the end. Satisfaction guaranteed.

NOTICE.
Prof. Del Martin's time is so thoroughly occupied in private work, gaining the desires and ambitions of his clients, that he will be able to give consultations to the public only on Sunday and Monday of each week.

Parlors arranged so that you meet no strangers and suited to the most exclusive patronage. Mailed in writing. Fee 50c and $1.00.

'Sumurun' Expresses Much Without Word or Line

LEOPOLDINE KENSTANTIN, who is the beautiful slave of fatal enchantment in the wordless play, "Sumurun."

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The oddest entertainment which has ever reached New York is the wordless play, "Sumurun," which has been brought over from Germany by Winthrop Ames, formerly manager of the New theatre.

It is said that Max Reinhardt was discussing the play with a member of one of his companies, and urged him to "express a certain thought by a characteristic gesture. The actor said that this thought was not expressed in the lines and denied that it was possible to express a thought by action alone.

The result of this discussion was "Sumurun," a play in which no words are uttered, but whose meaning is perfectly clear to every observer. In fact, this action grips the attention from the rise to the fall of the curtain. The story is one of old Persia.

Through the whole entertainment the action is strong, and presented as it is by exquisite music, making it fascinating from the beginning to the end. Camille Eibenschütz is the Sumurun of the production, and Leopoldine Kenstantin is the "Beautiful Slave of Fatal Enchantment."

JOHN F. MULLINS ENDORSED BY EUGENE STACHLER CLUB

Prominent Citizens Gather at Rousing Meeting and Praise Supervisor

The regular meeting and high links of the Eugene Stachler Social, Political and Improvement Club was held at its hall, 3121 Adeline street, Friday evening.

The meeting was called for the purpose of endorsing the candidature of John F. Mullins, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, to succeed himself as candidate for the Fifth, Sixth and Seventh districts. The club extended invitations to Mullins and Assemblyman George Fitzgerald, both of whom availed themselves of appearing before the club and addressing the members and citizens of their district.

The hall was crowded and when the chairman, Stanley Morris, introduced Mullins he was heartily cheered.

MULLINS' ADDRESS.
Mullins thanked the club for its kindness in giving him its unanimous endorsement, stating that he had served in the City Council of Oakland with the club's president, Stachler, and that Stachler knew him to be honest and fearless in the discharge of his duties while he was a member of that body. He also said that since he became a member of the Board of Supervisors his aim has been to give the people the very best service that was in him, to watch their interests and to do all in his power to bring about given matters coming before him, much consideration before casting his vote. He declared that if the citizens of his district see fit to re-elect him to office that he will work upon the same lines, using his tact, ability and honesty in the faithful discharge of his duties.

TALKS OF WATERFRONT.
Mullins also spoke about the western water front and the great goal to be derived by the citizens of the western end of the city and the city as a whole. Upon Mullins concluding his speech the club gave him three rousing cheers and promised him to do all in its power to further his nomination and election.

George Fitzgerald, assemblyman of the Fourth-ninth district, was called upon and given an ovation. He paid a very high tribute to his friend and stated the Stachler Club had made no mistake in coming out early and endorsing the candidacy of Mullins; that he knew him to be honest and fearless in the discharge of his duties.

Fitzgerald also spoke about the western water front, and presented the club with a map of the front. Fitzgerald was heartily applauded.

MULLINS IS PRAISED.
Remarks were also made by Messrs. Sullivan, Wicks, McCulloch, Kelly and others, stating that the Stachler Club was the first to endorse Mullins and by doing so had made no mistake as he was the right man in the right place and deserved the very high compliment that was extended to him by the club.

Officers of the club, Eugene Stachler, Stanley Morris, Colin Christensen, W. H. Lee, J. T. Crumney and William H. Millan, all spoke in the interest of Mullins and promised their loyal support to him.

The Stachler quartette, together with Messrs. Johnson, Sage, Jensen, Smith and Fitzgerald, rendered songs. All present enjoyed the evening and passed the many good things provided by the club. The meeting was brought to a close by all present giving three hearty cheers for John F. Mullins and George Fitzgerald.

How to Round Out Hollows

"Instead of giving a good share of your time and money for massage and body cream, try to round out the hollows and develop the bust, try the following simple but effective home treatment. Make a cream using a cup-and-a-half of sugar and enough water to make a pint; to this add one ounce of true kaffir, and take a tablespoonful before meals.

Reports from institutions where kaffir is used indicate that it is considered in its action the principle of which is to nourish underfed or starved tissue and to energize them so they will respond quickly. When this is done the body is firm and the flesh becomes firm while the complexion is bright and clear. It is a fact that kaffir is the only food that will make the body firm and energetic and keep it so for a month's treatment.

'PRINCES' TRUST' IS UNDER FIRE IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Feb. 24.—Germany's great "money trust" is under fire. The crusade has not taken the form of a government prosecution, but it may reach that stage if the bitter newspaper agitation going on be kept up.

The German "money trust" is better known as the "princes' trust," because it is controlled by the country's two great banking houses, the Princes Christian and Hohenlohe-Oehringen, a distant kinsman of the Kaiser, and the Kaiser's bosom friend, Prince Max Egon zu Furstenberg.

This combination represents a capital of more than $200,000,000 and includes the ownership or control of vast undertakings "communities of interest" on the American plan, which was its avowed purpose when it was organized five years ago.

Several of its most important enterprises are held in "trust" form. The "princes' trust" has not succeeded as brilliantly as it had hoped in financing "communities of interest" on the American plan, which was its avowed purpose when it was organized five years ago.

Two of the trust's most powerful allies, the German "coal king," Fritz von Friedlander and the Princes Christian and Hohenlohe-Oehringen, have deserted the combination on account of dissatisfaction at the alleged dictatorial management by the princes.

The present "crisis" in the trust's affairs was brought about by the frank policy of only allowing the investing public to acquire slim minorities of shares in the properties—whereupon the trust proceeds, it is declared, to tyrannize the minority shareholders and treat their interests with contempt.

A good deal of the Kaiser's personal funds are invested, it is said, in the undertakings of the "princes' trust."

HUSBAND OF WEALTHY WOMAN IS ARRESTED

BOSTON, Feb. 24.—Released from the House of Correction three weeks ago, Robert E. Bludworth, claiming to have a fashionable home in St. Louis, is under arrest here today booked by the police as being a vagrant. Bludworth is said to be the husband of a wealthy St. Louis woman. Two months ago he was arrested at a hotel, charged with beating his board bill. This time he was found sleeping on the common. The probation officers have sent word to his wife, asking her to see that he is cared for.

ANNAPOLIS CADETS FOR BATTLESHIPS

Change Is Made in the Policy; Practice Ships Unavailable This Year.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The navy department has decided to adopt as a permanent policy the plan of distributing the members of the three upper classes of the naval academy among the ships of the battle fleet during the summer months when recruitments are suspended at the academy. The plan is to be tried this year for the first time.

Heretofore boys have been sent off on summer cruises in vessels assigned to their exclusive uses, as practice ships. With no such vessels available this year, the department conceived the idea of placing the boys on the ships of the fleet, where they better be acquainted with regular sailor duties and fitted to command men when their time comes.

Such a system is in vogue in the British navy, and its inauguration by the United States is regarded as necessary, particularly in view of the probability that Congress will eliminate the present two-year post graduate course at sea.

SACRAMENTO IS TO BREAK LOW RECORD

Lack of Rainfall and Snow Will Cause Watershed to Run Dry.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 24.—That the rivers and streams of the Sacramento watershed will be unusually low during the coming summer and fall months causing shortage of water throughout the entire Sacramento valley, because of the lack of rainfall and snow, is the declaration made by Weather Forecaster N. R. Taylor of the Sacramento station of the United States weather bureau. Taylor says that the Sacramento river will be much lower than in 1910, when a low water mark was established at a little over five feet.

Although copious rainfalls and snow storms in the mountains are possible during the coming month, the precipitation will, with the present conditions, serve only to keep the flow of the streams up to normal until the last of April, says Taylor. The mountains are at present practically bare, and there is little chance of sufficient snow falling to provide water throughout the summer so as to keep the supply near normal.

Taylor predicts, as he did in 1910, that the Sacramento will be lower this year than for thirty years. He says the entire valley will be affected. The result of the prediction comes true, that an unusually dry season faces the great valley.

GYPSY PRINCESS FLEES WITH PRINCE

King Stanley Offers Reward to Person Who Prevents Marriage.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 24.—There is walling in the Royal camp of the English gypsies in the suburbs of Cleveland and prayers for the return of its princess. Not since Wednesday night has she been seen, and then she was speeding away in a taxicab with Prince George, her apparent to the throne of the Rumanian gypsies, seated by her side.

The marriage of the two, it is declared by the gypsies of both countries, will mean the consolidation of the "throne" in this country.

King Steven Stanley, father of princess Dora, who is just 16, objected to the marriage, as did his wife, Queen Nina. The king has offered $500 reward for the return of his daughter, if it can be accomplished before the pair are wed. Prince Frank is the son of Queen Belle George, of the Rumanians.

IN NEED OF PITY

Roosevelt is often very inconsistent. For instance, he said at Columbus that judges ought to render decisions in accordance with the dictates of their consciences, and then said they should go out and find what the people think about it. The conscience of the judge may conflict with the opinion of the crowd—in that case, we suppose the judge would have to smother his conscientious scruples. But there is the law in the meantime, which the judge is elected and sworn to uphold and enforce—what of that? Must that go into the discard along with the judicial conscience?

out, Great Britain owes an inheritance tax, which, had Mr. Morgan allowed his collection to remain in England for the rest of his life, would have meant the ultimate payment by his heirs to the British exchequer of a sum not far from $10,000,000 and perhaps more. It is that. While Mr. Morgan might at any case eventually have brought his art possessions to his own country and city, the contrasted attitudes of the two governments have unquestionably prompted the impending transfer to this side of the Atlantic of what may fairly be called a national asset.

To the educational museum in South Kensington the loss of the collections owned by Mr. Morgan through a man named by the artist himself as a devotee to the American public will be a costly

It is certain, however, that when these concrete evidences of the skill, the sorrow or the joy of bygone artists come into the delighted vision of millions of the chief American museumgoers their impact will be felt through the length and breadth of the country. For the scholars to whom for inspiring example, painters interpreting the life of our own day will find there a new stimulus, workers in a dozen artistic crafts will be of all others the most indebted for this added opportunity to study the essential and undying spirit in designs that have stood the test of time and met the needs of a world rooted in the past. Mr. Matthews explains his deductions principally by the fact that our American wars have arrived in cycles. From the end of a war to the beginning of the next one about 21 years is the limit of our patience, as he sees it. Thus

It certainly is an interesting coincidence that ever since the beginning of the republic there has been at least one war in a generation, but there is no relation of cause and effect in these figures, and it is a leap into the historical dark to assume that we shall have another war about 1900. ## REAL ESTATE FIRM WILL ENLARGE

It's Country Land Department
One of the Most Active
Offices in the City.

The well-known firm of Stone & Kendrick have found it necessary to enlarge its country land department to the extent of putting on two more experienced men to handle the numerous city folk who have decided to put their extra funds in farm lands as a safe and growing investment.

Mr. F. C. Mitchell, manager of this department, will devote his well-versed experience to the large acreage and colonization projects, while also taking interest in the farmer who prefers the north and central sections of California to his present California.

Mr. Adrian R. Smith, who has been active on the Pacific coast, handling country lands for the past twenty years, will assist Mr. Mitchell.

Mr. Brown will handle the advertising and general business end of this department and also spend some time in the country with the owners of large tracts suitable for subdivision.

With these men under the personal direction of Mr. Charles Kendrick, this department of the firm of Stone & Kendrick is fast becoming the center of country land activity in this city.

Mr. Kendrick states that in the last thirty days the activity in the country land department of his firm has gratified the most optimistic predictions. The lack of rain has had its effect of making the farmer think twice before deciding, he has the assurance of a good average crop for 1912, more especially where irrigation holds full swing. He further states that capital has also taken on a little spirit in closing deals for large colonization tracts that have been pending the last few months. It appears that since the press of the country has been devoting extra energy to the irrigation project, the trend that prevailed throughout the United States, it has had the desired effect and when men of money are stirring around the microphone of fear is immediately crushed.

ANOTHER DELAY MAKES THINGS WORSE

Sixty-Three Oakland Families Will Profit by Extraordinary Conditions Brought About Through Builder's Delay—Forced Sale of Three Carloads of Specially Chosen Pianos
Intended for Opening of New Store.

The new building being erected for the Oakland Piano Co. by J. H. Miller, 2125 Broadway, on San Pablo avenue, just north of the Bell Theater, was promised to be ready for us by February 25. Various setbacks and delays have prevented completion on time and now the contractors tell us that it will be fully a month before we can move in, that we cannot open there before March 25.

As we expected to be out of the temporary warehouse by this time other arrangements were made and we must vacate this storage room at once. Meanwhile three carloads of beautiful pianos, personally selected by our Mr. H. J. Eilers at the various eastern piano factories, which we represent exclusively on the coast, intended for our new store, have already arrived. These we have placed in our temporary quarters at 512 Seventh street, between Washington and Clay. But as already stated several times we must get out of here quickly and we must dispose of these instruments at once.

We simply cannot afford to move these pianos again or to store them until our new building is ready. We are going to place every one of them in homes in Oakland and surrounding towns. To do so we have placed prices on these instruments as well as those left from our former store to a point which should dispose of every one of them in double quick. In fact, we expect during the next few days to sell every one of the sixty-three pianos which have not yet been placed in homes. We had hardly counted on selling pianos for a year or two to come. But we are offering pianos of the highest grade at prices and on terms so liberal that any home provider who has the slightest idea of buying a piano should investigate this at once.

Remember, these three carloads of pianos which have just come in are not odds and ends of any old stock, nor instruments of unknown makes or of doubtful quality for sale whenever an enterprising dealer comes. On the contrary, these pianos were chosen at the various famous factories which represent and are the very cream of the productions of the nation's foremost piano-makers. They were part of the stock at our new store.

Splendid toned, beautifully constructed uprights, that would sell regularly at $400 and $425, will be placed on sale tomorrow morning at

DISTRIBUTION OF ALIENS PROVING GRAVE PROBLEM

Commissioner of Immigration Finds It Difficult to Please Newcomers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Commissioner General Keefe of the bureau of immigration is not at all optimistic regarding the plans of the organization which are struggling with the problem of placing the immigrant "where he is needed" and preventing his settling in colonies in the large cities and centers of industry to which places most immigrants of today wish to go.

In a report to Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor, he states that by section 40 of the immigration act authority was given the commission to make a general survey of the country, to determine the needs of the States, and to promote a beneficial distribution of immigrants admitted into the United States, among the several States and territories desiring immigration.

"Beneficial distribution," he states, "in the light of the origin and history of the country, is now, and has been for some time, unwaranted by the facts. It is true, it is the duty of the government to pay a living wage or to furnish steady employment to a reliable indication of actual conditions. It is also true that at certain seasons of the year, when crops are being harvested, there is a heavy demand for labor in the west; but such labor is expected to have some knowledge of farm work, is wanted only for limited periods, and is not, in any instance, to be employed by the year or even for a season. In recent years this temporary demand for an increased number of laborers has been met in various ways—in some localities by the farmers offering exceptional inducements, thereby securing a large number of laborers usually employed in other industries, such laborers going back to their regular employment after receiving their wage for a short period on the farm."

"Because the farmer needs additional help during certain periods, it is not the duty of the country to be flooded with cheap foreign labor which during the greater part of the year is forced to accept a wage that affords only bare subsistence, tending to reduce the American standard of wages and living."

In reference to the wages and living conditions of the immigrant laborers, Mr. Keefe states that the government has been endeavoring to reduce the American standard of wages and living conditions, tending to reduce the American standard of wages and living conditions, tending to reduce the American standard of wages and living conditions.

"The so-called problem of distribution, in this so far as it relates to others than settlers (i. e., those who desire to acquire land), will, it seems to me, be solved by the natural law of supply and demand, assuming of course, that the government is not interfering with the otherwise artificial means which have no lasting effect. Thus, if it is true that our large centers are congested with people who are unable to eke out an existence, while on the other hand there is a scarcity of labor in other sections, the government should be sufficiently insistent to produce such an offer of wages and working conditions as would induce those in the congested districts to take advantage of it, or after all, the average wage earner, if unscrupulous, has little preference between different sections, provided wages are made an inducement; just so long as the demand is met by importing cheap labor from abroad this congestion will in a way be supplied that result will be brought about only to the ultimate advantage of our country, and the kind of living and wages which we have been so proud to term the "American standard."

"The fourth point needs some further consideration. So far as transoceanic immigration is concerned, the greatest beneficiaries are the steamship lines, with respect to Mexican peon labor, the large employers and labor agencies. "Any plan for the distribution of alien laborers, if carried out, must have a tendency to increase immigration and confer additional benefits upon the beneficiaries mentioned. It is the distribution affects the alien at the time of immigration, and extends the field in which they may be placed at a wage sufficient to afford bare existence, the demand for additional numbers is increased directly."

AGAINST FLOODING.
"The theory upon which most of these plans rest is that there is a following limited demand for common labor in this country, is now, and has been for some time, unwaranted by the facts. It is true, it is the duty of the government to pay a living wage or to furnish steady employment to a reliable indication of actual conditions. It is also true that at certain seasons of the year, when crops are being harvested, there is a heavy demand for labor in the west; but such labor is expected to have some knowledge of farm work, is wanted only for limited periods, and is not, in any instance, to be employed by the year or even for a season. In recent years this temporary demand for an increased number of laborers has been met in various ways—in some localities by the farmers offering exceptional inducements, thereby securing a large number of laborers usually employed in other industries, such laborers going back to their regular employment after receiving their wage for a short period on the farm."

EQUAL DISTRIBUTION.
"Because the farmer needs additional help during certain periods, it is not the duty of the country to be flooded with cheap foreign labor which during the greater part of the year is forced to accept a wage that affords only bare subsistence, tending to reduce the American standard of wages and living."

In reference to the wages and living conditions of the immigrant laborers, Mr. Keefe states that the government has been endeavoring to reduce the American standard of wages and living conditions, tending to reduce the American standard of wages and living conditions.

"The so-called problem of distribution, in this so far as it relates to others than settlers (i. e., those who desire to acquire land), will, it seems to me, be solved by the natural law of supply and demand, assuming of course, that the government is not interfering with the otherwise artificial means which have no lasting effect. Thus, if it is true that our large centers are congested with people who are unable to eke out an existence, while on the other hand there is a scarcity of labor in other sections, the government should be sufficiently insistent to produce such an offer of wages and working conditions as would induce those in the congested districts to take advantage of it, or after all, the average wage earner, if unscrupulous, has little preference between different sections, provided wages are made an inducement; just so long as the demand is met by importing cheap labor from abroad this congestion will in a way be supplied that result will be brought about only to the ultimate advantage of our country, and the kind of living and wages which we have been so proud to term the "American standard."

"The fourth point needs some further consideration. So far as transoceanic immigration is concerned, the greatest beneficiaries are the steamship lines, with respect to Mexican peon labor, the large employers and labor agencies. "Any plan for the distribution of alien laborers, if carried out, must have a tendency to increase immigration and confer additional benefits upon the beneficiaries mentioned. It is the distribution affects the alien at the time of immigration, and extends the field in which they may be placed at a wage sufficient to afford bare existence, the demand for additional numbers is increased directly."

AGAINST FLOODING.
"The theory upon which most of these plans rest is that there is a following limited demand for common labor in this country, is now, and has been for some time, unwaranted by the facts. It is true, it is the duty of the government to pay a living wage or to furnish steady employment to a reliable indication of actual conditions. It is also true that at certain seasons of the year, when crops are being harvested, there is a heavy demand for labor in the west; but such labor is expected to have some knowledge of farm work, is wanted only for limited periods, and is not, in any instance, to be employed by the year or even for a season. In recent years this temporary demand for an increased number of laborers has been met in various ways—in some localities by the farmers offering exceptional inducements, thereby securing a large number of laborers usually employed in other industries, such laborers going back to their regular employment after receiving their wage for a short period on the farm."

Redmen of Alaska Will Become Extinct if Government Does Not Act.

SANATORIUM FAVORED
BY MEDICAL INSPECTOR

Finds That Medicine Is Not Taken Properly When Given to Natives.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—No Indians will be left in Alaska in two or three generations unless the government at once takes vigorous measures to check disease among them. This is in substance the statement made in a report by Dr. M. H. Foster, passed assistant surgeon in the public health and marine hospital services, who was sent on special detail to make a survey of the health conditions of South-eastern Alaska. The survey was made for the bureau of education, which has general supervision of Alaska natives, and as a result of an estimate for an appropriation of $70,000 for additional medical work among the natives is now before Congress.

Dr. Foster recomends the decrease in the native population of Alaska as follows:

"Owing to the usual lack of vital statistics in a pioneer country such as this, the exact facts on which to base an opinion have never been available, and most of the statements have been mere conjecture. At Sitka accurate accounts have been kept by the churches, and these show that for a period of five years and seven months the annual birth rate has been 72.3 per thousand, and the annual death rate $4.4 per thousand. During this period, with an estimated population of 490, there were 23 more deaths than births."

INDIANS DYING FAST.
"The returns of the United States census bureau show that in the last ten years there has been a decrease in the total Indian population approximately equal to 14 per cent, or 1.5 per cent per year. This corresponds very closely to the rates as figured at Sitka, and they may be taken as indicating fairly correctly the rates for the whole country. The death rate in the United States varies from 7 or 8 per thousand to 35 per thousand, depending upon the locality. An average death rate may be placed at 22 to 23 per thousand."

"The very unusual mortality in Alaska, i. e., $4.4 per thousand, is attributed largely to pulmonary tuberculosis, and unless it is checked in the future, it will result in the extinction of the natives in 50 or 70 years, and this is a very serious situation. Fortunately it is counteracted to a certain extent by an unusually large birth rate, but the birth rate will probably decrease as time goes on."

FAVORS SANATORIUM.
In accordance with these findings, Dr. Foster recomends the establishment of a sanatorium, provisions for which is made in the appropriation bill which the bureau of education now has before Congress. Conservative estimates put the proportion of natives suffering from some form of tubercular trouble at from 30 to 50 per cent. This is in addition to some 15 per cent who have diseases of the eye and an unusually large percentage of sufferers from specific blood poisoning or related diseases. Without medical attention, natives mingling with the whites furnish an element of considerable danger to the entire population of Alaska.

The need for a hospital is emphasized by Dr. Foster, who reports:

"Under present conditions the Indian cannot be effectively treated in his own home, except for a few minor complaints. Every physician experienced in Alaska states that they will not carry out instructions or take medicine as directed. If the drug is palatable or they can feel its effects they are very likely to take it all at once. If it is distasteful or if it has immediate results follow they take it a few times and then stop."

"I know of a case where a physician was called to see a native ill with pneumonia. He first gave the patient tablets with explicit directions that one was to be taken every two hours. The brother of the sick man, despite these directions, reasoning that if one was good, more would be better, gave the entire supply at one time, and the man died in a few hours."

"While it is not known that the strychnine was the cause of his death, it is very evident from such an occurrence that they cannot be trusted with potent drugs. When a native is really ill he requires hospital care, and more good can be accomplished by taking three or four into a hospital than by attempting to treat a large number in their villages."

In addition to a sanatorium for consumptives and a home for destitute blind and crippled natives, the estimate of appropriation of $70,000 now before Congress also contemplates additional doctors and nurses, as well as new hospitals for surgical operations and serious diseases other than consumption.

New Spring Styles In Suits and Coats

May we have the pleasure of showing you through our splendid new stock of clever and rightly-priced man-tailored Suits and Coats?

The range of styles and fabrics and patterns and colors is wonderfully broad and interesting.

We took unusual pains in having these new suits and coats tailored just as they ought to be. We watched the little points inside and out—because we wanted the garments to be good friends of the women who buy them—we wanted each one to sell another suit or coat next fall. Prices range as follows:

Man-Tailored Suits	Man-Tailored Coats
$15.00 to $65.00	$12.50 to $45.00

Smart Spring Millinery

Several new shipments arrived last week to enrich the display in our Millinery Department. Some of the hats came from Paris—the city that sets the millinery fashions for all the world. The others came from the most famous New York milliners. The hats are all bewitchingly beautiful and becoming, and the prices are almost as fascinating as the hats.

S. P. GETS HOLD IN RICHMOND, IS REPORT

UNITED PROPERTIES CO. WILL BID FOR FREIGHT

Direct Ferries From City to Fair Grounds Are Said to Be Planned.

RICHMOND, Feb. 24.—The many rumors of railroad activity that have been floating around Richmond for the last few days are interesting to Oakland, as well as to this city, for development in that line in Richmond also means increased activity for the metropolis of the East Bay section.

There is a story afloat now that the Southern Pacific is getting strongly entrenched on the waterfront in the vicinity of the Standard Oil works and that the construction of the new piece of railroad from the Standard's docks to Castro Point, connecting with the Belt railroad, has some connection therewith. The 49-acre tract acquired in the early days of Richmond by the Southern Pacific still lies as a strategic point. It is directly back of the oil refinery and extends over the crest of the ridge to the bay front, where wharves can easily be constructed to deep water. The corporation was thoughtful enough to obtain a wharf franchise, so it is all ready for development whenever it wishes to begin operations.

The stories are persistent that the United Properties company, when it runs the Key Route into Richmond this year, will bid for freight, as well as passenger business. The stories that this company had promised to run freight switches to factory tracks is pretty well substantiated, men who are in touch with officials of the merger having given the information. The merger undoubtedly will connect Oakland and Richmond strongly and get control of traffic between here and the larger city, which traffic is increasing by bounds all the time and is becoming a subject of special consideration by all the transportation lines.

TRAFFIC ARRANGEMENTS. It will be remembered that the Frisco system has made traffic arrangements with the Santa Fe whereby the Frisco is also to have its terminal at Richmond, the idea being that it will run entire passenger and freight trains into Richmond, using its own rolling stock, including locomotives of the Frisco system. It is after world's fair passenger business and freight business which will also be new coming to the Panama canal will create Richmond is directly across from the Harbor View site of the exposition. It is said that transportation companies already are figuring on direct ferries from this city to the fair grounds, so as to land their through passengers, and also freight directly at the gates. The traffic of Oakland is becoming so enormous that there is bound to be more or less congestion at the time of the opening of the canal and the coming of the fair, and the railroad companies are said to be studying out plans to meet this problem by direct service across from Richmond.

FINANCES IMPORTANT. Were the inner harbor completed now, there would doubtless be a ferry service between it and San Francisco. The financial end of this project is the next important proposition confronting Richmond officials. The call for a bond election will probably be issued in the spring, as the full data from the United Survey just begun under direction of Colonel Rees, will doubtless be on hand by that time, and Engineer F. A. Haviland, who is surveying to get the bond issue data, will have it all in hand then.

The city will be asked to vote about $600,000 and appropriations will be asked from the government from time to time. The growth of Richmond entitles it to full consideration on the part of the government, as shown by the order for the complete survey, and earnest work on behalf of the citizens will bring the necessary appropriations. A harbor with 20 feet of water should be ready close to the line of the canal, and the dredging to 30 feet can be carried on rapidly.

The municipal tunnel and wharf, looked upon as an immediate necessity, will not be overlooked in the call for a bond election. For this improvement, bonds for $150,000 will be asked. The tunnel will enable the Santa Fe to carry automobiles and other vehicles, which will bring traffic through Richmond from all the Contra Costa region to the north, and will enable river boats to land produce here for the East Bay region.

FUNERAL CARRIAGE IS UPSET BY AUTO

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—One man suffered a broken leg and two women and a girl were badly shaken up when an auto truck collided with and overturned a funeral carriage at Chester place and Springfield road.

Edward Trezo, the driver of seventy-second street and Paschal avenue, was pinned under the overturned carriage, and his right leg was broken in two places. He was taken to the University hospital. Mrs. Ella Ayres and Mrs. Martha Coubler, together with the latter's grand-daughter, Georgia, all of Darby, were in the carriage when the auto truck crashed into it. They sustained slight cuts and bruises.

The chauffeur of the auto, Frank Koch, was arrested and later released on his own recognizance to appear for a hearing. The funeral Mrs. Ayres and Mrs. Coubler were attending was that of Mrs. Anna Trezo of 315 South Sixth street, Darby.

This Child of Nine Speaks Five Languages Very Fluently

WINIFRED STONER, who is probably the most highly accomplished child for her age in the United States.

PITTSBURG Pa., Feb. 24.—Winifred Stoner of Pittsburgh is probably the most precocious child in the United States, if not in the world. At the age of 9 she was a student in poetry and gave much evidence of talent. She also acquired the knowledge of typewriting. When she was 7 years old she published a book of verse.

She can speak fluently five languages, at the age of 9 years. Yet Winifred is no prig; she enjoys herself like all other children, choosing the same pastimes and amusements. Her mother keeps a close eye on her, with the view of seeing that she does not overwork her mentality.

At the age of 8 years, she was a member of the Junior League of the city of Pittsburgh. She has been a member of the Junior League of the city of Pittsburgh.

CHILD MURDERED, IS POLICE THEORY

Nude Body of Infant Found on Beach Indicates a Brutal Crime.

RICHMOND, Feb. 24.—Connecting the finding of the little dead baby on the beach at this place a few days ago with the further fact, just discovered, that an Italian resident near the bay came home intoxicated two days prior, last night, and broke the furniture, causing premature birth for the woman, the local police feel reasonably sure that the two occurrences are links of the same chain, and are now keeping close watch upon the man while gathering evidence as to whether the babe was alive or dead when born.

The woman gave birth to a child following the beating given her by her husband and two days later the body of a naked infant was washed ashore. Neighboring women who were present at the birth of the babe say it was premature and alive. The body of the child found on the beach was shipped today to Martinez to be buried as a county charge. Arrivals in Martinez today are expected tomorrow, and pending this the name of the offender is being withheld.

CAIRNS' ARREST Branded Absurd By Former Chief

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—As chief of staff of Shuster in Tehran Frank S. Cairns took charge of the office of the United States consul in Tehran, Iran, and finally turned it over to Mornard, the Belgian. He said his eleven associates then started for home, but the Persian government has just ordered their arrest on charges of "irregularity" in the books of the office.

Shuster says the charge is absurd, as he and his associates did not handle a dollar.

PULLMAN GROWTH PROVES A RECORD

RICHMOND, Feb. 24.—The intervening space between where Richmond, Oakland and Berkeley are all growing together is being rapidly filled up by Pullman, which, during the past twelve months, has built over 200 new cottage homes for the workmen who are employed by the Pullman Car Company. The Standard Oil works and other manufacturing enterprises here. During that year re-sales of over $250,000 in realty have taken place and transfers are of every day occurrence. The Key Route is to pass through this district, thus giving it rapid transit to Oakland. The Pullman works there occupy 25 acres and are constantly being enlarged to include construction, as well as repair work, with 800 men now on the pay-roll. The plant and equipment cost in the neighborhood of $200,000. Yesterday a new newspaper was launched there, termed the Mail, a weekly publication of considerable local merit.

OUTDOOR EXERCISE GRAVE NECESSITY

New York Recreation Commissioner Addresses Gathering in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—G. T. Kirby, member of the New York recreation commission and an executive officer in several outdoor and athletic associations, this afternoon delivered an address on the "City's Duty Toward Public Recreation." He said of the great need of public parks, swimming pools, bathhouses and playgrounds in the large cities. "Outdoor recreation in big cities is not a luxury," said Kirby, "but an absolute necessity. It is just as necessary to preserve the health of the citizens that are and the citizens to be. One of the best forms of amusement that I know of is outdoor athletics. It is a sport that every healthy boy takes a delight in. All he needs is a place in which to engage in racing, handball, basketball, tennis or any other form of athletics that may appeal to him. There should be ample provisions made for marine sports as well as any other. San Francisco has a great advantage over many other large cities on account of its splendid geographical position."

MINER IN SUIT
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Jesse L. Lusk, multi-millionaire mining man of Nome, Alaska, and San Francisco, today brought suit in the superior court to recover from John H. Lusk, another Nome operator, $75,000, more advanced for the benefit of the defendant.

Beautiful Bloom To Every Skin When This Is Used.

Effective Cold Cream Clears the skin and makes it smooth and velvety and young-looking. With just a little care and attention to your skin, you can have a clear, glowing complexion. A cold cream removed from the skin removes impurities, opens up pores and keeps the skin in a youthful bloom and soft condition. You can prepare this cream at home by dissolving two ounces of glycerine in a quart of water. Add a few drops of lemon juice and cream. Use during the day and at night. It will keep the skin soft and clear.

HINES SUES FUNK FOR $100,000

Millionaire Lumberman, Who Was Ousted From Club, Begins Action.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Edward Hines, the wealthy lumber dealer whose membership in the Union League club here was cancelled yesterday, filed suit today against Clarence S. Funk for $100,000. Funk, who is general manager of the International Harvester company, testified before the senatorial committee in the Lorimer inquiry that Hines told him he had "put Lorimer over" and had requested that the Harvester company contribute $10,000 to the expenses of the election of the senator. According to Attorney A. G. Allen, who filed the suit, his action is for slander. He declined to state what specific utterance of the defendant was the cause of the suit and refused to say whether the Harvester company had requested that the Harvester company contribute $10,000 to the expenses of the election of the senator. A statement by Attorney Allen, after a conference with other counsel for Hines, detailed the making of charges against W. Hines by Clarence Funk before the senate committee and related that at that time court action was considered, but not taken because of the pendency of the senatorial investigation. In June, 1911, the statement declared, W. Hines was served with a notice to appear before the Union League club to answer certain allegations. His counsel suggested that the hearing be postponed until after the senatorial investigation. The hearing was postponed indefinitely. In December the directors of the club again were requested to postpone the hearing until the conclusion of the federal investigation. The statement concluded: "Mr. Hines has now instituted a suit against Clarence Funk, in which suit the truth or falsity of the charges made by Mr. Funk against Mr. Hines will be judicially determined."

FORMER EDITOR DROPS DEAD WHILE AT CLUB

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 24.—Albert J. Barr, former publisher of the Pittsburgh Post and also of the Sun, and former director of the Associated Press, died suddenly in the Duquesne club here today. He had entered the club about a half hour before he expired. He complained of feeling ill and a physician was sent for. Mr. Barr left his residence at Shady Side this morning for his office in the Courthouse Annex. He was a member of the Board of Viewers for Allegheny county. He made no comment to the members of his family of feeling ill.

ARGENTINE CORN CROP IS LARGE

Vast Output of Southern Republic to Be Put on the World Market.

(By JOSEPH P. FRITCHARD.)
CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—According to a private cable received here today from Buenos Ayres, Argentina, that country has raised the largest crop of corn ever known and the exportable surplus will reach 200,000,000 bushels. The grain world knows that Argentina is without ample storage capacity and that this corn will be shipped to the importing nations as rapidly as it is ready. This big crop of corn has already proved a drawback to the American farmer, as it has been sold frequently for future delivery. A Liverpool cable received here today says that Argentine corn is being pressed upon the market there with the price a secondary consideration. While corn is now selling up around 59 cents for the May future, there are men in the trade who believe that the present level will be reached before another crop is available. There will doubtless be a falling off in primary receipts the coming year, but the corn will continue until such time as the roads in the country are passable. It is expected, however, that the corn will be shipped out in large quantities as cars are available and that those shipments will supply the demand. With Argentina cutting a big swath in the corn markets of the world, that country is now offering wheat more freely according to special cables received here today, exporters of the southern hemisphere are cutting below the prices of Australia and India, and in case Russia and the United States were anxious to sell wheat in good quantities they would be forced to meet the prices now being asked by the Argentine merchants. Settlement on wheat was doubtful because of the close competition between the Argentine and the United States, although there was a strong undercurrent during the early part of the season. OAT PRICES GOOD. The principal holders of both cash and future oats believe that prices will advance to a still higher level. They give as their reason the concentrated holdings of the cash article and the improved demand from feeders and shippers. The provision market is in a most unstable factory state. A general housecleaning must be done in the market before there can be any hope of improved values. The markets of the Board of Trade acted in sympathy with each other today. The wheat closed at fractional losses although they showed considerable strength during the first hour of the session.

ALMOST LOST HIS LIFE. A A. S. of Mason High will never forget his terrible exposure to a most cruel storm. "It gave me a dreadful cold," he writes, "that caused severe pains in my chest. It was hard for me to breathe. A neighbor gave me several doses of Dr. King's New Discovery, which brought great relief. The doctor said I was on the verge of pneumonia, but to continue with the Discovery. I did so and two bottles completely cured me. The cost of a doctor and a pneumonia medicine for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Cough and Cold Remedy Co."

DARROW TO SEEK EVIDENCE OF JURY

Writ of Mandate Will Be Filed Asking That Transcript Be Supplied.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—Earl Rogers, attorney for Clarence S. Darrow, announced today that he would file a petition with the district court of appeal Monday for a writ of mandate to compel presiding Judge Hutton to order the district attorney to supply a complete transcript of the evidence on which Darrow was indicted for alleged jury bribery in the McNamara trial. Rogers completed the petition this afternoon, too late to be filed today. In his petition Rogers also asks for a writ of prohibition forbidding Judge Hutton to set a date for Darrow's trial until the complete transcript is turned over to the defense. FIGHTING REMOVAL. NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Extradition proceedings in the case of Patrick Farrell and Frank C. Webb, the New York labor men indicted in Indianapolis in connection with the McNamara dynamite plots, were begun today before United States Commissioner Alexander. The men are fighting removal. Farrell admitted that he was a member of the National executive council of the Structural Iron Workers in 1908. Webb was not called, but his son, Joseph, testified that neither his father nor Farrell had been out of New York during the commission of the dynamiting mentioned in the indictment.

HOOSAC TUNNEL BADLY DAMAGED BY BLAZE

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Feb. 24.—The Hoosac tunnel proves to have been so badly damaged by the fire that followed a wreck last Tuesday that it will be impossible for trains to pass through the four and a half mile bore under the mountain for many days. In addition to clearing away tons of rock which fell on the trucks, the wreckers will have to remove from the walls and roof many places loosened by the intense heat.

COAL STRIKE IS CAUSE OF FLURRY IN MARKET

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Security markets were idle today, but nervousness over the coal strike situation made price changes irregular. Consols were 1-8 lower and railway shares generally declined. Discounts were weak in Lombard street at a recession of 1-16 per cent. On the continent rates were easier.

GREAT COAL STRIKE TO TEAR ENGLAND ASUNDER

UP FOR LONG BATTLE

Impending Struggle Has Political Significance of Great Import, Leaders Say.

Fight That Miners and Trades Unionists Plan Will Stagger Humanity.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The coal strike, which Sir Edward Grey recently called "the greatest national disaster in our history," is now only a few days off.

Nothing has been done to prevent it, and nothing can be done until Tuesday, when the miners' leaders and the cabinet ministers meet again. On that same date the strike begins in some districts of Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire; the great mass of the miners cease work at midnight Tuesday next.

Very little hope is left that the government will be able to accomplish anything. What the cabinet ministers think of the prospect is well indicated by Ernest Asquith, who yesterday had extra quantities of coal delivered at his house.

POLITICAL MOVEMENT.
That the movement is more a strike for a minimum scale of wages; that it is in fact a political movement of the deepest and most radical significance, is the declared opinion, not only of the mine owners, but of the leaders of the miners.

Verstaphorn, the South Wales representative on the miners' national executive committee, says over his own signature:

"We are ready to put up a fight for our rights of such a nature as will stagger humanity. We have not taken national action lightly, and we cannot under any circumstances allow the men to be beaten.

"The federation is in reality fighting not only its own battle, but the battle of British trade unionism. We are entering upon a new era, and I do not think I am far from the truth when I say that the outcome of the struggle will not only decide the fate of government and parties, but it will settle the destinies of the working classes of this country.

EYE OF GREAT THINGS.
"If the coal owners meet our demands, the future social progress of this country may proceed on lines of peaceful evolution; if they do not, if they hold out in the hope of staying the advance of the workers and defeating the miners' federation in pitched battle, we must be prepared for an upheaval which will swiftly take away from the coal owners the right to exercise despotic power over the lives of miners and their families, or indeed to impose any terms at all. We are on the eve of great things."

Socialism is rampant in Wales, which is the storm center of the trouble, and practically all of the strike leaders are Socialists. Robert Blatchford, author of "Merrie England," writing in the Clarion, says:

STRIKE IS NEAR.
"This strike is almost upon us. It will shake the nation to its root, but it is not the end of the struggle; it is the biggest strike. Every year the army of organized labor increases in numbers and grows sterner and harder in its demands. We cannot look up to the British people; we cannot drive six or seven millions of men to work as slaves. What can we do? I am speaking, not as a partisan, but as an Englishman; we must shoot the enemies of the classes are those who are egging them on to stop by violence of laws or arms the inevitable evolution of democracy in this nation."

WILL STRIKE BLOW.
"The transport workers have interests in common with the miners, and I am trusting that they will be brought closer together, so that the transport and other trades most concerned with manufacturers have power to strike a blow for the rights of labor."

"This is a class war, the wickedest the capitalists have as yet brought about; but it should be a lesson to the whole of the trade union world to fight like wolves, not with sheep-like patience, but with vital strategic weapons as potent as the combined forces of the capitalists may be able to bring into the field."

GOVERNMENT MAY BE CALLED ON TO TAKE HAND IN STRIKE
CHILDREN AND PARENTS ARRESTED AND HEADS ARE BROKEN

Militia on duty at the textile workers' strike in Lawrence. Below are some of the children of strikers sent to New York to arouse sympathy.

Congressman Asks for Investigation of Situation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Representative Wilson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House committee on labor, said today:

"I have wired to President Golden of the textile workers at Lawrence for information as to the exact state of affairs. If the militia are preventing the women and children from leaving Lawrence I shall endeavor to have the government intervene to stop such a thing. The labor committee is watching the strike at Lawrence closely."

HEADS ARE BROKEN.
LAWRENCE, Mass., Feb. 24.—Heads were broken today in a riot which resulted from an attempt to send thirty children of striking textile workers to Philadelphia contrary to orders from the authorities. Police and military took the children into custody and arrested several persons.

Anticipating a possible attempt to rescue the children, four companies of infantry and a squad of cavalry surrounded the railroad stations. The action was taken as a result of the order issued last Saturday by Colonel Sweetser, commander of the militia, doing patrol duty here, forbidding the exportation by the strike committee of additional parties of children to other cities in an endeavor to create sympathy in the cause of the strikers, without permission of the parents.

PARENTS ARRESTED.
When they learned that their children were being held, the parents rushed to the police station to rescue them, but a detail of special policemen was thrown about the building and the parents were arrested.

While the scene at the railroad depot was being enacted, strike pickets were active in the foreign quarters. So democratic were they that they broke persons, twenty-seven of them women, were arrested.

At a meeting of the Industrial Workers of the World strike committee, William E. Trautman, who presided, denounced the action of the police in preventing the children from departing. He said:

"Let them keep on arresting the women until they have the 'Jesuits' called out to do any rioting; that's what the authorities want, so that they can have an excuse for slaughter."

pledged to handle no foreign coal. Trouble is brewing in the coal fields of Germany, France and Belgium. The year that has already seen China become a republic and seen Socialists obtain the largest number of seats of any party in the German Reichstag, may yet see even in this seat of the British empire events no less stirring or significant.

CALIFORNIA TO BE FOR CHAMP CLARK
T. R. DEAD COCK IN PIT, SAYS GROVE L.

Views on Chinese Question of Woodrow Wilson Opposed, Is Claim.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Telegrams received at the Clark headquarters today give the information that California will be unanimous for Speaker Clark. The withdrawal of Hearst in favor of the speaker has simplified the situation. Governor Wilson's views on the Chinese question, as expressed in his books, have had tremendous effect in influencing the labor vote. His elevation of the Chinese over the laboring classes of other nationalities who are citizens of the United States has engendered bitter antagonism, so the friends of Speaker Clark have informed him.

Charles D. Bell, a (white Democratic) candidate for Governor of California, and permanent chairman of the Denver convention, who is leading the fight, is confident that Clark will carry the May primaries by an overwhelming majority.

In Southern California Governor Wilson has his greatest strength. Since the views of Wilson on the Chinese and laboring classes have become known the tide has turned and the Wilson strength is rapidly decreasing.

Kern Valley Bank
Will Pay Dividend

BAKERSFIELD, May 24.—Official announcement was made today by W. R. Williams, state bank superintendent, that the Kern Valley Bank, which was closed last May, will pay its first dividend to the depositors immediately after March 15, the last date under the law for filing claims by creditors of the bank. It is expected that the amount distributed will not be less than $250,000 and it may reach 40 cent on the dollar, which would be about $250,000. The distribution is expected to help the local credit situation greatly.

HUSBAND DISAPPEARS.
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Amile Udall recently brought suit for divorce from Mrs. Gertrude Udall. She in turn filed a cross-bill. At the trial Udall failed to appear, and both bills were dismissed at Mrs. Udall's request. Coal has disappeared and the authorities are now seeking him in behalf of his wife.

ONCE FAMOUS SHIP ROTS
IN MUD

Balboa, Stripped of Past Glories, Lies in Estuary Off East Oakland.

Vessel Had Remarkable Career Before It Reached Last Resting Place.

In the mud in Sessions' basin, off East Oakland, a disreputable old hulk, with little or nothing to show of her former greatness, lies the once world famous clipper ship Balboa. Her massive masts, which once braved the winds of many a howling ocean gale, are gone. Her decks are torn out and all that remains to show her former greatness is a small discolored American flag painted on the foremast head. The Balboa was built several score years ago, and since that time has been the stage for the enactment of more than one drama which, were they all gathered together and put into print, would fill volumes.

The Balboa when she first came into the limelight was a clipper ship plying the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. She figured in several questionable escapades in the northern waters off the Alaska coast, and figured in a shooting affair while on the high seas. She then dropped out of sight for several years.

Upon her again coming before the public she put into this port and, because of her unseaworthy condition, was sold to a company of San Francisco investors. This company immediately put the old ship on dry dock and remodeled her into a gambling and pleasure resort. The rigging, old sails, and other useless material on the vessel, were removed. The bare masts and spars were then wired for electric lights. The entire upper deck was taken out and a magnificent dance hall made in its place. The money expended on this part of the remodeling was said to have amounted to more than $100,000. On the lower deck, gambling devices of all kinds ran night and day, and at these games fortunes were won and lost. With the dance hall running, the gambling games on full blast and the masts and spars brilliantly illuminated, the visitor to the ship believed that he was in a place that in splendor and beauty ranked second to none.

During the summer season the Balboa confined her operations to the Santa Cruz harbor, where thousands of tourists flocked yearly to enjoy the cooling freshness of the placid Pacific. In the winter the old boat would be taken in tow and laid up off East Oakland, where she would undergo a thorough overhauling in readiness for her next year's pilgrimage to the Santa Cruz resort. Gradually the old clipper became so unseaworthy as to make the run to Santa Cruz one of considerable danger.

The government authorities also were not on the trail of the vessel and at last the Balboa's owners were forced to sell the old ship.

OCCUPIED BY FAMILY.
The Balboa's new owners, stripped the old ship of everything of value and sold it to M. A. Taylor, who at present with his wife and family occupies the old ship's hull. Taylor has lived in the old ship for the past few years during which time he has been constructing a small ark of the old ship's hull, which he plans to launch in the spring of 1912. The remaining timbers of the old clipper will probably be cut into firewood—thus will end the career of the Balboa.

Americans Not Among Conspirators in Korea

No Citizens of United States Are Involved in Plot to Kill Governor.

TOKIO, Feb. 24.—No arrests of American citizens have been made in connection with the alleged plot to kill the Japanese governor-general of Korea, General Count Terada, and it is asserted officially that no charges of complicity in the affair have been brought against citizens of the United States. Charles Page Bryan, the United States ambassador to Japan, and George R. Sidmore, United States consul-general at Seoul, are acting with the greatest vigilance for the protection of American citizens.

Cement Golf Ball
Is Latest Wrinkle

The Western Amateur Champion Sees Great Possibilities in New Invention.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—The cement golf ball is something for the devotees of the links to think about for the coming season. The ball was on exhibition at the cement show at the Coliseum last night, and according to former Western Amateur Champion Sawyer, it has great possibilities. Sawyer tried the ball out in an indoor course and was pleased with it. It is composed of cork and concrete, which responds in much the same way as rubber to a blow, forms the core of the new ball.

TEARS FILL THE EYES OF JURORS

Counsel for John B. Snead, Charged With Murder, Brings Sympathy.

Pictures Wrecked Home and Ruined Wife and Hung Jury Is Anticipated.

"Now we lay us down to sleep, We pray the Lord our souls to keep; But let us die before we wake Rather than Al. Boyce our young lives take."

FORT WORTH, Tex., Feb. 24.—With this paraphrasing of the childish prayer, W. P. McLean Jr., leading counsel for the defense, closed his argument in behalf of John Beal Snead, on trial for the murder of Captain Boyce, late this afternoon.

McLean's speech, it could not be called an argument, was an appeal to the sympathies of the jury, and a picture of Snead's wrecked home, his ruined wife and his two young girls who would be robbed of their father in case of his conviction.

From the start McLean played on the sympathies of the jury and the crowd by his reference to the children seated by their father's side. Tears were in the eyes of the jurors, and there was not a dry eye in the courtroom when he concluded.

BEYOND GAMBLING DEN.
Upon her again coming before the public she put into this port and, because of her unseaworthy condition, was sold to a company of San Francisco investors. This company immediately put the old ship on dry dock and remodeled her into a gambling and pleasure resort.

The judge's charge covered twenty typewritten pages, and dealt with the law on first and second degree murder, manslaughter, self-defense, and killing as the result of remarks made about a female relative. There were some twenty or more special instructions in the judge's charges, necessitated by the numerous problems raised during the trial.

The jury at once retired for the night and announced it would not begin consideration of the case until morning. On account of the large number of problems raised in the special issues, covered in the court's charge, an early verdict is not expected. It is doubtful whether the jury will report before Monday or possibly Tuesday. The general opinion is that a hung jury will be the result.

Moving Picture Trust
Vicious, Says Witness

Competition Is Unable to Stand Against Great Combination Says Samuel Untermyer.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The entire United States is in the grip of the "moving picture trust," according to Samuel Untermyer of New York, who testified before the Senate committee on interstate commerce today.

So vicious is this trust, said Untermyer, that no competition is able to stand against it. Whereas a short time ago films were controlled by 170 middlemen or rental agencies, among whom there was competition, every place of amusement of this sort in the country today is at the mercy of this latest combination.

The last man to hold out against the trust, Untermyer testified, was offered $300,000 to come in. He refused and the license under which he was operating was canceled by the general film company.

Thomas F. Lawson will appear before the committee the latter part of next week to talk on the money trust. He has expressed a desire to tell the committee what he knows about combinations of capital.

Accomplishments and Fidelity to Duty Entitle President to Another Term.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 24.—A telegram to William B. McKinley at Washington, manager of the Taft campaign, will be the answer of Governor Adolph Elbertson to the request received from Secretary Hilges yesterday for an endorsement of the administration. Today Ralph W. Wheeler, the governor's secretary, gave out the reply he sent.

It reads: "President Taft's administration measured by all standards of accomplishments and fidelity to duty, entitles him to the endorsement of a second term, which I believe the inherent sense of fairness and justice of the American people will ungrudgingly give him."

CONSTRUCTOR GATEWOOD
SOON TO BE RELIEVED

VALLEJO, Feb. 24.—Assistant Naval Constructor Paul H. Fritz, U. S. N., attached to the Boston naval station, has received orders detaching him from the yard and ordering him to Mare Island, according to advices received this morning. It is believed that Constructor Fritz will relieve Naval Constructor Richard D. Gatewood, U. S. N., of his duties as assistant superintendent of the hull department at Mare Island. Gatewood has been on duty at Mare Island since May, 1908.

MAY INDICT SCHIFF AND LAWYER

The Men Who Sent Brandt to Prison May Be Called on to Face Court.

Governor Dix Criticized by Attorney General and Humiliated by Justices.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Police Commissioner Waldo took a hand in the case of Pauline E. Brandt, former valet of Mortimer L. Schiff, today preferring charges against Detective Lieutenant Joseph D. Woodbridge, and John Taylor, who brought forth the false criminal record used to send Brandt to prison for thirty years.

They will be arraigned next Thursday and Mortimer Schiff will probably appear as a witness in their behalf.

With Brandt practically a free man every person in any way connected with the incident or the sentence of thirty years is now either facing punishment provided by law or smarting under censure from a high source. Mortimer L. Schiff and his former attorney Howard S. Gans, will be indicted, it is declared, by the grand jury conducting an investigation to determine whether Brandt was sentenced through a conspiracy. Judge Roosevelt, who imposed the sentence, has been flayed by Attorney General Carmody and officially blamed for the miscarriage of justice in allowing Brandt to plead guilty to a charge which the evidence did not support.

The police officers who framed up the valet's "criminal" record will be tried and Governor Dix himself has been severely criticized by the attorney-general and humiliated by the Supreme Court.

The formal order sustaining Brandt's writ of habeas corpus will be signed Monday by Judge Brandt, who will then admit the prisoners to bail. The activity of those interests which have gained Brandt's freedom will not cease with the achievement of their primary end, however.

"This fight is to appeal the law," said Mirabeau L. Towne, Brandt's attorney today. "And it will not stop when it has begun. Brandt has gained his liberty, but Brandt in this fight is insignificant."

Pending the formal appeal from the habeas corpus decision which District Attorney Whitman and Attorney General Carmody are to take to the courts of the legal authorities will be turned to the grand jury investigation.

Former Client Pulls Attorney James' Nose

Lively Encounter Between Howard W. Ballard and Alameda Lawyer Proves Talkfest.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 24.—Bystanders attracted by the noisy warfare stepped in Monday for a lively encounter between Attorney Howard K. James and a former client, Howard W. Ballard. As the argument waxed warm Ballard suddenly reached for a glass of beer and drank it in a vigorous manner. He then coaxed with the appearance of post-office employees, who objected to the noisy wrangle. Later James tried to secure a warrant from Justice Elmer E. Johnson for Ballard's arrest, but the judge held that honors in the wordy scrimmage were about even and declined to issue the warrant.

James was attorney for Ballard when Ballard was in the hospital over his business and also with his wife. He was seriously sick at the Crescent hotel for a time. Later he recovered his health, became reconciled with his wife and returned to his home. Ballard claims that James has not treated him fairly in a business way, and this dispute caused the open rupture today in the postoffice.

ANNUAL TRIBUNE AN EXTRAORDINARY AFFAIR

(From the Pacific Printer, San Francisco.)

The number of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE dated January 17 was an extraordinary paper. It was the annual number, comprising 140 pages, 11 inches by 16 in size—a voluminous book half an inch thick. The volume is an epitome of the growth, progress and prosperity of Oakland and other Alameda county cities, describing by words and pictures what these cities have become. Incidentally it appears that in 1900 the population of Oakland was 67,000, in 1910 160,000, and today 170,000. The book will find interested readers everywhere, who are concerned in the growth, not only of Oakland and this county, but of California.

‘AH TINK ME BLY AUTOBILLE,’ AND HE DID

Chinese Farmer Invades Pioneer Auto Co., Gets Car, Meets With Fate.

Calvin C. Eib, vice-president of the Pioneer Automobile Company, has the following story to relate:

The wearers of the queue often figure in long wars and other lines of industry, but rarely do they figure in the automobile business. In the role of customers at least. Recently a Chinese farmer from the San Joaquin valley blew breezily into the Pioneer Automobile Company's store and after gazing around for a few minutes was approached by Mr. Eib who inquired of his wants. The "chinkman" replied:

"Ah tink me bly autobille."

"What kind do you want," asked Mr. Eib.

"Ah tink me bly led un."

"How much do you want to pay?" was next asked.

"Oh, maybe two hundred dollar."

He was directed to a second-hand dealer and in the course of an hour, the second-hand dealer pinned one on him. (It was red.) This, theoretically, practically and with the rule of simplicity constantly as its guidance.

BREAKS HIS NECK PLAYING BOTTLE POOL

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24.—Fred J. Weber, Jr., 17 years old, of 3641 Nebraska avenue, while scuffling with other boys in a clubroom over a stable at 2857 Winnebago street, tripped over a chair and his neck was broken.

The boys who were with him were taken to the Wyoming street police station.

The boys said they were playing bottle pool when Weber entered the clubroom and tried to join the game. When he was told to wait he took the leather bottle from the table and playfully started to run away with it. In doing so he tripped over a chair.

POPE GIVES AID TO UNIVERSITY

The Vatican Urges Friends of Catholic Institution to Support It.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The Pope in a letter to Cardinal Gibbons, which the cardinal has had translated and addressed in circular form to the members of the American hierarchy and all friends of the Catholic university, makes known that the Vatican has taken the university under its special patronage and purposes developing it to an extent beyond the expectancy of its founders.

"We are fully determined on developing the Catholic university," the Pope writes, "for we clearly understand how much a Catholic university of high repute and influence can do toward spreading and upholding Catholic doctrine and furthering the cause of civilization."

The letter stamps the university as the official home of learning for Catholic states and lately in the United States and its possessions. The Pope urged all the religious orders in this country to establish colleges and schools of studies about it, and requested the bishops of the country to encourage and enlarge the plan already adopted of arranging special courses for the teaching of nuns.

The Dominicans and Paulists are at the present time the only prominent religious orders that have colleges on the university grounds. The Redemptorists, Passionists, Carmelites, Benedictines, Franciscans and Jesuits are among the principal bodies that are expected to build colleges or houses of study.

"This grouping, indeed, is of mutual advantage," says the letter. "The colleges add to the adornment of the university and enhance its prestige, while on its part the university affords the religious, who along with their own studies, may follow its courses, opportunity to profit and attain more thorough knowledge. Carefully considering these relations and concerned about all that those who are called to the service of the Lord should, by growth in holiness and knowledge, become workmen that need not be ashamed of rightly handling the word of truth. We regard this college with special favor, and we exhort the superiors of religious orders, while preserving their own discipline, to establish similar institutions."

This letter is the first papal document of an official character that has reached this country since the elevation of Cardinals Farley and O'Connell. In the opening paragraphs the Pope congratulates Cardinal Gibbons and the hierarchy for the work already done in support of the university.

Guy de Vilepion Was Mistreated by Savages

HILLSBORO, Feb. 24.—A telegram received today from Guatemala, telling of the capture and mistreatment by Venezuelan savages of the explorer Guy de Vilepion, has greatly disturbed Hillsboro society. Vilepion has tutored in all the exclusive families here and left last summer for France. In December he left there, intending to return by way of South America. He was captured by cannibals in the wilds of Venezuela and he has brought news of the sacrifice and lives of his companions at the hands of the savages.

LIVED IN FEAR OF ASSASSINATION

Mrs. W. M. Shuster Tells of the Days of Horror in Tortured Persia.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—"Though I hourly expected to see my husband assassinated by Russian fanatics, or murdered in cold blood by Cossacks, yet I would gladly have remained in Persia with him for the entire three years if we could have aided the people of that tortured land."

Mrs. W. Morgan Shuster, heroine wife of the former treasurer-general of Persia, made this statement tonight.

"Only when we saw it was best for Persia were we willing to leave," she added. "I am heart sick for Persia. It would be a blessing to the world if England would awaken to her duty and drive out the Russian and the Belgian."

"I have tried to forget the horrors of those days, but I am not able to do so. Imagine our little American band of prisoners in a magnificent palace set apart for us by the Persian government."

"The Persians were so grateful to us, their faith was really pathetic. Missionaries have told me that the people looked to Mr. Shuster as their last hope from the encroachment of Russia."

"The first discord was from the diplomatic corps. Then came the news of the Cossacks marching down on us. When the Persians brought word of atrocious deeds committed by those uncivilized troops, blood ran cold."

As they drew near Teheran a guard of 600 Persian soldiers was thrown around the palace to protect us. But we knew that if things went wrong the Cossacks would make short work of them. Whenever Mr. Shuster was away I could only hope that he would return safe. Unquestionably a price was on his life.

"One day when he did not return for hours my nerves broke down and I grew frantic."

"They won't dare kill Mr. Shuster," the guard assured me. "He is not a Persian."

"Then to divert my mind they recited awful stories of which the Persians had been subjected until I almost went insane."

"On the day the Persian parliament decided not to request Mr. Shuster's resignation as it was ordered to do by Russia, women and children carrying banners inscribed, 'Give us liberty or give us death,' paraded around our park shouting in a frenzy of joy."

"It was a hopeless fight. Our own government could not help us, and the Persians did not have the strength."

Again, when Russia sent her ultimatum the crowd paraded and cheered us.

"After that the excitement grew more intense. We did not know what hour hands The Persian people pleaded with Mr. Shuster to lead them to battle, but he knew it would not avail."

"Then came the sad day on which we left Persia under Russian escort. Around us were grouped a great crowd of Persians who had risked their lives to bid good-bye to the despised Americans."

"Our journey was a frightful one. On the top of a mountain a snowstorm overtook us and our automobile, the only one in Persia, broke down."

"We spent that night in a foul, crowded and cold inn. In the morning we started again, the Russians telephoning our progress from toll gate to toll gate, never interfering with us, but expressing hatred for us with every look."

RAPHAEL WEILL GIVEN PRESENT

Pioneer Merchant Passes the Seventy-Fifth Year of Active Life.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Raphael Weill, clubman, merchant and one of those who helped nurse the city of San Francisco through her earliest infancy, celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday today. And his employees did not permit the day to slip by unnoticed.

Raphael Weill is the proud possessor of a sterling silver inkstand of wondrous size, surmounted by an open book of sterling silver, inscribed with a verse dedicated to Weill, in the lines of which he expresses his kindly sentiment of those employed by him.

When the memorial gift was presented the presentation speech fell to Joseph Todd, who has been longest in the employ of the Weill establishment.

In response to Todd's remarks, Weill said: "I shall treasure this gift beyond all your combined imaginations. At times I have been honored both at home and abroad, but I can recall no tribute, no honor that quite approaches this. Your gift a king might be proud of, but what I value more is the spirit expressed in its giving, the knowledge that every one of my co-workers look upon me with warm-hearted friendliness. You have made me very happy."

SATIRIST SLASHES EDITOR IN A DUEL

Leon Daudet and Pierre Mortier Fight Over Curie-Longevin Affair.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—In a duel fought here today between Leon Daudet, satirist or now son of Alphonse Daudet, the author of 'Sacha' and Pierre Mortier, editor of 'Gil Blas,' the latter was wounded in the arm. The affair was then called off, but the duellists would not become reconciled.

The duel was the outgrowth of the Curie-Longevin scandal and the production of Bernstein's play, 'Apres Moi.' Daudet is a noted duelist. His most famous encounter was with Dr. Jean Charcot, son of the great physician of Salpêtrière. Daudet's wife was Jeanne Hugo, the favorite granddaughter of Victor Hugo. She divorced him for incompatibility and was married to Dr. Jean Charcot whom she also divorced.

Two S. Last year Daudet refused to meet Henri Bernstein in the 'Apres Moi' series of battles. But after he had fought and wounded for him a stranger named Madand and Georges Claretie, son of the theater manager, he met and severely wounded Bernstein in the left breast.

At one time Daudet wanted to marry Miss Isidora Duncan, California dancer. This was when Harry Thaw was making a stir here and was also seeking the famous dancer's hand.

Pierre Mortier fought two duels in the Curie-Longevin affair. His encounter on December 2 with Jacques Bainville, a writer on the Action Française, lasted eleven hours being one of the longest on record. He also met and was wounded by Gustave Mery who published the alleged love letters of Mme Curie to Longevin.

Long Distance Grinds Prove a Motor Car's Worth

THE WARREN '30' Stock Car

(Delivered Here)

Non-Motor Stop Achievement Demonstrates This Assertion

On January 20th a WARREN "30" Stock Touring Car, running under A. A. A. sanction, was started on an attempt to lower the world's non-motor stop record. The official existing record for this test is 10,074 miles. An unofficial mark of 10,890 miles has also been made. It was, and it still is, our belief that the Warren could surpass both of these performances.

Any car to gain a victory of this kind must necessarily be one constructed with the best of materials—be of evenly-balanced proportions—and above all, a light, sturdy and yet a powerful car. One of thirteen materials and poorly designed would develop, in the first few thousand miles traveled, some weakness or other serious enough to preclude any chance for success.

After 4270 miles of steady going under every adverse condition conceivable—but without a motor stop—carburetor trouble arose. The motor was then stopped. On examination a piece of lint was found in the needle valve. This remedied, in little more than an hour's time, the Warren was again started.

A second sanction was applied for, received and went into effect at 7 a. m., February 4th. Up to this time the car had covered 5396.1 miles. Since then 7172.9 miles have been traveled. This figure is the mark to our credit at this time.

Summed up in a few words, the Warren's remarkable record from January 20th up to 1 a. m. this morning is as follows:

Mileage covered when motor first stopped	4,270.0
Mileage covered when second sanction went into effect	5,396.1
Mileage traveled on second sanction	7,172.9
Total mileage to date, inclusive of first record	12,569.0

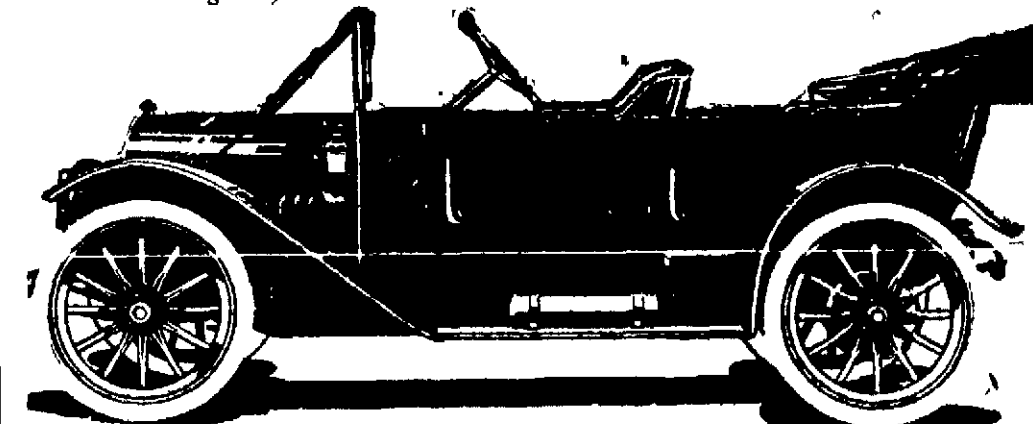

Not a single repair and only one minor adjustment has been made, and the motor stopped but once in thirty-five days of constant running.

MAN IN AIR CAN BEST SEE HOW CITY HAS GROWN

Aviation Meet Aid to the Progress of the Community; Postcard Day

If the thousands of visitors who attended the aviation meet last week had been given a sweeping and enjoyable opportunity as that accorded the birdmen to view Oakland in true birdseye fashion, they would have gone away with a true idea of the size of the east bay metropolis. And if Oaklanders themselves, who have not been keeping their eyes open in all directions for signs of progress, could have been afforded the same view, they would have been surprised at Oakland's growth during the past few years. Such a comprehensive glimpse of the city is necessary to appreciate its extraordinary growth. One may journey in turn into its numerous new suburbs, and the picture can be pieced together gradually, but one must go aviating to be properly impressed.

HOST LEARNED OF OAKLAND. Such opportunities were afforded to but few at the Emeryville park, but at that the real estate men and others concerned with progress here are gratified over the number of persons who came to this side of the bay to enjoy sport which has come into its own in Oakland, and placed the city on the aviation map. Few attractions have greater drawing power than a birdman's meet, and the cities which have been favored with them have had a large share of press advertising throughout the world. Those who view the city and those who read of it receive lasting impressions of the city in which it is held.

The change in Oakland's business district sky line within the last two or three years affords the most remarkable and interesting sight from an elevation which could be witnessed by one who has long resided here.

The new city hall will emphasize this difference when it is completed and towers above other downtown structures.

The Oakland Hotel, Hotel St. Mark, Realty Syndicate, First National Union National, Oakland Bank of Savings, Security Bank, and other buildings now vie with church steeples in pointing heavenward.

The man in the air sees, too, the wonderful growth of the city into the hills, where magnificent residence parks have been created. The hills form a charming background for the city, affording an element of nature to combine with the work of man as seen in the modern skyscrapers, to round out the picture of Oakland, the City Beautiful.

POSTCARD DAY HELPS. Coincident with the attention drawn to Oakland on this account is the remarkable amount of publicity given during the days of the aviation meet, when views of Oakland were sent broadcast over the land by thousands of postcards.

Friday, February 23, was the day, and it was marked by much interest in the various cities from which the cards were sent out, inviting residents of cities to send cards to the city of Oakland. Oakland was fortunate in having so many attractive scenes for reproduction on the postcards as a lure for posterity. The half-tone illustrations of the city, with its new skyscrapers, a shipping scene on the water-front, where "ship and car meet," and other views.

POSTCARD LURE. The captions accompanying the pictures were as follows: "A Holiday Built Metropolis—The City of Oakland, on San Francisco Bay, typifies the Western idea of life—work hard, play hard and live prosperously the right-of-way." "Sails and Ralls—An every-day scene, the wharves of Oakland, where the Pacific merchant marine shakes its trade and exchanges burdens with the transcontinental railroads." "The section of the State purposes Alameda County in the number and variety of picturesque home-sites. This one faces Lake Merritt, which sits in the heart of the city of Oakland."

COUNTY'S SOIL. "Piedmont Park, near Oakland, demonstrates the adaptability of Alameda County's soil and climate. A beautiful and bewildering array of hardy and tropical verdure in sight." The recipient of the postcard is invited to fill out the return portion, which is addressed to the Chamber of Commerce, indicating the occupation or business opening here in which he is interested, and he is promised information concerning Oakland. The receiver of the card is informed that low railroad rates from the East are to be in effect between March 1 and April 15.

OAKLAND IN NUTSHELL. Some of the facts which visitors to the aviation meet and those who answer the postcards will glean about Oakland are:

That in ten years the population has increased from 56,000 to more than 160,000; that Oakland is the trading center of a population of more than half a million people; that its postoffice receipts have doubled in two years; that its banking resources have increased $24,000,000, or 60 percent in the same time; that water service connections, showing the number of new houses, have gone from 25,000 to 44,000 in two years, and telephone connections from 18,000 to 41,000; that $12,000,000 is the value of new buildings erected in Greater Oakland in two years; that Oakland proper is adding to her structures at the rate of more than $5,000,000 a year; that in the value of new structures Oakland leads all the Pacific Coast States; that the city owns a magnificent water-front upon which it is to spend $25,000,000; that five overland railroads center here, and that the east bay cities are threaded with two modernly equipped electric suburban ferry systems; that the city has spent two million dollars in two years for new schools, and will soon increase the expenditure for this purpose, besides constructing a new city hall, an auditorium and other buildings.

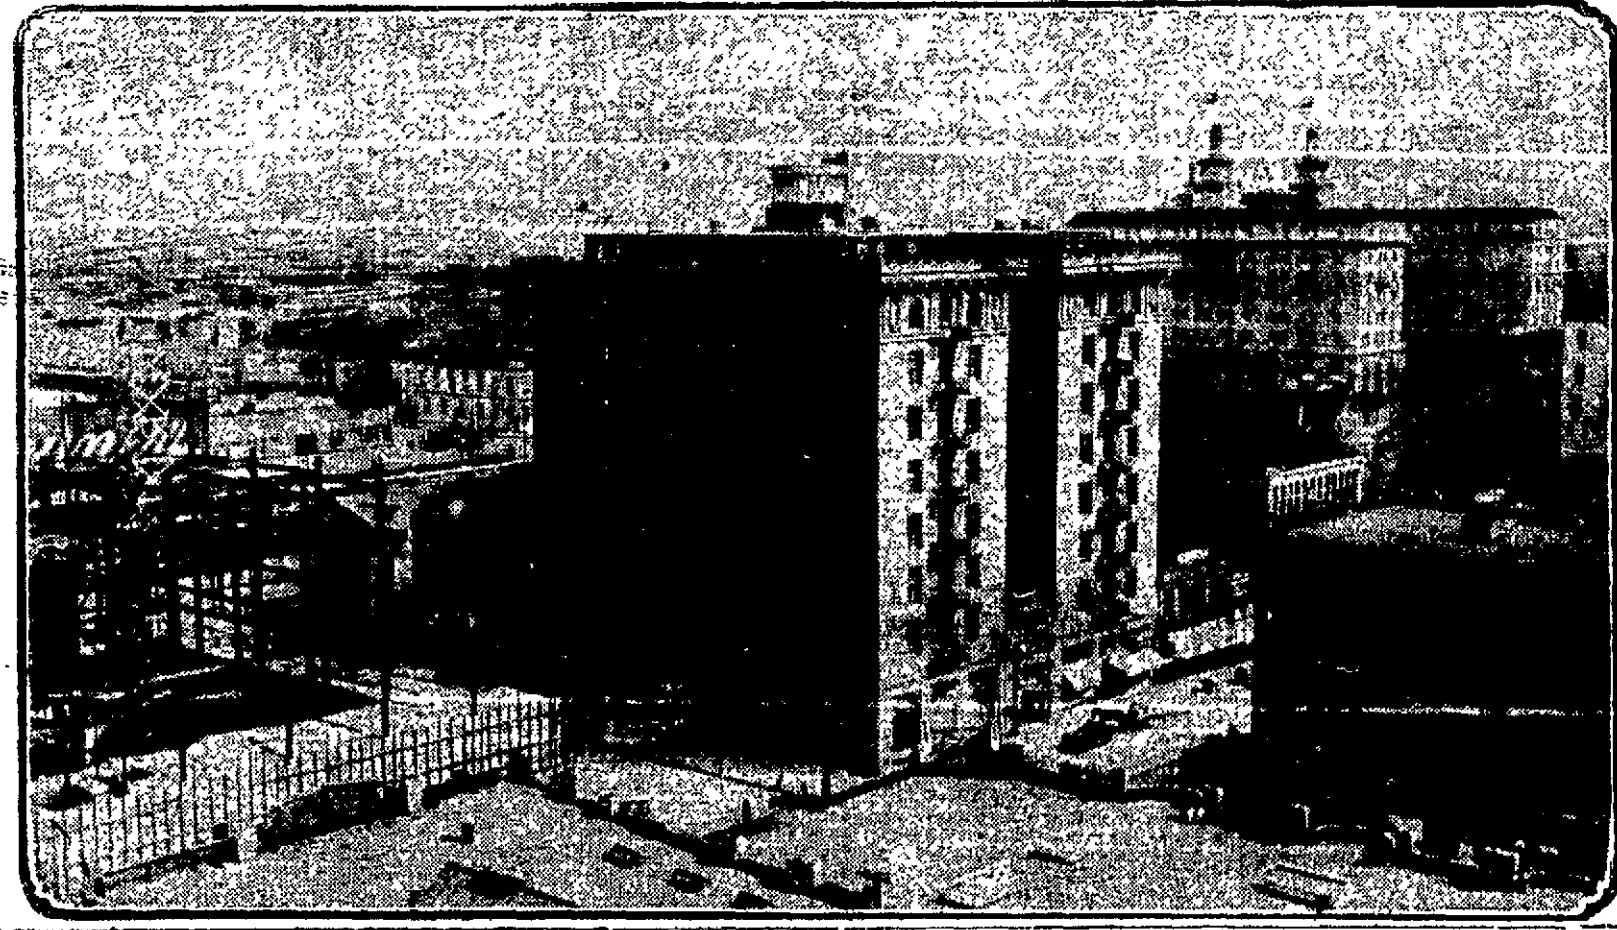

The list may be extended considerably, and the facts outlined may be given in more extended detail. Oakland's attractions form a story of which "the hall has not been told."

NEW BRICK BUILDING FOR FRANKLIN STREET

Another brick business building is to be added to the many recent improvements of this city which have been made on Franklin street between Thirteenth and Seventh streets. Dr. W. F. Schwaber and A. R. Dabney are planning to build a structure, which may be as high as four stories, to replace a two-story ancient frame building on the east side of Franklin street in the middle of the block, between Tenth and Eleventh. The frontage of the site is 24 feet and the depth 150 feet. A windmill shop owned by R. P. Waddell, at 1310 Franklin street, is one of the principal establishments in the building now on the site. He and other tenants have been requested to move out of the structure, which is to be torn down.

FOURTEENTH STREET TO HAVE ANOTHER BUILDING

A two-story building owned by Mrs. William E. Frost at 765 Fourteenth street is being remodeled. A store will occupy the first floor and the second floor will be used for office purposes and dentists' offices.

ORGANIZATION IS KEY TO SUCCESS, BROKER'S OPINION

Systematized Work Needed to Spread the Story of Oakland's Advantages

Organization is Genesis and Revelation and everything between in the gospel of progress, according to Frank A. Burton, a real estate broker, who is enthusiastic over Oakland's opportunities, which he believes to be deserving of the highest forms of cooperation among the city's boosters in attracting real estate and other investors. In an interview yesterday with a TRIBUNE representative, he said:

"It has been wisely stated that the true glory of a nation is in the living temple of loyal, industrious and upright people." In the building of a city the personnel of its citizens is an important factor; they must not only be industrious and upright, but paramount to these qualifications and in conjunction with these virtues, they must be loyal. As a single individual not attached to the others will destroy the harmony of an entire orchestra, so will one disgruntled citizen destroy the efficiency of a multitude of boosters.

"Therefore, the first question to be considered is, what will we do with the knocker? The only pertinent answer would be, either convert him, or in some way dispose of him; for in the long list of undesirable citizens, there is not one who is a greater menace to our municipality than the disgruntled 'knocker.' He is immune from prosecution or elimination, except by the process of organization. 'Organization is in this day imperative; by it alone may success be attained. Combination of interests are today ruling the commercial industries of the world; disorganization means chaos, organization means success; nothing has ever been accomplished in the building of great cities except by concerted action. Show me a city with an organization such as the Chamber of Commerce of Kansas City or New Orleans and I will show you a city prosperous, progressive and prominent. If the citizens of Oakland will get be-

DOWNTOWN PROPERTIES ATTRACTIVE TO INVESTORS

New Retail District Is Scene of Activity; Sale on Alice Street Completed

The most consistent activity in downtown real estate trade is noticeable in the so-called "gold belt," along Fourteenth and Clay streets, in the new retail district. Negotiations are reported to be under way for the transfer of a valuable piece of frontage on Fourteenth street, not many blocks from the new city hall, but details of the proposed transaction are lacking.

Property in this vicinity is of the gilded variety and is bringing prices justified by the present activity in building and in establishment of mercantile houses in the popular district, to say nothing of the promise of future development.

EAST OF BROADWAY SALE. Property in the business district along Fourteenth street, east of Broadway, is also attractive to investors.

The acquisition of the Oakland (Banker's) hotel is responsible for a rise in values in this vicinity.

During the last week Clara T. Brayton sold to Clayton H. Bush an improved lot on the west side of Alice street, 100 feet north of Fourteenth, and near the new hotel, for $20,000. A 24-story residence which is now on the property will not be removed at once, but the land will doubtless be improved in fitting style before the expiration year.

The sale was made through the Layman Real Estate company. CLAREMONT VILLA BUILDING. A building boom is on in Claremont Villa, near the Claremont country club. 124 six-room bungalows are under construction by contractors who have purchased lots from George W. Ansett, purchaser of the 12-acre parcel. The land was once the property of John G. McCullough of Bennington, Vt., former president of the B&O railroad. An important transaction of the week was the lease for five years of a portion of the present store occupied by the J. C. Capwell Company in the Blake block, which is to be vacated by the drygoods firm about April 1. E. P. Charlton & Co. have obtained a lease of 67 feet on the Washington street front of the building, at a total rental of $8,800. Layman Real Estate Company acted as the agent in the transaction. The entire building is to be remodeled at a cost of $75,000 as soon as the Capwell store is moved into the new building at Clay and Fourteenth streets.

LEASING AND RENTING. "The marked activity of the leasing and renting business for the past few weeks has been a conspicuous feature," said A. W. Finn, of the leasing and leasing department of the Layman Real Estate Company. "The demand for premises for business property from prominent business houses on the other side of the bay and other outside sources is increasing. This strong demand for leases is one of the reasons which has contributed toward the large number of sales west of Washington and Clay streets, which has amounted to upward of a million dollars. Most of these properties will be improved, as leases are being arranged for the improvements. One of the most noticeable features in the attitude of the 'close-in' property owners to improve their properties. We have seen a number of them getting plans drawn to erect apartment houses and rooming houses in the accessible locations."

CITY BECOMES SHIPPING CENTER

Import Business of American-Hawaiian Comes to This Side of the Bay.

The most significant development in Oakland's shipping since a harbor was established on this side of the bay is the shifting of large operations from San Francisco to this side of the bay by the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company. It affects all points north of Tehachapi with the exception of San Francisco and towns immediately north and south of the bay which ship freight to or receive it from San Francisco and other points by the isthmus route.

There is an important reason for the new arrangement by which cargoes are shipped by rail to Oakland and loaded on to the company's vessels at Long wharf instead of being placed aboard at the Greenwich-street wharf across the bay. Ship and car meet in Oakland—this is the real reason; and long stories about the lack of berthing facilities on the other side of the bay will not explain away the truth about the change.

TRANSFER EAST. Expert traffic men of the company figured it all out, as it was a simple "sum" in arithmetic to determine how much cheaper it was to ship to Oakland and load direct from car to steamer on the western water front. Cargoes from the East and Europe are unloaded here and carried by rail into the interior.

It was in October last that the change was made, and the steamship concern is wondering why it did not make it sooner. Other companies are now loading and unloading at the same wharf instead of on the other side.

A large percentage of the big shipments being made by the American-Hawaiian Company, going both ways, are through this port. San Francisco is beginning to talk of building new wharves to accommodate the increasing traffic which is expected with the beginning of construction on the fair grounds and buildings, and later with the opening of the Panama canal. The plans are being discussed largely on account of Oakland's activity in water front improvement, but the real handicap of being on any other than the continental side of the bay is the one confronting the larger city and one that can never be overcome. It will be harder to offset such a disadvantage, in view of the fact that the land is to continue improving on its wharves and shipping facilities as the city grows.

There has been no decrease in the tonnage, either east or west, carried by the American-Hawaiian and other lines, since the port of the year, by way of the Panama and Tehachapi railroad routes across the isthmus. The vessels are carrying capacity cargoes both ways.

DIFFERENT FOUR YEARS AGO. Four years have brought a remarkable change in the shipping conditions on this side of the bay. About four years ago the American-Hawaiian Company began shipping produce and other freight up the estuary to the Adams wharf. The first month's business was 300 tons. This amount of cargo was consigned to Oakland and Alameda county and was brought up the estuary in small

PLANT TREES TO BEAUTIFY TRACT

Poplars and Acajias to Beautify Piedmont Manor; Architect's Plan.

The Realty Syndicate has received a number of carloads of trees that will be used in beautifying its Piedmont Manor tract located at the junction of Pleasant Valley avenue and the Piedmont avenue car line.

For several days a large force of gardeners has been busy planting hundreds of poplars, aspens and pines, and the property will soon be one of the most beautiful locations in Piedmont.

In making out the plans of the tract, the assistance of H. T. Horn, syndicator of the H. T. Horn medium, manager of the building department of that company and one of the best-known landscape artists in the State, said:

"I have just completed a plan of landscaping that will, we believe, make our Piedmont Manor property one of the most beautiful and most desirable in all Piedmont for home ownership. It is the best I have ever seen. It is the work of a very experienced real estate operator to use much common sense and sound business judgment in the division and marketing of residential tracts so as to not only increase the value of his own property, but to distinctly benefit the neighborhood."

Piedmont Manor attract very favorable attention to Oakland as being a city of beautiful homes.

A MUSHROOM CHICKEN HOUSE

A good poultry house for a place with the climate possessed by Alameda county can be made in a "mushroom" style. In other words, a "roof on stilts" makes an ideal house. The roof can be made in the shape of an octagon, with boards to come down below the roof about two feet, the roof, of course, going to a point in the top and dropping down all around. Put the boards above the boards and then place a board with slats nailed on for a ladder that the hens may climb up and down without trying to fly. To lay up teaches them to handle and to fly down in a jable to give them bumble feet. Hens that roost in a house of this sort never get the roup; they are up above the draught and they have good fresh pure air to breathe at the same time that they are protected from the rain. To be used in stormy times, in the daylight, make a sort of scratching shed, that may be littered with straw, so that the hens may have a place when it rains. This one precaution often means all the difference between profit and loss. For, for hens that are fed enough and that are protected from the rain, are sure to lay in winter, when eggs are worth big money. The fact of the matter is, however, that eggs bring the best price from the middle of the first of November to the last of December. The way to have eggs at that season is to have early pullets and to keep them growing. If they are the big breeds, and to have them hatched in March or early in April if they are Leghorns. If hatched too early Leghorns will moult in the fall. If you want your pullets to rush along toward a profitable maturity and to be ready to lay this fall, when eggs are eggs, then see to it that they have no check in their growth. The bulk of their feed may be wheat and Egyptian corn, with a mash that is made of odds and ends and incidentals as a balancer.

GRAPE GROWERS TO OPPOSE BILL

Producers Object to the Law Against Shipping Into Prohibition States.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—It was announced here today that the Grape Growers' Association of California would send a delegation to Washington to oppose the Kenyon prohibition bill in Congress.

Members of the association contend that the passage of the bill, which would forbid the shipment of liquor into prohibition states, would constitute a restriction upon personal liberty.

The association, sent to Washington a request that the Senate Judiciary committee, which is considering the bill, continue its hearing until March 20, which would allow sufficient time for the entire committee to reach Washington.

The delegation will consist of State Senator Louis W. Julliard of Santa Rosa, H. T. Ross of Rutherford, M. E. Tarpy of Fresno and Andrea Sbarbero, San Francisco.

HUSBAND'S LOVE VALUED AT $2

Jury Places That Price Ticket on Affections of St. Joseph Man.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Feb. 24.—The affections of a husband are worth but according to the decision of a jury which yesterday returned its findings in the alienation suit of Mrs. Mabel Holt for $20,000 against her father-in-law, Lewis F. Holt.

The suit was brought to a dramatic conclusion a year ago. Mrs. Holt and her sister, Sylvia, eloped from their home at Dearborn, Mo., to Johnson, Kan., where both were married. Sylvia to St. Joseph, Holt caused the arrest of all four by local police, who held them a few hours and then ordered their release. Later, Holt surrounded his son to leave his bride, and the suit followed.

Mrs. Cannon now has a suit for $20,000 against Holt for damages to her arrest.

"MURDER," HE CRIED, BUT IT WASN'T

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—It was a report of a murder, and it came from the top floor of the Hall of Justice. There in one of the new prison cells a painter had found a blood covered corpse with a gun lying beside it, and trembling with excitement he had hurried to the Central station. A file of police reserves was sent aloft and discovered that the supposed corpse consisted of a dummy, and that the blood was red paint.

Walter Meyers was the man who found the "remains" and it was a fellow worker of Meyers, who is a painter employed in the building, who put the paint on the wall to put the finishing touches to the room work.

LAWYERS WILL TELL OF COMBINE'S DIVISION

Wednesday Will Be Time for Report on Trust's Disintegration.

AMERICAN TOBACCO NOW FOUR COMPANIES

Independents Declare the Cigar Stores Retain Power to Throttle.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The attorneys for the American Tobacco Company will be obliged to appear before Judge Warf, Laombe, Cox and Xoyes in the United States District Court in New York Wednesday morning, when the time limit allowed for the carrying out of the plan to dissolve the combine known as the Tobacco Trust will have expired and give a detailed account of the process of disintegration. The dissolution began, by order of the Circuit Court, last November, after the United States Supreme Court had turned the government's suit to dissolve the Tobacco Trust back to the lower court with instructions to ascertain some way of reorganizing the American Tobacco Company and its subsidiaries that would conform with the law.

A plan of reorganization was submitted by the attorneys of the tobacco company, and after several amendments were made by Attorney-General Wickersham, it was accepted despite the violent opposition of the independent tobacco dealers. As a result of the plan of disintegration the American Tobacco Company has been divided into four separate and distinct concerns: The R. J. Reynolds Company, the American Tobacco Company, the Lorillard Tobacco Company (newly organized), and the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company (newly organized). Each has been completely equipped for the conducting of every branch of the tobacco business according to the trusts' attorneys, all four are entirely independent of each other. The R. J. Reynolds Company continue to carry on a large general business but it will not include all the branches.

DIVIDED INTO THREE.
The American-Snuff Company has been divided into three companies, two of them newly organized: The George W. Helms Company, the Weyman & Snuff Company, and the American Snuff Company. A new corporation, the Johnston Tin Pot and Metal Company, has been organized and has taken over part of the business of the Conley Pot Company. Meanwhile, the American-Snuff Company has distributed a share of their business to a new concern created for the purpose, the Cigar Company. The American-Snuff Company has been disintegrated as follows: It has terminated its interest in the American Snuff Company, which has been dissolved, and it has sold to the American Tobacco Company for cash all its interest in the Porto Rican American Tobacco Company, and the American Tobacco Company has distributed the stock so acquired, together with its own stock in the Porto Rican American Tobacco Company, to its common stockholders. The result of the disintegration is that the Porto Rican American Tobacco Company has been completely divorced from the control of the American Cigar Company, neither of which now have any interest in it.

The above named concerns, together with the United Cigar Stores Company, comprise the American Tobacco Company, which has been completely divorced from the control of the American Cigar Company, neither of which now have any interest in it. The above named concerns, together with the United Cigar Stores Company, comprise the American Tobacco Company, which has been completely divorced from the control of the American Cigar Company, neither of which now have any interest in it.

INJUNCTIVE PROVISIONS.
The injunctive provisions that were introduced into the disintegration plan by Attorney-General Wickersham forbid the defendants from continuing the illegal combination and entering into or forming any like combination in restraint of trade. The injunctions also forbid the fourteen companies from having officers or directors in common, and prohibit the purchasing of business plants, or of other property, by any of the companies. The twenty-nine individuals are enjoined for three years from increasing their proportionate holdings, but to this provision the court has added the following clause:

"Provided, however, that any of the said defendants may, notwithstanding this prohibition, acquire from any other person or persons of the said defendants, or in case of death from their estates, any of the stock held by such other defendant or defendants in any of the said corporations."

In this way the twenty-nine men now in control who were made individual defendants in the government's dissolution suit are not allowed to increase their proportionate holdings within the time specified, but it would permit a few of them or even one to acquire the entire holdings of the twenty-nine.

COPLIN, Mo., Feb. 24.—Mrs. Charlotte Price, 75 years of age, an invalid and able to move about only in a wheel chair, perished in flames that destroyed her home near here last yesterday.

CHILDREN BREAK WILL AFTER 4 YEARS' FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—After more than four years in the "probate courts" the will of the late John B. Cosgrove, a well known dry goods merchant who died here November 29, 1907, was broken by a decision of Judge Murasky today, by the terms of which the estate will be distributed directly to the four minor children of deceased, Nicholas R. Cosgrove, the oldest, is 19 years of age.

Although Cosgrove willed that the estate should go ultimately to his children, he directed that it be held in trust until they came of age, naming H. B. Lyons as trustee. This provision was contested by the children, represented by Attorney George A. Connelly, on the ground that it was contrary to state law, and that it would infringe their rights as heirs. With the exception of $5000 left to Mrs. Lyons, the estate will now be partitioned among the four children.
